About Noble Airmen,
And Crime and Graft,
And Russian Gold,
And Swimmers From the Sea,

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

IN THE AIR race from Los Angeles to Chicago, Wylie Post of Oklahoma, beat Art Goebel by 12 minutes 17.4 seconds. Very close for a race more than half way across the continent.

Mrs. Phoebe Omlie won the Dixie Derby flight of the great Chicago air meeting.

The energetic Captain Von Gronau thinks he will "hop out there," land on Lake Michigan with his seaplane and see the great Chicago meeting.

He surely ought to go, and so ought you, if you can.

A FINE YOUNG man is Capt. Wolfgang Von Gronau, who came from Germany via Iceland, Greenland and Halifax, more than 4,000 miles in 47 hours of flying time, stopping on the way for fuel.

He will live to make that and longer flights in one "hop," and to cross the ocean in 20 hours.

ANIMOSITIES die out. Fliers of our army and navy welcome a Gronau, who only a few years ago had his mind concentrated on bombing our ships and those of our allies.

He tells interesting, simple stories of his experience in the war and the various occasions on which he and his airplane were "shot down."

He ought to meet our crack American war flier, Eddie Rickenbacker, who brought down more German planes than any other American. Perhaps he was one of those that had the honor of bringing down the genial Gronau.

After the war Von Gronau went back to farming on his estate in Prussia, and then started a flying school. He flew over here to give one of his pupils a really good lesson.

MAYOR WALKER, head of the biggest, richest city in the world, invites approximately 100 conspicuous citizens to discuss privately conditions of graft, bribery, etc.

The Mayor is in earnest and has every reason to be.

But one hundred or 100,000 "leading citizens" could not deal with graft, bribery and crime while bootlegging and its allied trades take in yearly a bigger income than that of the United States government.

MOST STARTLING in the revelations of New York corruption, which include purchasing of public officials, magistrates, judges, etc., is the statement that one judge paid $200,000 for his seat on the bench.

The amount would be about $65,000 more than the total salary that he could earn in his 14-year term.

This means that someone else supplied the $200,000, and common sense indicates that the "somebody else" must have been a boss criminal, able, with the aid of a judge "owned by him," to get back his $200,000 with interest.

It is a strange picture of American civilization and "good government" in the year of our Lord 1930 and the eleventh year of the era of prohibition and bootlegging.

A BRITISH NEWSPAPER says that Stalin, boss of Russia, expects trouble ending his power and has deposited in banks outside of Russia £20,000,000, about $100,000,000.

The statement probably is not accurate. Few men at the top ever realize that they may fall. Trotzky didn't believe it, or Danton, or Robespierre, who killed Danton, or Marat, stabbed in his bathtub by a girl.

But the mention of £20,000,000 is interesting, and Stalin could easily send that much out of Russia.

Where there is so much money there will gradually come conservatism.

A TRUE STORY from Atlantic City, N. J., reminds you of Ulysses landing on the beach where a pretty princess and her young companions were playing ball in costumes that would surprise even our modern young ladies.

In the place of one Ulysses, three powerful sailors from Nova Scotia staggered through the surf to the shore after swimming eight hours to get help for those left in distress on their schooner, the "Francis D." They said nothing about seeing any Nausicaa but were grateful for hot drinks at the police station.

CRIME CONTINUES to develop new features.

In New York four are shot in connection with a "gambling slot machine racket."

Early yesterday, Joseph Silverman, aged 25, was shot. Later Martin Fishbaum, sitting in a restaurant, was ordered by four men, avengers of Silverman, to come out and take a ride. Knowing what that meant, he replied, "Nothing

CHAINED, GASSED, SAYS WOMAN

BRUTALITY CHARGED IN DONAHOE INQUIRY

Mrs. Helen Hess, Held on Mann Act Charge, Tells About 'Torture' in Cell

That she was handcuffed to a wall in a room in which tear gas was permitted to escape was charged today by Helen Hess, of Uniontown, following a hearing before the United States commissioner on a charge of violating the Mann white slave act.

The ordeal was part of a "third degree" administered by Fayette County detectives, the woman declared.

It was while they were trying to establish that the plot which resulted in the slaying of Constable Jack Donahoe was hatched in her home that she was "gassed," the Hess woman said.

TORMENTED BY "DUMMY"

She said that while in the dimly lighted chamber, a dummy built to resemble the dead constable was shown to her. A voice supposed to be that of Donahoe, tormented her to reveal the identity of the slayers.

She was arrested on the Mann Act charge yesterday. She said that the affair was a plot to force her to reveal the name of Donahoe's slayer.

Angry, the woman at the hearing, shouted the tale of brutality she said she received at the hands of Fayette County detectives. She told how, after her arrest, she was taken into a barren room and chained to a pair of handcuffs that were fastened in the wall by a wooden peg.

CHAINED HOURS

With her arms locked above her head she said she was forced to stand in the chamber for 14 hours while detectives permitted tear gas to escape into the room. Meanwhile, she charged, a dozen

Coolidge Favors Fair Profits and High Wages

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Aug. 28.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

Prosperity does not result from cheap goods but from fair profits.

Reports of food distributors show a very considerable decrease in retail prices. In theory, that is an advantage to all of us. It is the kind of political economy that some have long advocated. But, in practice, the well-to-do scarcely notice it and many who really would be benefited find that low prices are a delusion, since they do not have enough money to pay them. The gain that comes to the few has to be paid for by the many through a very disproportionate loss in general property values, entire suspension of wages or part time employment. A small number with a fixed income may benefit from cheap goods sold at a loss, but the country as a whole is always injured.

Calvin Coolidge

Our ideal is not cheapness in either goods or men. The country is most benefited by a business profit secured through a fair price for commodities and high wages for labor. We expect science and invention to decrease production costs but not to a barren level of cheapness. We want our people so well paid that they can afford to meet the price of prosperity.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

COURT-ROOM SHOT KILLS HUSBAND

Accused Man Tells of Wife's Alleged Threat to Kill Him; Probe Drowning Mystery

Steve Palscak, 24, of Gazzam street, shot down by his estranged wife, Clara, 21, in the probation office of the Desertion and Non-support Court yesterday, died at 1:20 today in Mercy Hospital.

The wife, who said she drew a gun when her husband refused to come home to her, and discharged the weapon accidentally when he tried to wrest it from her, was turned over to the coroner. She is in the county jail.

BLASTS HER ALIBI

Palscak, a bullet in his abdomen, passed a night of pain at the hospital. Detectives were unable to see the man before he died, but to a Sun-Telegraph reporter earlier in the day he made the following statement:

"She said she was going to shoot me—and she did."

The statement is contrary to the accident alibi the wife gave detectives.

MENCKEN WEDS UNEXPECTEDLY

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28.—H. L. Mencken, spokesman for bachelorhood and scoffer at matrimony, became a benedict yesterday.

Though his marriage to Miss Sara Powell Haardt, of Baltimore and Montgomery, Ala., had been scheduled for September 3, she and the editor and irrepressible critic decided to escape the zealous attentions of friends and were married unexpectedly by an Episcopal rector in the Church of St. Stephen the Martyr.

Only their immediate families and a few friends were present. As they left in an automobile for a short wedding trip, rice was scattered about the head of the

Singer Asks $250,000 For Kahn Damages

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(INS.)—Legal technicalities in the suit brought by Rosalina Morini, a singer, against Otto Kahn, New York banker and patron of the arts, will be argued today in Supreme Court. COPY OF N. Y. DESIGN, HE CHARGES

Suggests Pennsylvania Lore Could Have Given Symbols For County Office Building

Inset in the new County Office Building, partially completed, are four stone carvings, symbolic of strange things. One is recognizable as Moses and the Ten Commandments. It is strangely similar to a "Moses" carving in New York's state building at Albany.

At the next meeting of the county commissioners, Commissioner C. C. McGovern will ask why the medallion of Moses and the Commandments is so similar to one in New York's building that close scrutiny is required to distinguish between them. He is going to ask why there were no bids let for the sculptural work, why Stanley Roush, county architect, or whoever did the hiring, chose a New York sculptor and why the county building doesn't get original symbols depicting Western Pennsylvania events. McGovern said:

"That building is costing $2,700,000 for six stories, and there's supposed to be 16 before it's completed. I can't understand why it can't at least have symbols, if it is to be ornamented with carvings, that are representative events, historical or otherwise, that occurred here and mean something to the county.

TO ASK INQUIRY

"That building in Albany got the carvings it wanted, I guess, specially that one of Moses. Every creation of Moses and the Commandments I ever saw was about the same, regardless of how he has his feet crossed under him.

"I'm going to bring the matter up at the next commission-

HAWKS IN AIR RACE FINAL

CURTISS-REYNOLDS AIRPORT, CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Capt. Frank Hawks, holder of both cross-continent speed records of the United States, was unofficially clocked at 220 miles an hour today in practice flight around the five-mile course of the national air races. He flew a Traveler plane with a special Wright motor.

Hawks flew through a drizzling rain to accustom himself to the course for the $10,000 Thompson trophy race. There is no official record for speed on a five-mile course. The American record for straight-away flying is held by Al Williams at 266 miles an hour.

MOTOR NOT WIDE OPEN

Capt. Hawks picked an early hour for the trial. He clocked his own speed accurately, but declined to let it be known.

He said:

"I knew others would be clocking me, and for that reason I did not let the motor out. I didn't hold it mack much, though. I wanted to get accustomed to the pylons. I will fly around them again before the races."

The Thompson trophy race is to

Duncan Thrashes Actor Who Hit Famous Sister

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Harold Duncan, brother of Vivian Duncan, exacted summary revenge for the pummeling his famous sister received at the hands of Rex Lease recently, by soundly beating the motion picture actor in a hotel cafe here last night.

Eyewitnesses of the encounter said Lease's eye was blackened, his face cut and his nose bleeding when the fight was halted. Duncan also was marked, although not so badly as his opponent.

The fight started, according to witnesses, shortly after Lease and Duncan met in the cafe, a place much frequented by Hollywood's motion picture elite. The brother of the famous dancing sisters was seated at a table with his father, S. H. Duncan, and two companions when Lease entered. The actor was pointed out to Duncan as the man who had beaten Vivian Duncan at a Malibu Beach cottage and in a few moments a torrid battle ensued.

Duncan later told newspaper men:

"I gave him a bad beating, and I felt like kicking him when he was down, like he did my sister."

Last July Lease was jailed on a complaint filed by Vivian Duncan, the dancing actress alleging he struck and kicked her when she refused to enter the home of a mutual friend with him. Lease paid a $50 fine after pleading guilty, but insisted Miss Duncan "hit first."

PINCHOT OPENS CAMPAIGN WITH PLEDGE TO AID FARMERS

RURAL ROADS NEEDED, HE DECLARES

Promises System Taking Burden From Townships To Promote Prosperity

WILLIAMS GROVE, Pa., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Officially opening his campaign for the governorship, Gifford Pinchot, the Republican candidate, declared in an address at the Williams Grove picnic in Cumberland County, near here, today that unless the farmer was prosperous no other business could expect enduring prosperity, and said that if elected he would give special attention to farmers' needs.

Asserting that the farmer "needs nothing so much as to be taken out of the Mud," Mr. Pinchot said he would recommend to the Legislature the establishment of a system of rural roads, to be constructed and maintained by the State, which would permit the country people of Pennsylvania to get to their markets, their schools and their churches "with certainty, safety and convenience" at any time of the year.

FARMERS' PLIGHT

He said:

"One of the basic facts about the condition of the United States today is that the farmer is in hard luck throughout the nation.

"One of the great political problems, and one of the great economic problems, is how to remedy this situation. There is nothing truer than the oft-repeated statement that the country as a whole cannot be permanently prosperous unless the farmer is prosperous also."

"In a very real sense the farmer is a manufacturer. He must get his product from his factory, which is his farm, to his market as cheaply as he can. Consequently, and this is particularly true in Pennsylvania, the rural road is to the farmer very much what the railroad is to the city manufacturer.

"I shall recommend to the coming legislature the establishment of a system of Pennsylvania rural roads which the state shall maintain and upon which as rapidly as possible it shall construct an all-weather surface which will permit the country people of Pennsylvania to get to their markets, their schools, and their churches with certainty, safety, and convenience at any time of the year.

"The proposal means the discontinuance of the present state aid and township reward appropriations by making them unnecessary, and puts justly and squarely upon the shoulders of the commonwealth the responsibility for the maintenance of these rural roads."

Following the speech, Pinchot was scheduled to go to Gettysburg to study the water plant and sources of supply in that drought-stricken community.

Friday the "water-junket" will be extended to Hanover, another community which suffered acutely from drought, going from there to York. After luncheon in York Friday, the former governor plans to return to his home in Milford.

DEMOCRATS PREPARE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—(AP)—State leaders of the Democratic and Liberal parties completed plans here today for the campaign through which they hope to elect John M. Hemphill to the governorship in Pennsylvania.

His speed was sufficient to give him second place and a prize of $4,500. Donohoe's Death Auto Put Up For Sale

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 28.—The bullet-riddled automobile in which John F. Donohoe, former deputy constable of Fayette County, took his last ride July 31, 1929, has been put up for sale. It had been held in a Uniontown garage by county authorities since discovery of Donohoe's lifeless body on a lonely road near Leckrone.

'GRAYS' RAIDED IN LOTTERY

The headquarters of the Homestead Grays, crack Negro semi-professional baseball team, at 2205 Wylie avenue, was raided today by constables from Alderman Martin J. Griffin's office.

Robert Williams, a Negro, who says he has no connection with the famous team, was arrested and later released on $2,500 bond. Numbers books and other lottery paraphernalia were seized.

The raid came unexpectedly. A half dozen Negroes were lounging around the confectionery that comprises the headquarters when the constables came in. Griffin's constables have been "on a vacation" for the past 10 days, and there have been no recent developments in the alderman's crusade on the "numbers" racket, which, he says, is driving the decent people from the Hill district.

From the Gray's headquarters the raiders then visited another alleged "number pick up station" at 2644 Wylie avenue and after seizing the customary paraphernalia arrested O. J. Nickens as the proprietor. He was released on bail.

sleuths fired questions at her in an effort to force her to name the killer.

She said the agony was so great that she was able to tear the manacles from their peg and escape by beating down the door.

Following the hearing the woman was held under $2,000 bail. It was charged by special government agents that she transported Velma Coll, 24, to Uniontown from Morgantown, W. Va. She demanded that the Coll woman be produced. A supena was issued for her and she was expected to appear before the commissioner later in the day.

The Coll woman also figured in the Donahoe investigation. Her 4-year-old son, who was left in the Hess woman's custody shortly before the murder was committed, told detectives and state police later that he "had seen the policeman killed."

The boy, along with his mother, was taken into custody by North Side police, but after questioning them, police discredited the boy's story.

CHILD SAW FIGHT

In dismissing the Coll woman and her small son, police said they believed the child had witnessed a fight, but they expressed belief that it was a brawl in the Hess woman's home and not the Donahoe affair.

With the Hess woman was arrested Jimmy Crocket, who is said to have driven the automobile in which the Coll woman was brought to Uniontown, and who figured in a small way in the investigation of the Donahoe murder.

Donahoe, who "knew too much about everybody," was found in his automobile on the state highway, his head crushed from a beating and 12 bullets in his body.

SPARE M'GOUGH FINGER-PRINT RECORDING

Ex-Inspector of City Sleuths Released on $9,000 Bond In Insurance-Fraud Case

Politicians today were successful in keeping the picture and fingerprints of Edwin T. McGough, former inspector of city detectives, from the Bertillon files and "Rogues' Gallery," the records that hold the histories of many criminals.

McGough was freed from jail shortly after noon on a $9,000 bail bond fixed by the district attorney.

Magistrate J. J. O'Connor had refused to set bail for McGough and Meyer Griffen, accused in an insurance case, putting that responsibility on the District Attorney.

In allowing McGough to escape the usual routine of fingerprinting and "mugging," Police Inspector Frank R. Boyd declared that in courtesy to McGough's former position as inspector of detectives, he would not allow McGough to go through the usual ordeal.

Boyd added that he did not believe that the evidence was sufficient to brand McGough a criminal.

McGough, president of the McGough Detective Agency and head of the Edwin T. McGough Motor Aid Society, with offices in the Keenan Building, was ordered arrested two weeks ago by Police Inspector James N. Hoey when Anthony Napoleon, of 3139 Ward street, charged that an agent of McGough's had obtained money from him under false pretenses.

INSURANCE SCHEME

Napoleon charged that McGough's agent had approached him with an insurance scheme and he had given the man $10, the balance to be paid when the policy was delivered. The document never arrived, Napoleon said.

Later Napoleon had Giffen arrested, charging that Giffen had sold him an almost identical proposition, that he had paid $5 down and that the policy again did not come.

WAIVE HEARING

Both Giffen and McGough waived hearing this morning and were held over for court by Magistrate O'Connor.

W. F. McKee, state insurance inspector, and S. S. Scott, of the Pittsburgh Automobile Club, pushed the case against the two prisoners, declaring hundreds of autoists have been victimized by such schemes.

The date for the court trial has not been set.

KIN URGES U. S. BURY ANDREE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—The Secretary of the Navy has been requested to seek removal to this country of the body of Salomon Auguste Andree, ill-fated Swedish balloonist, whose pioneer attempt to reach the North Pole by air failed.

Mrs. H. W. Andree, 132 Stratford avenue, Pittsburgh, who says she is the sister-in-law of Andree, wrote to Secretary Adams after the recovery of Andree's body in the Arctic, asking that he make an effort to bring the body to the United States for burial.

The balloonist, though a frequent visitor here, was a resident of Sweden.

Secretary Adams referred the letter to a navy bureau of medicine, where another letter was prepared, addressed to W. Bostrom, Swedish ambassador. This awaits the signature of Secretary Adams, who at present is at the yacht races in Newport.

WIFE BECOMES CUSTODIAN OF HUSBAND

Judge Rowand, Extending Clemency to Auto Thief, Paroles Him in Her Care

The man of the house may be boss but Judge Harry H. Rowand reversed that order of things in one domicile today by appointing Mrs. Paul Tutko, of 109 West Fifteenth avenue, Homestead, custodian of her husband.

Tutko was arrested in the theft of an automobile. During their investigation, police said, Tutko said he took the car so that he could drive two girl friends home.

In sentencing him, Judge Rowand said:

"The whipping post would be a good thing for you because, although I could send you to the penitentiary for four years, it would be really your wife who would suffer.

"I am going to sentence you to serve from two to four years in the workhouse, but on the conditions that you will not see those two girls again, and that you will be in your home every night before 9 o'clock. I will parole you in the custody of your wife.

"If you fail to keep these conditions, or if you even so much as talk with these girls over the 'phone, your wife will be compelled to notify this court and you will be called in and sent to the workhouse."

Pilot and Student Killed in Plane Crash

ROCKVILLE, Ind., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Albert J. McKay, 35, pilot, and Leland Burford, 24, of Indianapolis, were killed last night when their airplane fell 200 feet to the ground near the Turkey Run Airport, 10 miles north of here. Witnesses said they believed Burford, who had intended taking flying lessons, was at the controls.

was discharged accidentally when Palscak grappled with her.

Meanwhile detectives are working on information they received from the woman, which they say will reopen the case of Andrew Warhold, of Gazzam street, whose body was dragged from Monongahela River, August 4. Mrs. Palscak implied her husband could supply further facts in the drowning.

The shooting occurred yesterday while Judge Sara M. Soffel was being sworn into office in an adjoining room.

When detectives questioned Mrs. Palscak, she told them, they say, that her husband had engaged in a fist fight with Walhold a few days before the body was dragged from the river. During the altercation, according to detectives, Warhold received a blackeye. Mrs. Palscak is said to have told detectives her husband had told her Walhold's body would be found in the river.

RIVER DEATH MYSTERY

The coroner's inquest did not fully clear up the mystery surrounding Warhold's death. His body gave evidence of having been bruised before being in the water, it was said.

Mrs. Palscak is being held in the county jail today pending the outcome of her husband's wounds. The shooting yesterday was witnessed by several clerks in the courtroom.

The wife was talking to one of the attaches when she noticed her husband enter. She walked toward him and the two chatted for a few moments.

The wife, it is alleged, then drew a revolver from her purse and fired three times, one of the shots taking effect.

McGovern Travels By Air to New York

County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern was to take to the air today while his colleagues, Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong and E. V. Babcock, preferred to travel to New York City on the ground.

Their trip was made to sign $7,520,000 worth of people's bonds of the 1928 issue, to provide for roads, bridges, boulevards and smaller projects.

McGovern flew from Bettis Field to Washington, changing planes there for Roosevelt Field, New York.

2 MATHERS TO TESTIFY IN MERGER

Clevelanders Called by Judge Agree to Appear; Defense Opens Its Case

International News Service.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 28.—W. G. Mather and S. Livingston Mather, Cleveland financiers, whose names have figured prominently in the testimony at the trial of the injunction suit against the merger of Sheet and Tube Company with Bethlehem Steel Corporation, will comply with the request of Judge David G. Jenkins to have them appear as witnesses in the case.

Attorneys for the anti-merger forces so informed Judge Jenkins today as trial of the spectacular injunction suit went into its thirty-fifth court day.

The surprising request for the appearance of the Mathers, who are associates of Cyrus S. Eaton, generalissimo of the anti-merger forces, in Cliffs Corporations, was made late yesterday by Judge Jenkins, who announced that he had "something to ask both of them—something I think is important for me to know."

YIELD TO JUDGE

Opposing attorneys in the case indicated to the court that they had not intended calling the Mathers as witnesses, but Harry J. Crawford, of the anti-merger counsel, said he would inform the Cleveland financiers of the court's wishes.

Personal holdings of the Mather family in Sheet and Tube were voted in favor of the merger with Bethlehem at the stockholders' meeting last April, but 125,000 shares held by the Cliffs Corporation, of which W. G. Mather is president, were not voted.

The plaintiffs in the suit rested their case today, nine weeks after the hearing opened, and the defense opened with an attempt to prove, through its own auditing witnesses, that the terms of the merger were fair.

ACCOUNTANT CALLED

George O. May, of New York, senior partner of Price Waterhouse and Company, the firm that compiled figures on the two companies at the request of their executives and recommended the ratio of the exchange of stocks was called as the first defense witness. The ratio was one and one-third shares of Bethlehem stock for one of Youngstown.

The defense hopes to combat, through members of the Price Waterhouse firm the testimony of auditors for Ernst and Ernst who made computations for the anti-merger group purporting to show that Bethlehem was credited with too low a depreciation rate, which reflected higher earnings for the company and a resultant ratio of exchange unfair to Sheet and Tube stockholders.

PRICE OF COURAGE: COLD RUINS OF LIEUT. J. H. DeSHAGO'S PLANE AT CHICAGO ON EDGE OF CROWD HE AVOIDED HITTING

Judge Wants Officers Who Arrested Him 'Fired'

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Judge Marion D. Patterson of the Blair county courts said today he had written to Captain Wilson C. Price of the state motor patrol urging dismissal of the highway patrolmen who arrested him Monday. The men, he said, were Officers Adams and Seldonridge.

Judge Patterson denied he was arrested for refusing to permit examination of the brakes on his car. The charge lodged against him, he said, was "refusal to show his driver's and owner's license cards."

The Judge, his wife and their son were enroute to Bedford when they were arrested near Duncansville Monday. They were held for 10 minutes in a line of cars until a state officer appeared and asked him for his cards, the judge said.

Judge Patterson said he showed the officer the cards. Later, he stated, another officer requested his card and the judge asked, "What the occasion" was that he had to display the card a second time. He was notified then that he was under arrest, he said.

The jurist was taken before Justice of the Peace Isaac M. Irwin at Hollidaysburg, and there, he said, the highway officers learned his identity. Judge Patterson said he told the officers he intended to "go through" with the case and furnished bail and waived a hearing. He will be tried before a visiting judge in his own court.

High Tide Washes Fortune In Rum on Newport Beach

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—A small fortune in liquor, packed in burlap wrapped cases and brought in on a high tide, lay under the watchful eye of four Coast Guardsmen at Belmont Beach today.

The liquor, which Coast Guardsmen believe had been dumped overboard by rum runners, was first discovered by servants from estates near the beach. Other servants were told and before authorities knew of the existence of the contraband a score of cases had been carried off.

When police and Coast Guardsmen arrived the beach was strewn with 200 cases and as many more floated in on the next high tide last night. Early today 500 cases had come up on the beach, and at dawn it was still coming in.

Hundreds of Newporters flocked to the beach to attempt to salvage what they might. They stayed all night, dodging in and out of the shadows cast by the Coast Guardsmen's flares, managing now and then to grab a bottle and get away. Once the Coast Guardsmen fired two shots into the sand to halt a group of men who had managed to get at a bottle or two and were making for the highway. They dropped the bottles.

A BACHELOR'S BRIDE

MRS. HENRY L. MENCKEN

The former Sara Haardt, Alabama magazine writer to whom Mr. Mencken, plain-spoken editor and critic of American vagaries, was quietly married at Baltimore . . . "getting married, like getting hanged, is probably a great deal less dreadful than it has been made out," said Mr. Mencken, departing on a honeymoon.

MENCKEN WEDS UNEXPECTEDLY

man who had written of weddings as "barbaric rites."

Mencken had declared, shortly before:

"Getting married, like getting hanged, is probably a great deal less dreadful than it has been made out."

SUCCUMBS TO HUNCH

The editor, who is in his fiftieth year while his bride is 32, explained that he was succumbing to matrimony at last because of a "superb hunch, and, like all other infidels, I am very superstitious and always follow hunches."

For all his talk of infidels, Mencken went through the Episcopal rites with due docility. The Rev. Dr. Herbert L. Parrish, of New Brunswick, N. J., long-time friend of Mencken and contributor to his magazine, the American Mercury, officiated.

Among those on hand were Mencken's brother, Charles E., and the latter's wife, of Oil City, Pa.

Mencken and his bride have taken an apartment in fashionable Cathedral street, far removed from his lifetime home opposite Union Square, from which he has held forth for many years as "the sage of Hollins street."

HAS WRITTEN NOVEL

Mrs. Mencken, a graduate of Goucher College, has written for periodicals. Recently, her first novel was accepted for publication. It will appear under her maiden name, although Mencken made it clear that as a "Confederate lady," she is "no Lucy Stoner" and will use his name in private life.

Announcement of Mencken's engagement, several weeks ago, astonished the literary world although he had predicted years before, in his book "In Defense of Women," his eventual fall from bachelorhood. Whenever some woman became sufficiently determined to wed him, he said then, he would be married.

PUTS POLITENESS FIRST

After his engagement had become known, Mencken expounded his belief that politeness is the chief thing which makes for a happy marriage. Yesterday, he amplified this statement with the remark:

"I am marrying one of the politest of women and she is getting a husband whose politeness has the high polish of a mirror."

The critic and iconoclast said he had been happy as a bachelor and hoped to be even happier as a married man, adding:

"I am a naturally happy man. The world amuses me very much. The very thought of Hoover, say, gives me the same keen delight that other men get out of golf, stock speculation or metaphysics."

DRYS THREATEN TO BOLT ROLPH

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28.—(INS.)—Having won the Republican nomination for governor, Mayor James Rolph, Jr., today faced the possibility of having to run against an independent dry at the November election.

Such a move is contemplated by the prohibition leaders of Southern California, Rolph is known as a liberal.

The Democratic nominee, Milton K. Young, of Los Angeles, also is a liberal.

William Gibbs McAdoo has been suggested as the possible candidate to oppose Rolph. Charles H. Randall, former Congressman and active prohibition worker, believes McAdoo, although a Democrat, would appeal to the drys in both parties.

It was stated by other prohibitionists, however, that within a few days the candidacy of a dry Republican would be announced.

With returns in from 9,909 precincts of the 10,283, the count today stood:

Rolph, 366,247; Young, 342,214; Fitts, 285,605.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—They're taking up vest-pocket golf in Scotland, where the real game came from. The fortune acquired in business earlier in life was wiped out when stocks crashed last fall, and she is recouping by catering to a new fad.

CELEBRITIES TO ESCORT CORTEGE

Entire Industry Will Pause As Great Character Actor Has Unpretentious Burial

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—The notables of the movie world and hundreds of admiring laymen prepared today to accompany the body of Lon Chaney on its last journey.

From the little chapel of a funeral parlor, the distinguished character actor's remains will be taken after impressive but simple services, to be buried beside his father in Forest Lawn Cemetery, Glendale, this afternoon.

Hundreds of citizens, singly or by twos and threes, filed past the silver and bronze casket yesterday, to pay their final respects to the man whose private life was as simple, unostentatious and quiet as the screen characters which brought him fame were weird, grotesque and memorable.

In this same setting, a few months ago, rested the body of Mabel Normand, and a few years before, that of Rudolph Valentino who, like Chaney, was cut off at the height of his career.

NOTABLES PALLBEARERS

The honorary pallbearers represented a cross-section of Who's Who in filmland, including Louis B. Mayer, Nicholas Schenck, Irving G. Thalberg, Hunt Stromberg, Paul Bern, Tod Browning, Chaney's director; Harry Carey, Lionel Barrymore, Ramon Novarro, William Haines, Lawrence Tibbett, Lew Cody, Cliff Edwards, Harry Rapf, Fred Niblo, Benny Rubin, Wallace Beery, George Hill and Edgar Selwyn.

The motion picture industry arranged to suspend work at 3 o'clock, when the funeral cortege was due at the cemetery, to honor Chaney's memory for two minutes. All business activity in every Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer office throughout the world was ordered stopped for two minutes.

At the local M-G-M studios, where Chaney was soon to have begun his second talking picture, the Marine Corps Reserve, of which the actor was an honorary member, has arranged to lower a flag and fire a salute as taps are sounded in his honor.

DEAF MUTES INCLUDED

Numerous deaf mutes were among those who came to the chapel, Chaney having been an especial hero to them.

A touching sight at the chapel was the grief of a scarred veteran of the World War, on whose breast gleamed row upon row of decorations. Throughout the day this veteran, Sergt. Frank McClouskey, kept vigil beside the casket, near which was his own floral offering.

McClouskey met Chaney seven years ago. Chaney sent McClouskey to a hospital for an operation which partially cured his paralysis.

DORNIER-WAL SEAPLANE WHICH FOUR GERMANS FLEW TO AMERICA ANCHORED IN NEW YORK HARBOR AS LINER STARTS

GOTHAM FETES FLIERS TODAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(INS.)—Capt. Wolfgang Von Gronau and his three companions who flew across the Atlantic in the Dornier-Wal flying boat, will be officially acclaimed today for their feat by Mayor James J. Walker. They will be welcomed at City Hall, following a luncheon of the advertising clubs, at which the fliers will be honor guests.

The official welcome was scheduled for Wednesday, but was postponed owing to a crowded day of the mayor.

The German airmen have made tentative plans to fly from North Beach early tomorrow for Buffalo, remaining there over night before going on to Chicago, where they hope to fly in exhibitions Saturday and Sunday at the national air races. Monday they plan to visit Cleveland, where the James Gordon Bennett balloon races are to be held.

Mechanic Hack said the ship, rebuilt as a flying boat from a plane which Roald Amundsen flew to the Arctic five years ago, appeared to have withstood the flight in splendid shape and would be ready to take to the air for Buffalo and the West tomorrow.

DUKE IGNORES FAMILY FROWN

BUDAPEST, Aug. 28.—(INS.)—His marriage repudiated by irate parents, Archduke Albrecht of the fallen Hapsburgs today accepted his august father's rebuff with philosophical indifference.

Informed that Archduke Friedrich, stern old royalist, whose unbending faith in the divine right of kings remains unshaken despite the dismal crash of his own imperial line, had announced the doors of the house of Hapsburg closed to Mme. Irene Rudnay after her marriage to his son was revealed, the young archduke declared the action of his family affected him not in the least. He told International News Service in an exclusive interview:

"I don't care what my family will do. I'll weather any storm—I'm a self-made man without prejudices. I always felt like a 'tourist among dress-coated people' when with my family.

"At present I intend to remain in Hungary, retaining both my title and my seat in the upper house."

Apparently sensing the question uppermost in the mind of many people, Archduke Albrecht referred indirectly to his marriage as a happy one and the result of a romance.

Meadville Pair Wed in Plane At Twilight

CONNEAUT LAKE, Pa., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Elsie Catherine Laver and Harold Frederick Allen, both of Meadville, were married in an airplane 2,000 feet above this resort at twilight yesterday by the Rev. W. H. Kershner of St. John's Reformed Church of Union Hill.

The event was sponsored by the American Legion of Meadville, and several thousand persons marched in the bridal procession to the plane.

DUQUESNE MAN BATTLES THUG

Police say Bogdan battled with his assailant and escaped. Bogdan was treated in Pittsburgh Hospital.

The holdup man escaped in a waiting machine.

GAS OVERCOMES 26 IN FACTORY

DENVER, Aug. 28.—(INS.)—Physicians today were waging a desperate battle to save the lives of several victims of chlorine gas after 26 persons, including 13 city firemen, had been overcome when a poisonous cloud swept through the plant of the Denver Fire Clay Company.

Forming from a leak in a gigantic railway tank, the poisonous gas penetrated the factory, driving 120 panic-stricken workmen before it. Twelve men and a girl stenographer were overcome. Thirteen firemen, the entire roster of Engine Company No. 10, were stricken a few minutes after arrival on the scene.

The victims were taken to the Denver General Hospital, where all were reported as showing symptoms comparable to those of soldiers gassed in the World War. The condition of several is said to be critical.

Ex-Skating Champ Sets Roller Record

NOTE CLEARS UP MURDER MYSTERY

Police Convinced He Killed Former Mrs. Kirkwood, in Jealous Rage, Ended Life

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.

"Dear Ida:

"Please forgive me for what I have done. This is the best way out.

Your Dad,

"EUGENE."

This note, found in a Jamaica rooming house, beside four 38-caliber shells, was believed today to have solved the mystery of how Mrs. Frances Kirkwood Van Cleef met death with Eugene Van Cleef.

The woman, once tried for stabbing to death her second husband, was murdered by her third mate, who then shot himself, after a protracted quarrel over her jealousy, police believe.

HELD FULL SOLUTION

This theory, held after discovery of the note, is viewed as the undoubted solution of the tangled death trail, which first led toward the woman, then toward an unidentified third person, then finally ended at Van Cleef's door. The note, it is believed, was intended for Ida Morris, a child by a former marriage.

The murder and suicide are believed to have been the climax of a quarrel over Mrs. Van Cleef's thirty-sixth birthday party, when Van Cleef was alleged to have returned home and found his wife there with a girl and two other men.

FELT HERSELF IN PERIL

The girl, a cabaret entertainer, told police that Mrs. Van Cleef had a premonition of tragedy before her husband's arrival.

Mrs. Van Cleef achieved nation-wide notoriety, several years ago, at her trial for the murder of her husband, Dr. Glenn B. Kirkwood, veterinarian and radio announcer. It was then that she earned the descriptive phrase by which she was widely known—"The Tiger Woman."

Police last night had attributed the murder to Mrs. Van Cleef because the revolver was found near her right hand. A more careful analysis of the death scene revealed, however, that Van Cleef apparently had shot her through the head, then turned the gun on his own heart.

The note, addressed simply to "Ida," was taken as substantiation of this.

DECLARES CASE CLOSED

After returning from a visit to the apartment where the bodies lay, District Attorney George E. Bower today declared he was satisfied, from personal observations and the report of the medical examiner, that Van Cleef killed the woman and then himself. He added:

"The case is closed."

At the trial which acquitted her, Mrs. Van Cleef set up the defense that she had wrestled with her husband over possession of a carving knife and that the stabbing was an accident.

ASKS COLORADO SLUSH QUIZ

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Expressing the belief there is foundation for the charges that efforts are being made to purchase the Republican senatorial nomination in Colorado, C. C. Hamlin, Republican National Committeeman, has asked an immediate investigation of campaign expenditures, in a message to Senator Gerald P. Nye.

Hamlin urged Nye and the Senate Campaign Investigating Committee to complete its work in Colorado and to make its findings public before the primary, September 9. He wired:

"We are entitled to have the country know that our state is not for sale. As Republican National Committeeman from Colorado and as publisher of two daily papers in this city, I most earnestly urge that your committee proceed immediately with its investigation, to the end that the electorate may vote with full knowledge of the facts."

IS THE COUNTY'S 'MOSES' ORIGINAL?

STONE CARVING ON NEW COUNTY BUILDING. STONE CARVING, NEW YORK STATE BUILDING

They're too much alike, County Commissioner McGovern says about these carvings. The county's paying for an original work, he says, and gets one so much like that on the recently-built state building at Albany, N. Y., that it requires close scrutiny to tell them apart.

DAVIS PRAISES OLD AGE PLAN

The new disability and old age insurance now being arranged for electrical workers of this district by the Electrical Contractors Association of Pittsburgh brought ample praise from Secretary of Labor James J. Davis when the latter was informed of the plan yesterday. Davis told David A. Fleming, executive secretary of the association:

"Your association deserves the commendation of everyone for its initiative in providing for their disabled or veteran employes. Our largest industries are now committed to a policy of caring in this manner for the men who spend entire lives in their employ."

The association has created a board of insurance trustees to supervise the management of the new plan. All costs of the insurance will be borne by the contractors, the employe-beneficiaries being in no way called upon to stand any portion of the expense.

doing. I stay here. They killed him.

Plotkaum took his medicine submissively. He did not fight back when the murderers said, "All right, then, let him have it here."

BUT HARRY HARRIS, shot a little later in Villa Joe's restaurant, fought back when invited for a ride. He was alive when he reached the hospital, in spite of a bullet in the forehead and another near the ear. Laughed, when asked who shot him, and replied, "Don't you guys bother about that, these things are always taken care of."

He will die, and probably before long the man that shot him will die. These things "are taken care of."

THERE IS STILL money in the oil business. Thomas B. Slick, well named, it appears, dies and leaves $100,000,000.

That is a good deal of money, although one American with a great deal more than $100,000,000 said that when he thought about Rockefeller or Carnegie he felt like a Gipsy.

er's meeting. I'm going to ask for an investigation of that new office building. There are so many things going on about it that are unexplained.

"I've known about that Moses carving for a couple of weeks. It's like that Sixth Street bridge affair. The architects copied a German bridge and then got a medal for originality. Some day I'm going to Germany and bring back copies of that bridge and make them take that originality plate off the bridge."

ARTISTS GIVE VIEWS

The Moses medallion on the Albany building, designed by Maxfield Keck, and named "Law," was reproduced in the magazine "Pencil Points" in the November, 1929, issue, with others. The Albany group is similar in other points to others of the county building carvings.

Artists and sculptors today pointed out that if Keck did the county building carvings here, he should have done an original conception differing entirely from the Albany one. Even the laws in the states differ, they explained. If the art work is not original, it should be refused, they agreed.

Brokers' Receiver Sues Doherty Firm

CINCINNATI, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Graham P. Hunt, receiver for the Roberts & Hall Brokerage Company, filed suit for judgment of $128,630.75 from Henry L. Doherty and from Amor W. Shafer, former district sales manager of the Henry L. Doherty and Company, who was recently convicted of embezzlement from his employer.

Hunt alleged that Shafer maintained three accounts with the brokerage firm and that as a result Shafer and the company are indebted to the receiver in the amount named.

Hungarians' Sea Hop Motive Is Patriotism

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Capt. Alexander Magyar and George Endres, Hungarian aviators, said stimulation of interest in recovery of territory their country lost after the World War is the primary object of their proposed trans-Atlantic flight from New York to Budapest. The aviators, en route from Burbank, Cal., to New York, damaged their plane slightly in landing here.

RACCOONS PLAY AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Star performers at the White House for a day, where they helped entertain at a garden fete, Susie, a 4-year-old raccoon, and her six cubs, were back in the Washington Zoo today, after an exciting journey in a trunk.

Ike Hoover, an attendant at the Executive Mansion through the regime of many presidents, conceived having the animal performers for President and Mrs. Hoover's garden party, and in doing so he revived the mystery of the unfortunate Rebecca.

Rebecca, for a time, was the cynosure of all raccoon and many other eyes. Presented to President Coolidge by an admirer, she roamed the White House grounds for many months, until suddenly she vanished.

Ike Hoover was busy for a time yesterday denying rumors that Rebecca had returned, since Susie and her menage occupied the especially constructed cage that once housed the former White House pet.

The taking of an animal from the zoo to the White House was somewhat of an innovation, since traffic has usually moved the other way.

DOCTORS ADVISE EAT, BE HAPPY

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Diet, in the opinion of Dr. Robert Hutchison, of London, should be a matter of likes and dislikes.

The diet faddist, he told the 98th annual meeting of the British Medical Association, is perhaps the commonest and most malignant crank.

He said:

"The scientific truth about all this diet business, can be summed up as follows: eat moderately, taking ordinary mixed diet, and don't worry about anything else—to take no thought for what you shall eat or drink is wiser than to be always fussing over it. Likes and dislikes, however, should be listened to; they are nature's indication of what probably agrees or disagrees."

Harking back to the "days of mud pies," Dr. Hutchison said children probably were healthier and happier then than the oft-weighed, pampered, dieted and psycho-analyzed infants of today.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Two men were arrested and police were seeking five others as the result of a fight near the plant of the Connellsville By-Product Coal Comapny, where a strike has been in progress since August 1.

Battle Badge to Be Buried With Old War Dog

ELKHORN, Wis., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Denny O'Keefe, who barked defiance to the enemy from a dozen front-line trenches, and marched over the Rhine to triumph, is dead.

He succumbed last night, but without a whimper, as befitted his title—one of the oldest war dogs in the United States.

Denny was a mongrel. He was born one rainy October night in 1917 in a dugout just back of the lines. The "boys" of the 32nd Division carried him with them wherever they went—Cantigny, Soissons, Montdidier, St. Mihiel, the Argonne and Germany.

He came back to the United States, smuggled aboard ship in a raincoat. At Camp Grant he was mustered from the Army as "Private Denny O'Keefe, honorably discharged." Beside him was his master, Sergeant Tom O'Keefe, of Elkhorn.

With him will be buried his token of service—five wound stripes and a five-battle badge.

A PROTEST Against High Prices!

Why pay a half dollar or so per pound for any highly exploited brand of coffee when you can buy a better coffee for a whole lot less money—here is our story and we stick to it.

We think we know something about coffee and we should—we have been handling it for over a quarter of a century.

The big national advertising Coffee concerns—some with beautifully written high flown mellifluous advertisements; others with published testimonials from the glittering galaxy of Hollywood stars, loudly sound the virtues of their respective coffees and praise their brands to the skies.

—And we agree their coffees are good—but, we strongly assert and emphatically claim that our My-Te-Good brand is about the equal in quality and our Fifth Avenue brand is superior to any of the nationally advertised brands of coffee and—just think of the difference in price!

If you are a "crank" on coffee—hard to satisfy—we urge you to try Fifth Avenue brand—buy a three-pound package and—laying aside all price prejudice—carefully and conscientiously compare it with any of these much higher-priced coffees—if, in your judgment, Fifth Avenue is not superior, bring it back and we will cheerfully refund your money.

—"why bother", say you;

"If you will only try Fifth Avenue brand once, you will save a lot of money on your future coffee bills"—say we.

MATE DEAD, HER ACT GOES ON

Adah Straub, petite radio entertainer and stage player, went ahead with the final days of her schedule at the Fulton Theater and over the radio yesterday and last night hiding her grief for her dead husband as she lived up to the code of stage folk of "On with the show."

And as she completed her stay here, funeral arrangements were being made for her husband, I. V. Straub, 28, of 5130 Beacon street, who shot himself to death as he sat in his automobile in Freeport road near New Kensington.

Yesterday when she learned that her husband had been found dead, she bravely broke up under the sad tidings and called out her stage and radio schedules. She was appearing at the Rialto with Irene Jones in a piano duo act.

Straub, a clothing salesman, shot himself during an attack of despondency over ill health and malaria fever contracted while he was a marine in South America. They have one son, Robert, 6.

Mrs. Straub came here from Los Angeles. Straub was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Straub of Hampton Hall, Dillsburg, street, who are absent on a vacation.

1 DEAD, 24 SAFE AS SHIP SINKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Caught by shifting freight, a captain was carried down with his ship in New York harbor last night after a collision with a scow. His crew of 24 was rescued.

The collision between the Clyde-Mallory freighter Neches and the third of a string of scows in tow of a tug occurred in the Narrows off Staten Island. Coast Guard boats and police launches saved all the officers and men but Capt. Eber Estee of the Neches. He was wedged in by a load of pipe on the after deck.

Chief Engineer E. Carey of Hillside, N. J., fought desperately to free him, but was pitched into the water as the ship turned over on its side.

"You can't help me. Take care of yourself, Carey," were the captain's last words.

The other 24 members of the crew had taken to a lifeboat as the vessel was sinking.

An alleged attempt of several youths to steal an automobile from the lawn at the home of George Dyer, of Bellton avenue, Ross Township, resulted in one of the number being shot in the foot when Dyer opened fire. Four of the men escaped. The wounded youth and another were captured by Dyer.

Kratson is in Allegheny General Hospital under police guard.

Two of the youths are said to have attempted to steal an automobile parked on the lawn. Dyer obtained a revolver and fired five shots. The youths fled and Dyer followed in an automobile.

At Perrysville avenue and East street he came upon Kratson and Wocniak. He summoned police and had the pair arrested.

SEEKS CIVIC AID IN N. Y. GRAFT

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—A series of conferences of office-holders, magistrates and judges [illegible] daily, Mayor Walker has appealed to civic leaders to help him end the evil of graft.

[illegible] charges from accusations of Municipal Supreme Court Justices have been charged in letters and complaints some of them almost identical, with purchasing their offices from political leaders.

Assistant Attorney General Thomas Prendergast, Jr., chief aid to Attorney General Hamilton in a state investigation into charges of office buying by former Magistrate George F. Ewald, said more than 50 letters of accusation had been received.

The mayor, in addressing 200 representatives of civic and mercantile interests at City Hall suggested the organizations form a central committee to receive complaints of graft and corruption. He promised the driving from the police service of all those found guilty of grafting.

After the meeting several of those who attended criticized the mayor's action and accused him of trying to pass the buck.

SUSPECT HELD IN CO-ED DEATH

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—The slaying of Miss Lois M. Kettle, Los Angeles student of the University of California and her fiance, Francis Conlon, Modesto, remained as much a mystery today as when their axe-hacked bodies were discovered Monday on the beach at Ensenada, Mexico.

The net result of an intensive investigation by American and Mexican officials has been the repeated arrest of Masatomi Miyashiro by Southern California authorities after he was found, they said, armed with a knife, wandering in a dazed condition, eight miles from the scene of the murder.

Officers have been unable to find a motive for the slaying. No money was found in Conlon's pockets although he was reported to have taken $100 on the trip from Los Angeles to Ensenada, but investigators refuse to accept robbery as a motive for the double slaying.

Dannenhower was as popular in Washington as in Pittsburgh, once manager of the City Club here.

Max Dannenhower left Pittsburgh last night to visit his family in Marlboro, Md. He had been manager of the P. A. A. at Fifth avenue and Bigelow boulevard for five years, when he resigned in 1920 to manage the Washington club. He returned in 1924.

TROUBLE BREWS IN ARGENTINA

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—The newspaper La Prensa today said the roof of President Yrigoyen's house bristles with machine guns and that the provincial railway management has received orders to hold a train ready at a moment's notice to convey troops to Buenos Aires.

Trouble of a mysterious nature began to develop yesterday. The chief of provincial police held long conferences with the commanders of all the city's police stations.

The provincial government minister went into conferences with the commanders of regiments in the La Plata garrison.

All orders according to La Prensa were issued by Gov. Crovetto after a meeting held in the president's house.

Today's La Nacion said there was unusual activity at police headquarters and that the chief of police and many high officers remained at their desks all night.

Robbers Permit Victim to Keep Four Cents

Two robbers who held up the Golden Dome gasoline service station at Wallace avenue and Hays street, Wilkinsburg, this morning permitted C. L. Adams, the attendant, to keep the 4 cents he produced when they demanded his money.

Put them back, said one of the pair as Adams fingered the coins.

The robbers stole $35 from the cash register.

WOMAN'S DEATH HELD MURDER

A coroner's jury today found that Mrs. Margaret P. Wright, who died April 22 in Allegheny General Hospital, came to her death as a result of being brutally beaten on April 21, and recommended the apprehension of Thomas Mueller on a charge of murder.

The woman was found in Hein street, North Side, badly beaten. Witnesses at the inquest today testified that a man answering Mueller's description was seen standing over her unconscious form. Mrs. Wright was the mother of five children, and witnesses testified that she and Mueller had been living together for some time before she was slain.

Stunning Frock For Early Fall

Pattern 2009

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS.

The collar and scarf of the model sketched today express the very last word in fashion to say nothing of the chic and beauty of the sleeves. If it were necessary to add grace to these details, the flared skirt joined in downward point would surely achieve that. A narrow belt of the fabric is buckled in front.

Pattern 2009 is exquisite fashioned of canton or flat crepe, dull satin, marocain or chiffon velvet. For immediate wear, georgette, voile or shantung would be delightful. Seasonal colors are black, brown, green and blue. Or, if you wish, a print will be equally effective.

May be obtained only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4¾ yards of 39-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

two well-known brands
ARMOUR'S STAR lb. 29c OSCAR MAYER'S

Duchess Apples
for eating and cooking
8 quart chip 49c
When you think of all the good things apples will make... sauce, pies, dumplings, fritters... to say nothing of the "apple a day" all of us should eat, an eight-quart chip won't last long. These are double-purpose apples. Hand packed, well filled baskets.

McCann's Butter...2 lbs. $1.00

Iceberg Lettuce.. 2 large heads 25c
Large firm heads that will yield many "cups" for salads. A head quartered and served with Thousand Island or Russian Dressing makes a tempting salad. It pays to buy lettuce at McCann's.

Blue Fin Herring... lb. 29c
These fish lead a double life... they're sometimes known as Baby Whitefish. By whatever name you call them, they're delightfully flavored. Boneless, too. You can buy them already fried at 35c a lb.

Homegrown Tomatoes, 2 quart carrier 29c
Homegrown tomatoes have a different flavor... not so acidy as shipped in varieties. Bake them, fry them, slice them, sandwich them. You know, of course, that tomatoes are rich in vitamins.

2 GIRL 'REDS' FREE ON BOND

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP).—After serving nine days of a three months' sentence for desecrating the American flag at Van Etten, Mabel Husa, 20, and Aileen Holmes, 23, Communist camp leaders, were released from the Monroe County penitentiary here under bonds of $500 each as a result of granting of an appeal in their case.

Papers directing their release were signed in Elmira by Supreme Court Justice Personius.

The young women were met as they walked from the penitentiary by a small group of Rochester Communists. Miss Husa was given a letter thought to be from her parents in North Dakota. The pair then were whisked away to an unrevealed destination in the city "to get a good rest."

URGE BILLION FOR JOB AID

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 28—(AP)—After hearing Governor Roosevelt urge unemployment insurance as a vital need for stabilization of economic and social conditions, the annual convention of the New York State Federation of Labor settled down to consideration of several resolutions dealing with the unemployment situation.

Among those was one calling on President Hoover immediately to call a special session of Congress for the purpose of appropriating $1,000,000,000 for a program of public works.

The resolutions committee will report favorably a suggestion that an Independent National Labor Party be organized. Its platform would embody the major principles of organized labor and one of its chief aims would be the eliminating or prevention of unemployment.

THRIFTY WOMEN SEE VALUE OF CANNING FRUIT THIS SUMMER

Never Before Has Sugar Been so Low in Price and Fruit is Plentiful

A glance at the overflowing fruit markets and then at the low price of sugar proves conclusively that 1930 is the year to put up fruit. Of course the more that is canned the bigger the financial gain, but even a few jars of preserves and glasses of jelly stored away will help cut food bills next winter.

Pickles and relishes made of cucumbers, tomatoes, cabbage and watermelon rind are also economical to put up. Their spicy tart-sweet goodness is most welcome when meats and fish are served.

Canned fruit has a place in the balanced diet. Most of them are rich in vitamins. For children, canned fruit is an ideal breakfast dish or a fitting dessert.

Beyond a doubt, the housewife who puts up plenty of fruit this summer will find that its consumption next winter will help keep her family well and save her money. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

The blonde that burns

Sunburn dangerous to some skins What to do

A CONSIDERABLE number of blonde Nordics can't stand sunburn," says a noted health officer. "They don't tan. They just burn. And often they get actually ill from the effects of the sun."

And sunburn is not only injurious to your delicate skin, it is unbecoming. Better avoid it. Even on cloudy days there may be enough violet rays to cause irritation. Use a parasol and wear a hat. Look out for the reflected violet rays from the water and take your "Vaseline" Jelly along on all outings for complete protection. The tube slips easily into your hand bag.

Before you go out, apply a thin layer to the exposed skin, face, arms, neck, legs (if you go without stockings). Wipe it off with cleansing tissues and apply powder. This will give a protective film over the skin.

And if you feel yourself burning, apply a fresh layer and leave it on. Never mind the looks. Better be safe than sick.

This is a harmless way to save yourself trouble. Do try it. "Vaseline" Jelly can be bought anywhere, in jars or tubes, and it is very inexpensive.

SAILORS' STORY HINTS RUM ROW

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 28 (AP).—Existence of a new rum row off the Jersey coast was seen by Coast Guardsmen today in the reported sinking at sea of the schooner Evelyn I.

Three members of the schooner's crew landed on the beach here yesterday and said they had left the schooner leaking and sinking condition 16 miles at sea with four members of her crew aboard. They said they were ordered by their captain to obtain help and reached shore after rowing 16 hours in a dory and then swimming two and a half hours after their boat capsized.

After an all-day search of the coast a Coast Guard lifeboat crew returned last night without finding any trace of the ship.

Lieut. Duke of the Cape May Coast Guard station said the Francis I was known to Coast Guardsmen as a rum boat and expressed belief the three men had become lost from the ship as they rowed ashore. The ship cleared Halifax, N. S., July 21 for St. John's, N. F.

Reisch defended that he had passed the checks in good faith, but Judge Rowand pointed out that he had cashed the checks and then departed the city.

MAN HELD, BRIDE SENT HOME

Harry Moore, 36, of 513 Arch street, was held for the grand jury today by Magistrate J. J. Sweeney in North Side Police Court on charges of breaking and entering, robbing and larceny.

Moore, arrested by Patrolman J. Sigmund yesterday, was confronted with the testimony of Steve Glovna, 1321 Redour street, and Albert Lippley, 1206 Boyle street, who testified they saw him leaving the store of Goodman Pearle, 104 East Ohio street, by way of the transom.

George Pearle, one of the owners of the store, declared his merchandise was bloodstained and that a hat Moore had came from his stock.

Sweeney asked Moore how he cut his hand. The suspect said he had been attacked and robbed after winning a sum of money in a gambling house, his hand being cut in the scuffle.

Moore's wife, a bride of 15 days, was advised by Sweeney to return to her parents.

PLAN TO RACE LAKE SHIPS

CLEVELAND, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Possibility of a race between two of the largest passenger steamers on the Great Lakes was being considered by officials of the Cleveland and Buffalo Transit Company and the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation Company.

"We're ready to go any time and are waiting to hear from the D. & C. now," P. J. Swartz, general manager of the C. & B., said.

E. H. McCracken, passenger traffic manager for the D. & C., said he was "thinking it over."

The big "Seeandbee," a powerful 500-foot ship, is the Cleveland and Buffalo line's proposed entry. The Detroit and Cleveland company's favorites are the "Greater Buffalo" and the "Greater Detroit," sister ships.

A similar race was held on the Great Lakes in 1901 with the "City of Erie," of the Cleveland and Buffalo line, winning from the "Tashmoo," of the White Star line.

PATRIOTIC SONS DEBATE FEES

GETTYSBURG, Pa., August 28.—(AP.)—A controversy over proposals to increase the 40 per cent annual per capita assessment of members of the Patriotic Order Sons of America for expenses of the state camp developed at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania branch of the society.

Some of the delegates advocated raises as high as 45 cents above the present assessment and prolonged debate ensued. The increase was necessary, its proponents said, for payment of interest on bonds outstanding against the building of the state camp in Philadelphia, and other expenses. The question was laid over for settlement today. The only agreement reached was to maintain present salaries of the state officers another year.

Three ballots were required to elect Warren H. Roberts, of Davistown, state guard of the lodge.

Occupants Missing After Auto's Plunge

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—A large sedan went through a guard rail on the gravel pike near Greenlane last night and plunged 100 feet into a stone quarry.

State highway patrolmen could find no trace of the driver or passengers. The car was registered in the name of Mrs. Marie Hillpot, Philadelphia, who told authorities the car was stolen.

Swimmer Attacked By Cramps Drowns

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Stricken with cramps while swimming at Harris pond at Sweet Valley, Harry Johnson, 16, of Trucksville, sank before help could reach him and drowned.

NO PROFIT IN BEING HALF A MAN

Valuable New Tonic Restores Old Pep and Zest

Men and women drag themselves about suffering from all kinds of weaknesses when a good reliable tonic would put them on their feet again. There is no profit and no fun in being half a man or woman. Good blood and good digestion will set almost everybody on their feet again and restore the pep and strength of youth. Instead of stimulating and whipping your bodily powers you should build them up.

That is the contention of the originators of World's Tonic, the valuable new medicine that is creating such a furore among the people of this community. After a long period of research the ingredients of this new tonic were brought together from different parts of the world, and the finished product offered to men and women who need to be restored to the vigor of youth. Since that time its success has been most marked. From the testimonials of well-known people published every day one need not doubt that this new and successful medicine will help restore the blood to what it should be, also the sparkle to the eye and color to the skin, help correct faulty digestion, and help bring back the old pep and zest for living that makes life worth while.

Men and women who feel that they are slipping, whose strength and vigor are not what they used to be, and who have aches and pains, attacks of indigestion or fits of the "blues," should take this valuable new medicine and recover the lost pep and tone of the bodily functions. Try it for yourself. World's Tonic can be obtained of Dow's, Mar-Liggett's, Mayflower or of any other first class drug store. (D-2.)

GINGER POISON SOURCE FOUND

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—A tasteless, odorless compound, generally used in the lacquer and leather industries, is responsible, in the opinion of government chemists, for the thousands of cases of paralysis that followed the drinking of ginger concoctions.

The Bureau of Industrial Alcohol announced the "strange poison" is "ortho-tri-cresyl phosphate" and that the "ortho-tri-cresyl" alone caused the paralysis which has been particularly serious in the South and West. The body, the investigators said, acted chemically on the compound in such a way that it "split," and the poisoning resulted.

The bureau said some chemical genius of the underworld apparently had hit upon the ideal substance for adulterating fluid extract of ginger for beverage purposes. The substance is cheap—and the unknown chemist had no reason to believe the substance would prove extraordinarily harmful. It is, in fact, the investigators said, harmless until the body changes it into a poison.

WRIGHT PLANE WANTED IN U. S.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—A movement to bring the original Wright Brothers airplane back to the United States has been started by the Earlybird Association, an organization of men who learned to fly prior to 1917.

R. S. Knowlson, aviation editor of the Kansas City Star, who is a member of the organization, announced the veteran pilots hoped to have the aeronautical relic placed in a shrine to be erected in Washington by popular subscription. The machine is in a museum in England.

Women Jobhunters Scorn Housework

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Jobs—160 of them—went begging at the city's free employment agency, while 200 women applicants scorned positions as cooks and domestics.

The women, desiring office work and shop positions, looked with disdain upon the household jobs, some paying as high as $80 a month with room and board. At the men's window there were only 100 jobs for 1,500 applicants and all were taken quickly.

Convicted of Luring Girl to Leave Home

FRANKLIN, Pa., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—A jury found Tom Clark, alias Sweeney, 28-year-old former Detroit taxi driver, guilty of enticing a 15-year-old girl to leave her home and remain in hiding in the woods near here while her parents and police searched for her.

The girl testified that failure in school led her to accept the man's invitation to "run off."

ROAD FLEETS CUT HAZARD

Sixty or more Western Pennsylvania fleets operating 3,600 trucks and other vehicles are participating in the second interfleet drivers safety contest sponsored by the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council and the Better Traffic Committee, with a decrease of more than 35 per cent in accidents over the previous contest.

This substantial reduction was made known today when figures for the first four months of the contest were compiled. Twenty-nine fleets came through July without any accidents and a few have kept this record up for four months. The contest comes to a close on September 30 when the Nineteenth Annual Safety Congress meets in Pittsburgh.

Figures for April, May, June and July, 1930, show 40 accidents per 100,000 hours as compared with a ratio of 63 per 100,000 hours in the period from October 1, 1929, to January 31, 1930.

ASKS $50,000 IN CAR CRASH

Anna E. Stein, of 131, Negley avenue, has filed suit against the Pittsburgh Railways Company for $50,000 damages for personal injuries, her action being the first brought as a result of two cars colliding July 22 at Penn avenue and Butler street.

The plaintiff sets forth in her bill of particulars filed in Common Pleas Court that she was a passenger on an inbound car of the Frankstown avenue line. She alleges that the car was being operated at a dangerous rate of speed and that a proper lookout was not maintained. As a result of the collision she suffered injuries, she declares.

FERGUSONS OUT OF POLITICS

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 28.—(AP)—In an editorial in the Ferguson Forum, signed "Pa" and "Ma," James E. and Miriam A. Ferguson said they never expect to seek public office again. The Forum is a Ferguson political newspaper. The editorial said:

"Every day we are asked what of our plans? Our answer is that, while we never expect to seek office again, we will always be at the command of our friends as private citizens, with our bit and mite to battle for the interests of the people."

It was the first statement of the Fergusons since Mrs. Ferguson was defeated for the Democratic nomination for governor by Ross S. Sterling, of Houston, last Saturday.

"Suffered 30 Years With Indigestion"

ENDS IT WITH AMAZING NEW FORMULA

Misery Goes Quick With Acidine

Mrs. Emma Green of Detroit, Michigan for the first time in over thirty years is enjoying a fit stomach. She tried many different remedies without success until Acidine brought her happy relief from acid indigestion. She says "Acidine has helped my digestion more than anything else I have ever taken after having suffered from acid indigestion for over thirty years."

Burning acid stomach, pain after eating, belching gas, bloating, heartburn, dizziness, and the resulting nervousness, sleeplessness, and colds won't trouble you if you use new formula, Acidine. It gives relief where all other remedies fail because it is entirely different. Contains an effective starch digestant, Japtase, which promptly liquefies 500 times its own weight of starchy foods, under proper conditions. Five other ingredients neutralize burning acid, stop gas formation and soothe irritated stomach lining. Its instantaneous action in cleaning up the troubles that commonly lead to stomach distress is more pleasing than you would believe possible. Acidine is safe, harmless and pleasant for adults and children. Used by millions of people. Eat, drink, smoke. Take Acidine to relieve resulting acidity.

Acidine is sold under a satisfaction or money back guarantee. Get it today. If it does not more than please you, return the Acidine and your druggist will refund your money. Get Acidine at any drug store today, or write Health Laboratories, Inc., Pittsburgh, Pa.

"My Appetite was poor. I had lost weight—felt run down. Now feel fine."

Miss Lottie Bell Pulliam, Knoxville, Tenn., writes:

"My appetite was poor. I had lost weight—was nervous and could not sleep well at night. In my rundown condition even my joints ached. I took seven large size bottles of S.S.S. It greatly improved my condition. My appetite picked up. My weight was restored and I now feel fine—in fact, I feel like a new person. S.S.S. is a splendid blood tonic and I recommend it to my friends. My mother also took S.S.S. and it renewed her strength."

S.S.S. is the Tonic that is daily helping thousands of weak, rundown, nervous people regain their strength and charm

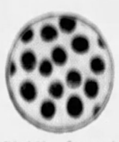
MORE red-blood-cells and of the right quality! That's the answer to a rundown condition. You need them to fight infection and disease. The way to regain them is to take S.S.S.—the tonic that will help Nature build up and enrich your blood. Then your appetite will pick up. Your skin will clear up. Your whole body will be strengthened, invigorated!

Don't wait until it is too late to correct a rundown condition. When your red-blood-cells are only 80% you are NOT yourself—60% is dangerous.

Take S.S.S. before each meal. Its successful record of over 100 years in building red-cells in the blood is a guarantee of satisfaction. Get the large size bottle. At all drug stores. © S.S.S. Co.

How to recognize a low blood count

Fatigue without any apparent reason, sluggishness, loss of appetite, loss of body weight, paleness, boils and pimples are outstanding symptoms of a LOW RED-BLOOD-CELL COUNT. The red-cells are your body builders. They carry nourishment to every part of the body. Also, they remove impurities from the tissues. When your red-cells drop to 80 per cent of normal strength, you haven't the proper number of workers to keep you "fit." 60 per cent of normal is dangerous. S.S.S.—the great blood tonic—stimulates the blood-building organs to supply the necessary red-cells. Your appetite picks up, your body is strengthened—you feel like yourself again!



(Left) Microscopic view of healthy red-blood-cells. The blood stream should contain about 5,000,000 of these cells to every cubic millimeter.

PAINTER SEEKS SENATE SEAT

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 28 (AP).—Arthur A. Wells of Council Bluffs, railroad coach painter, announced his candidacy for United States Senator from Iowa on a Farmer-Labor ticket.

Wells said he would make the employment question the principal issue of his campaign, favoring the calling of an extra session of Congress to find jobs for men out of work.

Roy M. Hartop of Council Bluffs, chairman of the Farmer-Labor Party of Iowa, said Wells' candidacy completes the party's state ticket. John M. Smith of Perry is seeking the governorship.

KONJOLA RIDS SUFFERER, 73, OF RHEUMATISM

In Seven Years of Misery No Other Medicine Gave Relief—No Wonder He Praises New Medicine.

What encouragement there is in the endorsement from those who found in Konjola, the new and different medicine, relief that no other remedy tried gave.

MR. W. L. GUTHRIE.

Be guided in your search for health by experiences like that of Mr. W. L. Guthrie, of Washington, near Pittsburgh, and then get all the facts about this remarkable medicine from the Konjola Man at the Dow drug store, Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh. He will tell you why Konjola is a household word in thousands of homes in Pittsburgh and vicinity. But read now the words of Mr. Guthrie, and then decide what you will do about Konjola. To the Konjola Man he said:

"Konjola worked wonders in my case. About seven years ago I became afflicted with rheumatism and stomach trouble, with the rheumatic pains settling in my left hip, arm, leg and shoulder. They were almost unbearable. After each meal I bloated with gas and endured miseries. Constipation made matters worse. But in just three weeks Konjola made me feel years younger. It cleansed my system and completely restored digestion. It drove the rheumatic pains away; ended constipation, and I feel like a different person."

Konjola works swiftly its seeming wonders to perform, but a treatment of from six to eight bottles is highly recommended.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow drug store, Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh, where daily he is meeting those who come to ask all about Konjola. Konjola is sold also in all Dow stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

NEWS PARADE IN HOLLYWOOD AND GOTHAM; LOCAL THEATER NOTES

Dolores Costello Plans To Retire From Films, She Tells Friends

By HARRISON CARROLL,

(Copyright, 1930, by Publishers Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28.

Motherhood probably will mean an end to the film career of Dolores Costello (Mrs. John Barrymore).

The star has told her friends that she is content to be a wife and mother, and that the talkies have no more allure for her. Her last picture was "Hearts in Exile," made a number of months ago at Warner Brothers, where Dolores has been under contract since she graduated from the chorus to the film business.

By coincidence, the story of her intended retirement comes at a time when the audible version of "The Sea Beast" is before the public. It was while the earlier film was being made that the romance developed between Dolores and Barrymore. I recall her then as a wistful, sweet-faced girl who expressed shy disbelief that she could ever become a star, and who was very much excited over the honor of playing opposite the "great lover" of the screen.

Dolores Costello

The Barrymores are just back from a yachting trip to Catalina. It was the first time that the baby had been to sea.

AN EYE TO BUSINESS

Arthur Caesar, one of Hollywood's prime wags, attended the anniversary party of James and Lucille Gleason.

"I don't think much of your guest list," he reproached Gleason. "You haven't got anybody here who could even take up an option."

The truth is almost everybody in Hollywood was there. It was the Gleason's twenty-fourth wedding anniversary, a record in this community. The 300 guests swam, talked and played cards. It was such a mass-whoopee that one guest may be forgiven for introducing a wife to her own husband.

BACK TO STAGE

In another eight weeks Dorothy Burgess will be back on the stage again. The Pathe player, who appeared in "Swing High" and other films, is to do a play for Edward Belasco, brother of New York's David.

No vehicle has been selected as yet, but many are being read.

Dorothy is seen much about Hollywood with Charlie Richards, Pathe's casting director. Charlie is almost a leading man type. In fact, I believe he started out as an actor.

Dorothy Burgess

DO YOU KNOW that the old silent version of "Tom Sawyer" had Jack Pickford as Tom, Lewis Sargent as Huck Finn and Louise Huff as Becky Thatcher?

LIKE FATHER

Playing the part of a super in a local stage production is Harold Lockwood, Jr. How many I wonder recall the father of this boy? He was one of the greatest matinee idols the screen has known.

Our Nell!

Marie McLain is the "Our Nell" heroine of the melodramatic classics that Capt. Menke is presenting on his Golden Rod Showboat at Montrose. This week the drama is "Driven From Home." Next week it will be "Last Lynne."

Destroy Those Germs That Spell Athlete's Foot
You may not recognize it when you see it. But when you notice little skin cracks appearing between your toes, or tiny blisters, that itch and rub, or a suspicious whiteness, thickness, dampness of the skin, or dry scales that rub off when you touch them, then it's time for action! The first thing to do is to buy a bottle of Sea Breeze—the new Antiseptic with the Tingling Thrill. Wash your feet in warm water. Dry them. Then apply Sea Breeze liberally. Massage it into the flesh. WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

Plea to Pauline

Perennial proposals I deliver as a swain
(Those speeches which at times you lend an ear to)
Afford you some uneasiness, occasionally pain—
You'd like to tell the reason, but you fear to;
You yearn for tinseled pleasures for the balance of your life,
And for a change seek something else besides books;
You long to face the future as a capitalist's wife,
And see the places mentioned in the guide books.

My claims for your attention are embarrasingly few,
And mention of financial things would hurt you;
I have no mess of what it takes but just the will to do—
A quality that borders on a virtue.
But there is merit in your views, and I am just and fair,
You may be wise to choose with whom you mingle,
So when you finally select your multi-millionaire,
Be sure he has a sister who is single.

—ROBERT NEWCOMB.

A FORM OF CRITICISM

One of the better pokes at the Fifth Avenue Bus Company and traffic congestion is this which is being swapped by the wags. A man put his wife on a bus which stopped at Forty-second street.

"You get on here, dear," he said. "I'll get on at Forty-third street. I'm just going around the corner to get a haircut.

HEHEHEH

George Jessel tells about the drunk whose friends tried to make him quit hitting the bottle too much.

"Here now," coaxed Jessel, "drink this milk, it's good for you."

The drunk sipped some of it and spat it out.

"Ugh!" he ugh'd, as he made an ugly face, "what are you tryin' to do—poison me? No wonder the cows give it away!"

OF ALL ANSWERS!

Take it from an eyewitness to the scene. Mickey McGuire was dining in a "Greasy Vest" beanery one night recently and a New York World printer came in and asked for a bowl of soup. After diving into the stuff he summoned a waiter and yelled his head off.

"Hey!" shouted the printer, "there's a cockroach in this soup!"

"Okay," replied the indifferent waiter as he turned to the kitchen and called out: "One order of Flit in a hurry!"

GAG

Two dialecticians met in the lobby of a Long Beach hotel.

"Yi, yi," said the first. "Deed I just have an eight-course dinner for unly seventeh-five sants!"

"Fur unly seventeh-five sants?" tut-tutted the other. "Den de caviar must have been domestic!"

OH, MR. WILSTACH!

The smiles in the following night-letter from Bugs Baer to his dentist are recommended to Frank Wilstach's Simile Dictionary. Dr. Jaffin is also Ex-Governor Al E. Smith's molar inspector. The wire follows:

Dr. John Jaffin, 1457 Broadway, New York. Dear Doc stop Have more things the matter with my mouth than Hoover has with the administration stop Every time I walk fast one of my teeth falls out and by next week I will be able to supply all the Elks in the world with vest ornaments stop I will drop in tomorrow and if you do me any good you will be more welcome than a rainmaker in Hell stop I am a very busy man, but I also need teeth because I cannot go through life biting on cream puffs and soft boiled eggs stop The last time I was to a dentist was before I joined the army in 1918, so you can guess by now that my teeth look like a hobo's pocket comb stop Will see you tomorrow and hope that you will be able to save enough of my molars to enable me to bite one of Winchell's ears off as I intend going wrong soon.—Bugs Baer."

DID HIS FACE GET RED?

The Broadway vaudeville theaters have pepped up the Big Time by engaging adroit masters of ceremonies. Some of them have great influence with stage, screen and other favorites they invite to the theater. Then the celebs are introduced to the audience and they usually get up and entertain.

Last week Phil Baker called on a columnist whose name is unimportant. Baker introduced the columnist as "one of New York's best newspapermen." This made the columnist terribly sick, and little wonder.

For seated in the same audience was a great newspaperman who was unintentionally overlooked—Floyd Gibbons.

INCIDENTALLY

Floyd (217-words-a-minute) Gibbons, who made his debut as a vaude headliner at the Palace this week with a grand act packing a breathlessly paced routine, class and dignity, told us his favorite gag on himself.

It is the one about the Scot who had to make a long-distance phone call to his wife, so he asked Gibbons to talk to her for him!

SOTTO VOICE

Gertrude Maddox: No likee.
Philip Wolter: No can use.

LAUGH AND THE WORLD, ETC.

Gilbert W. Gabriel, the New York American's drama defender, comments on critics who laugh.

"Some of the most insistent laughs," he says, "are emitted from the critics, but I'm afraid it's true—we are a glum lot, we of the present batch. Occasionally, like a trumpeter of the Old Guard, Robert C. Benchley sends out a mighty jangle of mirth. Or, when he isn't stopped in time, Walter Winchell will emit horrible brays of false notes in moments of otherwise universal silence."

He who laughs—lasts!

FLOATING NIGHT CLUB FLOATS AT END OF SIXTH STREET

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

The Showboat, a floating night club at the end of Sixth street where the river is, has opened. It was born, or rather reborn, last night. And, friends of the happy life, let us sing its praises. A merry time was had by all!

But, we may quote the program. There was Fuzzy Knight and that insane piano of his. There was Carlos and Norma in one of those dance displays in which the girl is tossed all around. There was Jerry Blanchard in a lot of "blues" songs that had the night-clubbers clubbing for more. There was Charlotte Van Dae in a stepping exhibition. And there was Frank Harrington—we credited him as the blackface fellow—in something or other.

AND WHAT A "DAY"!

However, whether it was "something" or whether it was "other," the management received no complaints. The food was good. But you couldn't buy the—call it by any name, it tastes just as bad, or just as good—on the boat. But hip flasks! Well, aren't we living in a prohibition day?

Anyway, this fellow, Joe Hiller, did himself proud. He produced the show. And he did a grand job. Even his dancing girls (and Lou Bolton helped him out on this) were grand. They call them the Ten Tantalizing Tars.

SPILL THE MUSIC

If you wanted to dance—and Mr. Hiller will forgive us if we say the floor was crowded—Jimmy Carr and his musical crew were present. This aggregation knew how to spill out the dance music. And more! This fellow Carr is no mean master of ceremonies when it comes to night club atmosphere.

There were a lot of celebrities at the opening. Among them were Dick Powell, who croons the songs; Wild Oscar, who "organ-logues" the tunes; Quin Hall, who draws the pictures; David Pesetzki, who mixes the jazz and the symphony; William (Fuzzy) Pfarr who walks the sidewalks; the above-mentioned Mr. Hiller, who made the show; Larry Jacobs, who is a gentleman of publicity—and Our Wife, who saw to it that we got home.

Guild's Nixon Season Opens September 22

For the coming season the Theater Guild will present five productions in the Nixon Theater. They will be performed by the leading members of the Theater Guild Acting Company, including Alfred Lunt, Lynn Fontanne, Alla Nazimova, Earl Larimore, Tom Powers, Henry Travers, Violet Kemble Cooper, Claude Rains, Ernest Cossart, Jane Wheatley, Percy Waram and Albert Carrol.

The initial play of the season will be Bernard Shaw's newest drama, "The Apple Cart," a political extravaganza in two acts and an interlude. It will be presented in the Nixon the week of September 22.

"A Month in the Country," the most famous comedy of Ivan Turgenev, one of Russia's great writers; "Garrick Galeties," the satirical revue, the third edition of which is current at the Guild Theater, New York; "Elizabeth, the Queen," by Maxwell Anderson, author of "Saturday's Children" and co-author of "What Price Glory?" and one other play, yet to be selected, will complete the guild's series in Pittsburgh. The dates of presentation for these plays will be announced later.

VICTOR HERBERT'S 'SINGING GIRL' ON RADIO TONIGHT

The Loudspeaker

Politicians Wiser
No Debunking
Lowdown on Capitol
International Tieups

—By LOUIS REID—

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The influence of the radio on modern public opinion still grips the imaginations of the politicians.

Louis Reid

Since the combative voices of Hoover and Smith echoed through the homes of the republic politicians have become more and more conscious of the microphone. They have had the experience of several months in agitating the air and they have become wise to the ways and waves of radio. They have become aware of the need for brevity and drama and wit and clarity when they clear their throats for the loudspeakers.

Whatever became of Senator Dill's measure proposing to set up microphones in the aisles of the Senate? Is tradition still blocking its adoption? I know senators must artikulate to get their messages across would do well to remove it from its pigeon hole.

Such a measure, we believe, would be of incalculable value in fostering the missing art of debunking on the microphones.

Debunking Not Heard on Air

Debunking practiced so industriously among the biographers has yet to raise its popular head in the realms of radio. The god of ballyhoo is in his heaven and all is well with the world of the broadcasters. Occasionally, as if to show that there is another world, the still and scornful voice of controversy is heard, but it quickly subsides, conscious that its efforts can find no secure and permanent place on the air channels.

* * *

It is to be regretted. Much of the inexhaustible variety of the American scene escapes the listener, but he can cup his ear ever to praise and palaver. Broadcasting enterprise, always alert to take advantage of outstanding news events and to present under its banners the foremost artists of song and instrument, should be able to make room for the sweet and lowdown of American life.

Why not a Lowdown Hour?

The Lowdown Hour could be devoted to innumerable subjects. It could do for radio what the sports writers do for their columns, what the correspondents back of the scenes in Washington do for their newspapers. It could, while hewing to the fearless and faingless creed, entertain and instruct the armchairs as they have not been entertained or instructed since the Battle of the White House in 1928.

What Is the Lowdown On Washington?

Is there not room on the radio for the genuine opinion that the Washington politicians held for Hoover or Hoover for the Washington politicians? For the real thoughts at this moment of Claudius Huston and Jouett Shouse and James J. Walker and Al Smith? For unprejudiced opinion regarding William McKinley, William Jennings Bryan, Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson?

Can we not have a true picture of the bunk that veils the so-called amateur status in sports? For an unsullied glimpse of the wheels that turn the government machine? For a clear perspective of this and that forbidden topic in the vast reaches of the republic?

The greatest difficulty to overcome, of course, is the choice of the interpreter, the chorus. He would have to combine some of the shrewd sense of the good Calvin, some of the sense of humor of Will Rogers in addition to a reportorial ability to gather and present the facts accurately and intelligently.

Programs continue to be exchanged between England and the United States. We receive ten, however, to every one we send. I wonder why.

We have any number of offerings which should find interest abroad—the great symphony orchestra, Sousa's Band, the warblings of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, a regiment of dance maestros paying interminable tribute to jazz, talks that range all the way from Borah to Wilbur, recitals on every conceivable instrument known to Damrosch and the devil, sketches that vary all the way from Main Street to the dimlit dens of Harlem.

In return, we'll take, and hush the bridge players on the other side of the room, George Bernard Shaw wisecracking as only he can; Lady Astor answering her political hecklers, the M. P. who obeyed an impulse to run away with the mace in the House of Commons, the Coldstream Guards' playing in St. James Park, a speech from Lloyd George, election night in Trafalgar Square, Wells and Galsworthy and Barrie and Bennett reminiscing on the manners and morals of their time, the stately procession of the King to the opening of Parliament, the dance bands in the night clubs.

REFRESHED
....for New effort

This is the real dividend from a Great Lakes cruise. A 2250 mile voyage on one of the Great Lakes Transit Corporation's luxurious passenger ships, the Tionesta, Octorara or Juniata, puts the dullest mind on the alert and new energy in the tired body.

The scenery is specially impressive in August; the cuisine aboard ship is comparable to that of the best hotels ashore; the ship's appointments equal those of the ocean liners. A social hostess assists in the entertainment. You will bless the impulse that urged you to this greatest fresh water voyage.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

In recompense for their faux pas of a week ago when they "cut" Victor Herbert opera for a meeting of the Bar Association, the NBC will offer tonight one of the best works of the famous composer. "The Singing Girl" is booked for KDKA at 10 o'clock.

Bret Harte—best known for his portrayals of '49 days and the wild stampede for riches—is to be reincarnated for WCAE fans at 9.

We have a weakness for "Beautiful Blue Danube," which we see scheduled at 9:30 on WCAE.

"Those Jesters on KDKA are not getting their share of praise," writes William Wendler, of Brookline. It's not because we don't like them. They are on tonight at 7:15.

Our favorite cornetist, Del Staigers, is on the RCA Hour from WCAE at 10 o'clock. "Carnival of Venice" is the selection. If you've never heard Del, don't miss this.

Some other good selections on the RCA program are a duet of Brahms' "Lullaby," a tenor solo of the "Neapolitan Love Song;" Quartet from "Rigoletto" by a mixed octet and Wilfred Glenn singing "Big Bass Viol."

QUESTION A DAY

Helen Reilly, New Kensington—Please give me the names of announcers at all Pittsburgh stations.

A.—KDKA, Louis Kaufman, chief announcer; Frederick G. Rodgers, Walter Myers, Glenn Riggs, R. P. Griffith, William A. Farren, Allen Thrasher, Stephen Leyshon, Claude Morris.

WCAE, Ford Miller, chief announcer; Herbert McGee, Fred Webber, Frank Mullor.

WJAS, Francis Owen, chief announcer; Jim Hughes, Howard Clark, Marcella Deverson.

KQV, Ted Kaye, chief announcer; John Corcoran, Jack Meridan, Paul Fleeger, Paul Miller, Adrian Cooper.

SINGIN' IN THE RAIN

Francis Owen was feeling humorous yesterday during the rehearsal of a prize fight.

In came a feminine visitor who wanted to know if it was true that announcers put themselves in a boxing arena environment on programs of this sort.

"Yes," said "40 Fathom" in a bit of fun. "I'm going to visualize the Dempsey-Tunney bout at Philadelphia now. You know it was fought in a drizzling rain. So I put on a raincoat, thus."

And he slipped into an oilskin.

With much ado and at the girls' expense he proceeded to describe the fight, shooting across remarks now and then about the heavy rain that was falling and pulling the coat about his shoulders to get across the desired effect.

"It's raining harder now," he shouted . . . and just then Jim Hughes, feeling for the girl's embarrassment, splashed a cup of water down Owen's neck.

A lot of adjective's followed, with Owen demanding an explanation from Jim.

"Atmosphere," said Jim. "Atmosphere. Didn't you tell the girl it was necessary?"

Owen smiled and begged the girl's apology.

GOLF NOTES

Percy Boyd hit a golf ball at Morgantown that was almost a hole-in-one on the fourth green. It hit the flagstaff and settled on the green a foot from the cup.

Bob Thompson shot a birdie at Conneaut Lake. It hopped along the ground a few feet, then flew away.

"Tramp on all divots," is the advice given players on the baby golf courses. "Herb" McGee has played several times, but says he's never seen these things. . . . "Are they mechanical contrivances to better your score?" he asks.

In our praise of Westinghause Salute yesterday we omitted honorable mention due Zoel Parenteau and his associate artists who presented a musical program that was second to none in tone quality and precision.

Edward Harvey, addition to the KDKA production staff, who has organized the KDKA Studio Players and improved the tone quality of several programs, notably Grogan Organ, by applying a very good technical knowledge of acoustics, is a veteran actor. His gaiety is the talk of folk in radioland.

* * *

His playlet on the air tomorrow at 1:45 is full of hair-raising thrills and mystery. All packed into 15 minutes, but this boy knows how! It's a pleasure to watch him work.

SHOW GOES ON

At signoff last night, Adah Straub collapsed in the arms of Irene Jones, her partner, then stoically gripped Irene's hand, whirled her head a few times, walked bravely from the studio. The girls were in makeup for the 8 o'clock show at the Enright, and there we saw face to face the full portent of "Laugh clown laugh, the show must go on." No one could have been more affected than Lou Kaufman, who has announced the program for many, many weeks.

"Brave girls," he muttered, as a tear watered his eye.

The "Twenty Fingers of Sweetness" were "Twenty Fingers of Sadness" last night, but no one outside the studio could detect it. Adah's husband lay dead in a New Kensington undertaking establishment.

$220,000 RUM CARGO SEIZED

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP).—Loaded to the gunwhales with first rate liquor and malt valued at $220,000, the trim Canadian rum dory Nora V. was brought into the harbor by the Coast Guard boat Cardigan after her capture within the 12-mile limit off Shinnecock, Long Island.

Capt. William Kaulbach and his crew of nine were under arrest.

The Nova V., valued at $50,000 and capable of doing 22 knots, was overhauled by the patrol boat after a chase of half a mile during which one round of shot was fired.

PITTSBURGHERS ON BERENGARIA

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—E. S. Kuhn and O. H. Werner, of Pittsburgh, left for a late summer vacation in Europe on the Berengaria. They will disembark at Southampton and after a few days in England will visit France and Germany, returning to the States the end of September.

The Rev. Francis Karsov, also of Pittsburgh, was on the passenger list.

The Berengaria also took out the Hon. John Francis Amherst Cecil, formerly first secretary of the British Embassy at Washington, and Mrs. Cecil, who was formerly Miss Cornelia Vanderbilt; Sir Frank and Lady Merriman, and R. M. Montgomery, who have been visiting bar associations in the United States and Canada.

PROHIBIT DANCE FOR PERCHERS

A permit to give a street dance in honor of her sons, Robert, James and Lawrence Gravely, and their cousin, Sam King, Brushton tree sitters, was refused Mrs. Mary Gravely by the Bureau of Highways and Sewers. The bureau based its refusal on the grounds that no permits are issued for private or individual affairs.

The boys have been perched in a tree in the Gravely back yard, in Sickles street, 44 days. Mrs. Gravely said she wished to give proceeds of the dance to the youthful sitters as a reward for their patience.

Two Badly Injured In Auto Collision

OIL CITY, Pa., Aug. 28.—Eva Gifford, 18, Oil City, and Harry Seaton were injured, the former probably fatally, in an automobile accident at Stanley's Corners late yesterday. Miss Gifford was pinned under the car when Seaton, police reported, crashed head-on into another automobile.

A four-month-old baby in the other car suffered bruises, being thrown clear of the wreck.

CANADIAN VACATION

A New World... at your Door!

THE glamour of a romantic past still lives in old French Canada. Much of the architecture of the Richelieu period remains today, not as picturesque ruins but in houses and buildings still in actual use. Little villages, clustered around tall church spires, dream in the sun beneath the slopes of the Laurentian mountains.

The Saguenay river was once believed to be the water route to China. Early voyageurs paddled up its black waters awe-inspiring beneath the towering grandeur of rocky capes. Their subsequent laughter gave rise to the christening of Ha Ha Bay. As you relax on the wide decks of our luxurious steamers, scenes of almost unbelievable beauty and grandeur pass slowly beyond the rail.

Please write at once for illustrated folder, which describes in detail the pleasures of this wonderful vacation cruise.

VERY IMPORTANT

CANADA STEAMSHIP LINES operate from the head of Lake Superior, via the St. Lawrence River, to the Saguenay. Their cruises include the seven day trip from Detroit to Duluth and return; Niagara to the Saguenay, including the Thousand Islands and shooting the rapids; excursions from Toronto, the Queen City, to Niagara, the Thousand Islands and Rochester. They operate a fleet of 16 steamers, freight and passenger, and are the largest fresh water transportation company in the world. The famous Saguenay trip includes visits to Montreal, metropolis of Canada; Quebec, the historic walled city; Murray Bay, "Newport of the North," and Tadousac, Canada's oldest settlement. The Saguenay Canyon is one of nature's masterpieces.

Our steamers may be boarded at Lewiston, Rochester, Detroit or Detroit in the U.S.A., or Sarnia, Quebec, Toronto, Montreal or Quebec in Canada.

SOUTH LINKS MAY BE READY IN FALL

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

Jakie Klein, the sportsman, is no taller than a tall Singer midget, but his heart is as big as Syria Mosque. Says Jakie the philanthropist:

"If the day ever dawns when good old Jake Klein reaches the income-tax class, my first move will be to build a home for working girls, those little girls who come to the city and work eight hard hours each day and do not have the comforts of home. Maybe we'll call it the Klein Home for Working Girls."

We are privileged to present Police Inspector Charles Faulkner's attitude on golf, Mr. Faulkner speaking:

"I wouldn't play golf. I've seen too many businesses ruined by golf. A business man takes up the darned game and first thing we know he's playing golf eight hours a day and working two. No, sir, no golf for me."

Speaking of Inspector Faulkner, Prof. "Red" Schoenberg, who drives a terrific left-handed slice, tells the story of Cohen and McTavish counting their scores after the first hole:

McTavish—What did ye take on that hole?

Cohen—Six.

McTavish—An' ye counted the lost ball?

Cohen—I should say no. I found it.

McTavish—And how could ye find it when it's in me own back pocket?

True story: A young married woman who lived in a Pittsburgh suburb was surprised to receive, from a gentleman admirer, a fur coat. But she did not know how to explain the gift to her husband, so she pawned the coat, took the pawn ticket home and told her husband she had found it. She suggested hubby redeem the ticket just for curiosity's sake. Hubby did; and he brought her home an umbrella. It wasn't many days later that wife saw the coat on a young woman who, she had thought, was merely an acquaintance of hubby's.

Remembering the success of our crusade against the vagueness of the Pennsylvania Railroad clock, George Mandel writes to complain of another clock. (The conservative Mr. Mandel describes us as a hard-working, conscientious standard-bearer, working for the betterment of the common people.) Mr. Mandel complains of the clock atop the Terminal Building on the South Side. At night he is an enthusiastic admirer of this great illuminated timepiece, but in the daytime he turns against it and becomes its great enemy. Mr. Mandel can't tell time by the Terminal clock in the daytime, for some reason or other. Well, Mr. Mandel has come to the right place to complain. Our relations with the Terminal Building have always been harmonious, but we are not the one to pass up this opportunity to enhance our reputation as the anti-clocker. If we were not busy at the moment, we would immediately declare war.

TAHOE TAVERN, Cal., Aug. 28.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

When Lon Chaney passed away the whole amusement world lost a great asset, and our profession lost its most outstanding character actor and a man that brought the movies much credit. His art was understood the world over, regardless of titles or language, and to know him personally was a privilege. He was a fine fellow and would have been an honor to any profession.

Well, it looks like Mayor Rolph, of San Francisco, will be our next governor; so, thank goodness, we won't be reformed during this administration at least. Yours,

WILL.

GORE DENIES WEALTH DUE TO TARIFF

Enterprise of Nation Has Won Success, Declares Blind Ex-Senator Here

Thomas P. Gore, blind former senator from Oklahoma, in an interview here today, said America's prosperity was not the result of a high tariff wall erected by the Republican party, but was a living monument to the prowess of the American people.

Here to address the closing session of the Allegheny County Teachers' Institute at Memorial Hall, the former senator is busy between times in preparation for his campaign in Oklahoma. He received the Democratic nomination for United States Senator last week and said:

"My chances look wonderfully well at this time."

Interested deeply in educational problems, Gore contends that the nation's illiteracy problem is rapidly being disposed of by efficient teachers.

He will leave for Washington tonight and will return to his home at Lawton, Okla., next week.

Dr. Frank Baker, president of State Teachers College, Milwaukee, Wis., in an address yesterday, told the teachers that an entirely new type of school must be developed to meet the conditions of a new age. He declared that during the last 10 or 15 years the country has passed definitely from an agricultural to an industrial age and must develop schools to meet the complexities of the machine age.

Miss Lena M. Bixler, of Temple University, discussed the problem. Dr. S. C. Schmucker, of West Chester State College, West Chester, Pa., talked on nature study, and Dr. Voelker delivered an address on "Failure and Success as Educational Factors."

B. & O. INCOME DECREASES

A decrease of $1,529,868 in net operating income for July, 1930, as compared with the same period last year, is shown in the report of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad given out yesterday. The net operating income for the month was $3,649,079.

For the first seven months of this year the net operating income was $21,371,934, a decrease of $6,297,853 under the same period last year. Operating revenues for this period were $123,751,050, with operating expenses of $94,370,515.

Bon Voyage Dinner Given Businessmen

A bon voyage dinner was tendered B. Dangerfield, Jr., George Price and Lee Marshall, local business men, by their business associates Tuesday night in the University Club. The three will leave Pittsburgh tomorrow to sail to Antwerp. Dangerfield, president of the Reymer and Brothers Company, is a delegate of the National Confectioners' Association to the convention of the International Chocolate and Cocoa manufacturers in Antwerp next month. The three men were presented with wrist watches and passport cases by their friends.

Planes of Pennsylvania Airlines will operate on a seven-day schedule starting this week-end, Clifford Ball, general manager, has announced. Heretofore it has been customary to operate with no service on holidays, but from now on planes will operate every day.

Ball, also announced that air travel is made available for week-end excursions at new low fares. Tickets are on sale, good on Saturdays, Sundays or Mondays only of any week, at the rate of $16 to Cleveland and $30 to Washington for the round trip.

Cathie Unnoticed During First Day at Work

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Catherine Paige, elder daughter in a fatherless home, secures her first position in the office of Alfred A. Farnsworth, successful engineer. In the office she meets Gordon Moore, and is instantly attracted to him, and he to her. He easily persuades her to spend the rest of the day "celebrating" her securing a position with Farnsworth, and his securing a contract for an important engineering project. At the end of an innocent and delightful day of lunching and sightseeing with him, Cathie finds herself deposited at her door and nonchalantly bidden goodby. She manages to seem as nonchalent as Moore, and only when she is safely inside the house and inside her own room does she cry over her shattered romance. When Frank Prout, known to the family as her "boy friend" telephones asking to see her she says no.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IV.

Frank Prout sat on the Paige's front steps, and ate freely of Gordon Moore's chocolates. After the first two or three Cathie didn't really mind. There was no reason why Frank couldn't eat Mr. Moore's chocolates . . . why the family shouldn't paw them over, reaching down to the second layer for the mints and nougats. You can't save chocolates. They're nothing to keep to remember anybody by. And besides why try to remember a man like Gordon Moore? A lot he'd care.

"Have another," Cathie said urgently, pushing the box toward Frank, "Dig down below, the nougats are wonderful."

"I'd rather have a good old bag of molasses taffy," the guest said thoughtfully, but he dug down for a chewey chocolate and bit into it with critical interest.

He had turned up after all. "Thought you might be sick or something. Never heard of you being too tired for a little fun!"

So they had all sat out on the stairs together, in the warm April dusk, while Cathie told the story of the job and Gordon Moore all over again, for Frank's benefit.

Ma had not liked it too well. Even Eddie, coming in just in time to hear the last of it, had volunteered a little brotherly advice. "All right, but don't do it again. I don't want my sister going riding with any pick-up, do you get me?"

"But this was different. It was the most natural thing in the world, and he was just being kind—I'm less than nothing to him. We wouldn't even know each other if we met again!" Cathie argued brightly.

"I know. Jeese, it's tough on you, Cath."

Silence. Cathie waited. She could feel the goose-flesh on her bare arms, and her heart beating crazily against her side. It wasn't that she really wanted him to say anything. She couldn't marry any one for years and years, and besides she wouldn't want to marry Frank Prout anyway. Frank was all right, only he . . . oh, well . . . she didn't want to marry Frank Prout, that was all. Still, he did start to say something . . . funny that he stopped . . .

Frank Uneasy

Tells Her to Beware Of Office Men

"Well, I guess I'd better be getting along. Have to be on the job early tomorrow."

"Good night then."

Another silence broken only by the sound of the Haight street car stopping at the corner, and ma, raising the front bedroom window, inside.

"Aren't you going in? You ought to be in bed early yourself, Cath."

"I know. I'm going in a minute . . ."

He leaned over and kissed her and she put up her hands and clung to him, with a little cry, half forgetting that it was Frank who was kissing her . . . Frankie Prout, who had lived around the corner all his life . . . Frankie, who wore $19 suits,

Happy Again

Cathie Teases Family About Experience

She had gotten all over her depression of an hour ago. Her cheeks were pink again, her clear blue eyes bright and shining. She laughed joyously as she coaxed and explained, and teased the family out of their first horrified surprise at their Cathie, taking chocolates and luncheon besides, from a perfect stranger.

"Sometimes I don't know what to make of you," Ruth had said coldly, going inside to bed.

Sometimes Cathie didn't know what to make of herself. Down in the dumps one minute. Up in the skies the next. Telling Frank not to come, and being glad when he did . . .

"Have another chocolate," she urged hospitably.

Excited

Boy Friend Cuts His Conversation Short

"No, thanks." Frank saw that the coast was clear at last. This was a break. Sometimes the family hung around all evening, and wouldn't give him a chance. He moved a little closer, and slipped an arm around Cathie's slim waist. "Listen, hon. I'm not so sure I'm going to like this office stuff for you."

Cathie felt herself stiffening Frank's voice sounded as if . . . as if . . . well, the way a fellow's voice might sound if he were going to speak about . . . something important . . .

"Why not? Why don't you like it?"

The boy's arm tightened. His face was quite close to here now. "Can't you guess?"

"No . . . I went to business school, didn't I?"

"Sure. Oh, I know you have to have a job, for a while, hon—"

"For a while! Frank Prout, with me next to the oldest and—"

WAR MOTHERS ON WAY HOME

Nearly 40 gold star mothers and widows from Pittsburgh and Allegheny County today were en route here from New York on the return lap of their tour to graves of hero sons and husbands in France.

The party, known as Tour N, arrived at Hoboken, N. J., on the President Harding, having left Cherbourg, France, early last week.

On the ship was the body of Mrs. Harriet Bates, of Portage, Pa., near Johnstown, who died at Verdun shortly after her arrival on French soil. The body was accompanied home by a military aide.

The party now in New York is the second from this section to have completed the pilgrimage as guests of the War Department. Members of the first contingent arrived home last Saturday.

A third group, which sailed early this month, will return within the next 10 days, according to the United States Steamship Lines. Most mothers in Tour N had sons in the Eightieth, "Blue Ridge," and Twenty-eighth, "Keystone" divisions.

Mrs. Anna Schmitt, Gold Star Mother, who became ill in Paris, will return to Pittsburgh Monday morning, according to word received by her daughter, Mrs. Anna F. Lavelle, of 4912 Sciota street, last night. She was taken to a hospital in Paris shortly after her arrival there.

Asks Police to Find Stolen Tropical Fish

McKeesport police have been notified by Ralph C. Walter, of Ross street, Boston, that six tropical fish were stolen from an aquarium within the last two days. Walter stated the fish were of a rare species.

CITY'S TRAFFIC GROWTH CITED

An increase of 11 per cent a year has been seen in street traffic entering the downtown section, Lewis W. McIntyre, city traffic engineer, said in an address before the Pittsburgh Rotary Club yesterday. Such an increase, he said, necessitates greater efforts on the part of the city and the Better Traffic Committee to cope with the traffic problem.

The program was devoted to traffic problems, and was in charge of Frank L. Duggan, chairman of the Better Traffic Committee. Duggan and Walter Rosenbaum, chairman of the committee's educational section, also spoke.

SIX MEN, LIQUOR SEIZED IN RAIDS

Large seizures of home brew and moonshine were made by prohibition agents who arrested six men in a half dozen raids yesterday.

Twenty-four cases of home brew were found, agents said, in the Nonpareil Athletic Club, Sixth avenue, Beaver Falls, where Harry Johnston, 54, alleged steward, was arrested. The beer was destroyed.

At 213 Grant street, moonshine and 96 pints of home brew were seized and George Frusze, 46, arrested, agents reported. Sam Kris, 51, and Edward Davis, 56, were arrested, it was said, at 1109 East Carson street, where two quarts of whisky were confiscated.

Other raids and arrests reported were at 2223 Webster avenue, Sam Wax, 30; at 224 Erin street, C. J. Constantin, 50, and at 1811 Carson street, a saloon, no arrests.

Picnics of Printers, Bellevernon Today

The annual outing of Belle Vernon, sponsored by the volunteer fire department of that place, was to be held at Kennywood today. Burgess Lange has declared a holiday and there will be a long list of activities under a committee headed by Carlysle Beatty, general chairman.

The outing of the Union Printers, now meeting here, was also scheduled for Kennywood today. An automobile will be given away during the Mardi Gras celebration tonight.

VICTIM IN FIGHT BADLY HURT

The condition of John Voight, 47, first mate of the towboat Steel City, who was struck on the head early yesterday in a fight over a woman on the houseboat near Galveston avenue, was still regarded as serious at the Allegheny General Hospital.

The victim and John Ward, 48, an occupant of the houseboat, were said to have become involved in an argument over Bertha Merriman, 42, of 732 East Lacock street. In a fight that followed, Ward was alleged to have struck Voight with a hatchet. Staggering to the river bank, Voight, suffering from a probable skull fracture, was found by pedestrians.

Ward was being held pending the outcome of Voight's injuries. The Merriman woman and two other men were discharged at a hearing in the North Side Police Court yesterday.

AGAIN REFUSES DOG BITE AID

Still steadfastly refusing Pasteur treatment for a mad dog bite inflicted last Saturday, Mike Busko, 45, of 3428 East Carson street, today said he felt as good as ever.

At the South Side Hospital, Busko appeared again today for treatment for a laceration inflicted by the dog, but said he had no intention of submitting to the Pasteur antidote.

When Humane Society officials killed Busko's dog after both Busko and a neighbor boy were bitten, an examination disclosed the animal was suffering from rabies, they said.

Busko went to the West Penn Hospital for Pasteur treatment, but when on the operating table rebelled and left the hospital.

Physicians say persons suffering bites from a mad dog may contract rabies up to 100 days after the wound is received.

COUNTY PARK PLAY SOON POSSIBLE

Chance of Golfers Using Course This Year Depends On Weather, Riis Asserts

The South Park golf course may be available for play this fall, dependent upon the weather, Paul B. Riis, director of county parks, said yesterday.

The 18-hole course in South Park was finished in 1929 and cost $60,519, Riis said. It was not available for play this year, due to weather conditions. After a winter that was not seasonable, the unprecedented drought prevented the growth of grass on the fairways. There is a possibility that the course may be in playing shape this fall, however, Riis believes.

CITES MONEY SAVING

The course in North Park will be finished about October 1, Riis said. To date it has cost $62,213.42, of which $5,000 will be charged off for equipment. It will not be available for play until next year, he said.

Construction of the courses has been much cheaper with the county doing its own work than it would have been if the job had been done by contract, Riis said. A contractor's bid on the work was $80,000 for each course.

COST $1,062,739

The two parks, exclusive of the cost of the land on which they are located, have cost the county $1,062,739.06 since work under Riis' direction started on them in 1928, according to figures secured from County Controller Robert O. Woodside's office yesterday. Total expenditures in 1928 were $244,948.11; in 1929 $434,928.10 and up to date in 1930, $382,862.85.

CAMPAIGN FUND ALL FOR POOR

Volunteer workers engaged in the Salvation Army's annual home service fund campaign will not hold campaign dinners this fall.

This decision was made by Lieut. Col. Charles B. Campbell, head of the organization here, as the Army began formulating plans for its appeal for financial support. The decision was given the indorsement of the Army's lay advisory board, Judge Joseph Buffington, president. In the past the campaign was launched with a dinner for the thousand or more workers, it being paid for out of a special fund.

"Demands for relief are heavy," Colonel Campbell said, "and with conditions such as they are it would ill become us to go to the expense of a campaign dinner. While we will miss the enthusiastic gathering which always featured these dinners, we are certain our friends will be better satisfied in knowing that we are putting that money into relief work. The need for funds is urgent."

Fire Destroys 3 Buildings on Farm

A barn and two small sheds on the farm of A. J. Braun, Kittanning pike, were destroyed by fire last night. The loss was estimated at $5,000 by Braun. Members of the Pleasant Valley Volunteer Fire Department answered an alarm and prevented the flames from spreading to the Braun home. Livestock in the barn was saved. The firemen also extinguished a small brush fire which started on adjoining property.

Dress Afire, Child Saved By Mother and Sister

While Mrs. Frank Spitzer, of 409 Holland avenue, Braddock, rolled her daughter, Theresa, 8, on the ground to extinguish her flaming clothing, late yesterday, the victim's sister, Joan, 13, pushed the mother aside, grabbed the screaming child in her arms and carried her across the street to the Braddock General Hospital.

The children were playing in the Spitzer back yard when the girl's clothing ignited from a bonfire. She attempted to draw the burning garment over her head, and was in this position when her mother reached her side. In beating out the flames Mrs. Spitzer suffered burns on the left hand.

The child is the daughter of Deputy Coroner Frank Spitzer.

BOARD FINDS ERRORS IN FOURTH WARD VOTE TABULATION

RECOUNT GROUP GETS PENCIL CLUES

51 Second District Ballots Believed to Have Been Marked With Same Hand

Discrepancies in the count, markings by apparently the same pencil, and other irregularities are detailed in a report of the recount board filed in Common Pleas Court, regarding its findings in the recount of votes in the Second, Third and Sixth districts of the Fourth Ward.

The board says 51 ballots were segregated in the Second District because of a similarity of cross-marks. Fifteen ballots show that an indelible pencil was used, while the marks on 36 others were in black lead pencil. It is averred the markings were apparently made by the same hand.

Seven ballots were segregated because the writing of the name "Charles Leonard" showed a similarity. Mary Boyle was given 217 votes for ward executive committeewoman as against 231 returned by the board. Brown for governor was given 7 Pinchot 261 and Phillips 10 by the recount board. The number returned by the election board was Brown 4 Pinchot 261 and Phillips 7.

In the Third District there were two cross marks for Joseph R. Grundy which appeared to be different from other cross marks. The report says the recount in the district was close to the returns of the election board.

In the Sixth District the recount board reports that election board's count varied. The former voided 12 Republican ballots because of erasures. The recount board also segregated 15 Republican ballots which had marks in ink on their backs. Fifty-four ballots showed cross marks by two different persons and four showed phantom cross marks.

SPEED BETTIS IMPROVEMENT

Following closely an announcement that the Transcontinental Air Transport would use Bettis Field as its local air depot officials of the Curtis-Wright Flying Service yesterday announced a program of improvement would start at the field immediately. The TAT is to use the local field in hops between Columbus and New York.

The improvements will include an additional five miles of runways and a new hangar. A contract was signed for the new runways yesterday according to H. R. Bazley, general manager of the field. There will be a composition of tar or "tarmac," and slag, developed at the field by the American Tar Products Company.

A dozen different companies are now using the Bettis port as a Pittsburgh terminal. Clifford Ball, president and general manager of the Pennsylvania Airlines, which uses the field, yesterday said his company would inaugurate airplane excursions. Week-end trips will begin Saturday. A flight can be made to Cleveland for $18 or to Washington for $30.

BORROWS TAGS TO KEEP JOB

A special delivery messenger for the postoffice and his four companions, arrested in the Carrick district early today in an auto which bore license plates not issued to it, were discharged in Morals Court.

The messenger, Joseph Isaacs, 18, of 1528 Rockland avenue, told Magistrate J. J. O'Connor that his father had purchased the car for him because messengers who did not have autos by September 1 would lose their jobs.

Having no money with which to buy plates, Isaacs testified, he borrowed them from Joseph Walsh, of Bluff street. Isaacs said Walsh was not a son of Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh.

Others arrested were Jacob Scheible, 21, of 1006 Seitz street; Frank Marks, 18, of 1322 Fifth avenue; Charles Carroll, 20, of 4226 Stanley avenue, and Morris Reba, 21, of 1019 Vickeroy street.

Camera Question Box

Today's question—Welfare workers say they note an increasing attitude of tolerance and sympathy on the part of women toward downfallen members of their sex. Will this condolence instead of condemnation of "Scarlet Letter" days have a tendency to raise or lower women's moral standard?

James Stoneman

J. STONEMAN, student, Oakland — I think it will raise them. Sympathy goes a longer way toward righting wrongs than any amount of criticism or condemnation ever does.

Walter Volkwein

WALTER VOLKWEIN, North Side—More can be gained by sympathy than by rigid severity. Every one makes mistakes and people are much better after those mistakes if they are treated kindly.

Mrs. Gangstad

MRS. O. W. GANGSTAD, housewife, Schenley Heights—There isn't a reason in the world why moral standards shouldn't be raised by such treatment. People who have done wrong always respond to kindness if there is any sense of decency in them at all.

Miss Brenlove

MISS ANNE BRENLOVE, typist, South Side—It ought to raise moral standards, I think. Harsh treatment is never very effective because of the antagonistic feeling it causes.

Wilson Walker

WILSON WALKER, salesman, North Side — Sympathy and generosity does more good at any time than does criticism or prim severity. And the person who has done wrong will appreciate that attitude of condolence.

William Leist

WILLIAM LEIST, salesman, Mt. Oliver—The moral standards of women would be raised, I think, if they were treated in a kind manner and not condemned with the usual harshness and severity.

RACES FEATURE COUNTY FAIR

BY CHARLES A. EARLEY,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 28.—A half holiday was declared here today by store and shop keepers to permit help to attend the "Big Thursday" of the Washington County Fair, now in its third day of a five-day run at Arden Downs.

With weather clear and track fast, horse racing on the half mile oval promised to be the big feature of the trotting and pacing session. Live stock, poultry, farm machinery and agricultural products are bigger and better than ever before, fair officials say.

In some departments, entry lists are much greater than in any past exhibit sponsored by the association.

A night show to entertain those more modern persons for whom livestock and farm products displays hold no especial lure will climax today's activities, followed by a mammouth display of fireworks.

Most of the main exhibition hall has been taken over by the Community Builders and associated merchants—an organization, according to President Ernest Sackville, which has as its purpose furthering the interests of independent businessmen.

Tomorrow and Saturday automobile racing under auspices of the American Automobile Association will be the big bid for patronage, as attempts to break existing dirt track records get under way.

In the previous annual exhibitions sponsored by the fair association the regular run was four days. Added interest, larger stock displays and more detailed duties of judging decided officials to continue the fair until Saturday.

THREE ORDERED FROM CITY

Five men arrested in the clean-up of undesirables ordered by Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh, were arraigned before Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court today.

Harry Willis, 28, of 1428 Boyle street, and Ted Jones, 30, of 1500 Center avenue, both Negroes, were fined $50 each when detectives described them as "numbers writers" and gamblers.

Robert Snyder, 34, of Chicago, who had been held in jail for five days, investigation after detectives found numerous master keys in his possession, was ordered to leave town.

Edward Martin, 38, and John Gar, 42, both of Detroit, arrested last night when they arrived here, also were ordered out of town after detectives produced base ball pool tickets, and other lottery tickets the men were said to have had in their pockets.

Washington Sho s Act to Halt Strike

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2[illegible] (AP.)—In an effort to avert [illegible] closing of the larger Washingto[illegible] moving picture theaters next [illegible]day—threatened by a deadloc[illegible] in contract negotiations with union employes—the scene of conferences between owners and musicians was transferred today to New York.

Failure to reach an agreement on new contracts for the musicians, which are to go into effect September 1, brought threats of a walkout by stage hands and projection operators in the principal houses still retaining orchestras. An eight-day truce offered by the managers was refused last night.

Pilot and Passenger Lost, Reported Safe

JUNEAU, Alaska, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Reports Capt. E. J. A. Burke, Canadian aviator missing for more than a week, had been found alive and uninjured with his passenger, an unidentified miner, near Atlin, B. C., reached here last night.

Wright said the boys had the auto of Capt. William Thornsley of the Volunteers of America, and that they were taking a tire from it. The boys told him, Wright said, that they had a flat tire and were replacing it with one from the captain's machine. They denied taking the car.

Passenger in Accident Near Franklin Reported to Be In Serious Condition

Three Allegheny County persons met death in automobile accidents at Greensburg and Franklin, according to reports received here today. The victims are Mrs. Marie Sees, 38, of 1032 Chelton avenue, Brookline; Raymond Halpin, 38, of 460 Treco avenue, Bellevue, and Miss Katherine Hunter, 38.

Mrs. Sees died in the Westmoreland Hospital at Greensburg a short time after the car in which she and her husband was riding collided with another near Youngwood. The husband, Frank, suffered fractures of several ribs.

CLERK FATALLY HURT

Halpin, a brokerage clerk, was fatally injured and four others were hurt when an automobile driven by Halpin was sideswiped by a bus. Halpin's car went over a steep embankment in a wood on the Pittsburgh road near Franklin. The party was enroute to a picnic at Clintonville.

Miss Hunter, riding with Halpin, suffered a crushed chest and broken shoulder bones. She died in Franklin Hospital this morning.

Her sister, Margaret, 42, Mrs. Raymond D. Rowe and A. Edward Bell, riding with Halpin, were injured. Mrs. Rowe is in a critical condition in the Franklin Hospital with a fractured skull.

CRASH VICTIM DIES

A fractured skull suffered last week when an automobile in which he was riding was hit by a truck in East Pittsburgh, caused the death today of Stanley Topley, 20, of 915 Cherry way, in the Braddock General Hospital. Samuel Lee of 279 Braddock avenue, driver of the automobile, and Horace Wood, of Anderson, Pa., driver of the truck, will post bond pending an inquest.

Joseph Concentine, a contractor of 535 East Main street, Carnegie, was cut and bruised this morning when his automobile struck the safety platform in West Carson street at the foot of the Duquesne Heights incline. He was treated at the South Side Hospital.

ASK STATE ACT IN TOWING EVIL

State legislation to overcome the towing evil with its petty thefts was the solution sought today by the Pittsburgh Motor Club.

While towing of illegally parked automobiles draws no objection from the organization, C. H. Roth, secretary, declared the concession as now operated by the city has caused several hundred complaints from members who were victims of alleged thefts. The organization stands ready to provide legal aid for members willing to prosecute such offenses, but, Roth pointed out, "fear of political retaliation usually halts such action."

Among several plans for legislation to overcome the evil, towing, under supervision of the club has been suggested. Describing this plan, the club executive said:

"Cleveland has such an arrangement with its local club. The towing, under its supervision, is done at a minimum cost by reputable garages. Our club has 125 garages caring for members' towing needs and their services for city towing would eliminate looting of cars. Any other action than legislation against the present trouble would be hopeless."

ROB COUPLES, THEN TAKE CAR

South Side police and county detectives today were searching for the two young men who had staged two holdups and stolen an automobile on the Glass Run road this morning.

Joseph Banmale, of 15 Cliff street, had his car parked at Thirty-second and Carson streets when the robbers approached. Brandishing revolvers, they forced Banmale to drive to the Glass Run road, where they robbed him of $6. After crippling the motor they disappeared in the darkness.

A short time later the robbers came upon Oscar Jamison, of 104 West Ninth avenue, Homestead, and Charles Thomas, of 914 West Ninth avenue, Homestead, who were seated in their automobile with two young women. The thugs forced both couples to leave the machine. Jamison was robbed of $10, Thomas of $5. The holdup men then took Jamison's car.

The highwaymen who slugged Michael Bogdan, of 929 Marlin avenue, Duquesne, as he was walking in Hobart street, near Murray avenue, this morning, obtained nothing. Although stunned, Bogdan fought when they tried to search him and they fled when his cries attracted other pedestrians.

BOARDS TO LIST VOTERS NAMED

Registrars have been appointed in all city wards except the Thirtieth, to register voters September 4 and 16 and October 4 for the general election in November.

The Registration Commission probably will announce the appointment of Thirtieth Ward registrars Friday.

The law requires that the registration board in each election district shall be composed of two Republicans and two Democrats. The commission has appointed the applicants recommended by the party chairmen in all wards except the Third, Fifth and Thirtieth, in which the Republican chairmanship is claimed by two men.

In the Third Ward, the commission divided the appointments equally between Alderman John J. Verona, allied with County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, and Joseph Engelsberg, Mayor Kline's leader; in the Fifth, between former President of Council James F. Malone and Harry Feldman, Kline's leader.

The commission is still considering the lists submitted by John Donley and Lon Mackintosh, claimants for the Republican chairmanship of the Thirtieth.

Democratic registrars were appointed on the recommendation of Charles J. McCall, in the Third Ward; M. B. Donnelly, political ally of Malone, in the Fifth; and M. A. Flaherty, in the Thirtieth.

GROUP TO VIEW NEW ROAD

A motor inspection trip over the completed Perry highway was to be made today by members of the highway and bridges committee of the Chamber of Commerce, headed by Henry Tranter, chairman.

The party was to leave Penn avenue and Stanwix street at 1 p. m., the guests of Fred C. Schatz, assistant manager of the Joseph Horne Company. They were to travel through Zelienople and Harlansburg to Mercer, returning to Horne's camp on the Lowry Run road, where they will be guests at dinner.

A saving of 15 miles between Pittsburgh and Erie is made possible by the opening of the new highway, officials of the Pittsburgh Motor Club said today.

The new route to Erie follows Highway 19 to Mercer, Route 58 from Mercer to Greenville, Route 18 from Greenville to Conneaut Lake, Route 322 to Meadville, and on 19 again to Erie.

ON THEIR WAY TO PITTSBURGH FIELD CLUB SWIMMING POOL, POPULAR IN LATE SUMMER

B. P. W. Seek Stories of Success

Believing that the records may ultimately have historical value, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs has inaugurated a nation-wide contest for the best stories of women's achievements in business and the professions. Word of the contest, which is being held in cooperation with the Exposition of Women's Arts and Industries, has been sent to the 1,200 clubs comprising the Federation, which has a membership of 60,000 women.

According to Miss Emily Kimbrough, executive secretary of the Federation, the purpose of the contest is to add to the large fund of material on the progress of women in the business world already assembled by the Federation.

For the best story submitted a prize of $25 will be given. Records of odd or unusual occupations followed by women, stories of women who have built up businesses for themselves, who have attained high executive positions against odds or who have scored distinctive success in a field unfamiliar to women, these are the types of material asked for.

A group of prominent New York women who are vice chairmen of the exposition, Mrs. Oliver Harriman is chairman, have been asked to serve as judges of the contest. They are Mrs. Sidney Borg, Miss Mary E. Dillon, Mrs. Walter S. Comly, Mrs. William H. Good, Mrs. B. Hunting Howell, Mrs. Whitney McKim, Mrs. Charles H. Sabin and Mrs. Nettie R. Shuler. The judging will be half on the merits of the articles and half on the brilliance of the achievements they record.

The contest is open to any woman in America, whether member or non-member of the Federation, and manuscripts must reach the offices of the Federation, 1819 Broadway, New York City, prior to midnight of September 30.

BLACK ATTAINS UNPRECEDENTED STYLE VALUE IN AUTUMN MODE

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Aug. 28.—Black is listed as a sure buy in the fashion market this season and many of our smartest women are taking heavy stock in it to assure their sartorial success. Despite the fluctuating value of sundry colors upon the sundry shades upon the color chart, black does not waver a point in unrivalled popularity, season in and season out. But this year, it seems that it has achieved an unprecedented value in the minds of couturiers and clients alike. Collections are dominated by black and women are wearing it both by day and by night.

THE WOMAN who would like to wear black yet feels that it does not become her is granted favor now by the relief offered in touches of white or flesh near the face. Flattering collars and cuffs enliven the daytime dress while scintillating bits of strass or delicate yokes of flesh chiffon distinguish black evening gowns.

BUT IF ONE'S coloring permits it would be difficult for us to recommend anything more indicative of current chic than an all black coat for daytime wear. One that would be especially lovely for afternoon functions is this creation of Doeuillet Doucet. It is of black marocain, intricately cut and lavishly trimmed with breitschwantz.

ALTHOUGH THE black velvet gown for afternoon or formal evening functions is ubiquitous in all collections, we are seeing a good many chiffon models and hearing considerable discussion about triple georgette just now. Both as a tribute to the consummate grace of the new evening silhouette which subtly reveals the contours of the figure and with fluid ease attains fullness at the even-ankle length hemline, we are showing this gown from Martial et Armand. It is of black chiffon with a simple but unusually interesting bit of decoration

The sum, he said, included an unwarranted week salary cut from $450 to $350 from the time he was brought back from England until he left the company here last September.

Alphonse Objects When Adams Intrudes

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

In the morning, with Greta and Alphonse, Raquel walked ashore as casually as though she were crossing a bridge from one building to another.

A little quiver of excitement ran through her, though, when her feet touched solid earth. She stood on alien soil. She was in France. What did this strange land hold for her? The fulfillment of her ambitions, her desires? Beauty in forms she had not yet experienced. It seemed impossible that beauty could have even more facets than those she had already seen.

[illegible] her admirers. All of these a tract them as she had attracted her own. Alphonse had promised her an [illegible]. But Alphonse saw her through the eyes of [illegible] willing to admire. Not [illegible].

Well, at any rate she would soon know.

What last night [illegible] had taken to be small [illegible] of booths turned out to be perfumable bars. Behind them stood ruddy, [illegible] French women, the rouge [illegible] their avaricious eyes [illegible] the crowds for prospective customers.

They were clever, these French women. In a small space they managed to squeeze dozens of tall-shaped bottles with fascinating labels.

Creme de Menthe—like the green of freshly cut grass in the park that [illegible] had chosen her to the night she arrived in New York.

Amourette—like desert sunshine.

Jars of pink syrupy liquid with no name.

Thick sandwiches made of hunks of bread thinly shaped with a paste of meat. And delicious-looking cakes.

People clustered around the small tables on wheels rallying on another drinking thirstily.

"I'd like to taste some of that pink stuff in the jars," she told Alphonse.

Greta Impatient

"Non ma petite," he chided. "One must not trust these bargainers. They take advantage of the great American thirst. We shall find what we want on the train. I shall take you and Miss Greta to the compartment, then go to see about the car. I have arranged to send the chauffeur with it to Paris. We shall go by train. I know you are anxious to see the City of Beauty."

"Yes, let's get going," Greta said. "The simple life is getting on my nerves."

Greta called the hectic swirl through which they had passed those few days on shipboard "the simple life." And she had been out here on the pier, almost until dawn, making carnival. Before that she had dined and danced and caroused with her eternal "prospects." What did Greta call a swift, full life?

Their train compartment proved to be a small room with padded seats running along two sides, with knitted tidies on the backs, such as careful housewives made for their parlor chairs. One entered these rooms through doors at the side of the train. Raquel compared them to a carriage.

"There is room for six, even eight," she said to Greta, when Alphonse had seen that they were comfortably settled. "Are we to have company?"

"No, thank heavens," sighed Greta, stretching at length on one of the seats. "Alphonse wouldn't mix with the common herd at such close quarters. He's sure to have the whole compartment. Hand me my bag, will you, dearie? I've got to take a flock of pink pills. I've got a headache that's a wow. Alphonse was right. Those frog barmaids don't sell drinks. They peddle dynamite."

Beauty Marred

"The pink stuff looked delicious," said Raquel, regretfully. She felt that she had been deprived of an adventure. The adventure in this strange land.

Greta groaned. "Say, dearie," she said, "if I didn't know better, I'd think you were trying to kid me. Nice little girl at circus crying for pink lemonade. That dose you're raving about is raspberry syrup, home-made. It's got no more kick in it than a counterfeit bill. Lay off that stuff, dearie. It's bad for your complexion."

Raquel looked at Greta. Her skin was parched, yellowish. Tiny lines had etched themselves around her eyes. Her childish fairness, the pink and white velvet of her, was faded, brittle.

"I got you," Greta said, wearily. "I don't look a day over ninety. I've got to lay off. I saw Bertie Adams this morning. He looked fresh as the new-mown hay. That bimbo's sure got hollow legs."

[illegible] Why did Alphonse have a car waiting for us if he isn't going to use it?" she asked. She was disappointed at his decision to go to Paris by train. She would like to have ridden through the country to see what Flaire was really like.

"I wasn't waiting [illegible]," Greta explained. "He shipped it over on the ship. I don't know why. He's got a whole stable of them here in Paris. But that busy [illegible] with the funeral effect seems to be his pet."

Just at first Raquel thought Greta was joking. Bring a car all the way across the ocean in a ship?

Bertie Calls

Alphonse returned. The train pulled out from under the great shed. With a toot-toot of whistle that sounded like a toy horn, in the hands of a small boy. There were toy trains on toy rails alongside their own. Small boys and girls ran with unbelievable speed, close to the windows through which they screamed the only English word their Latin tongues had mastered—Penny.

Greta reached in her purse.

"No no," cried Raquel, stopping Greta's hand about to toss change through the window.

"Do not please, Greta. It is wrong to give them crumbs. They will be content with crumbs all their lives. Let them be very hungry, so they will learn to look for bread. And for cake."

"Well, I'll be—listen to her," Greta appealed to Alphonse. "Ain't she the cold little clam?"

"Perhaps," said Alphonse, himself somewhat taken aback by Raquel's intensity. "But there's wisdom in what she says."

The door at the side of the compartment facing on the narrow passage of the train opened. Bertie Adams inserted himself through the opening.

"Bung swa!" he greeted, burlesquing a low bow. "Couldn't we drum up a little life hereabouts? Mah jong—or button, button, who's got the button—or something?"

"I'm dying," moaned Greta, simulating a swoon. "After what you said was wine last night—" She stopped, glanced apprehensively toward Alphonse. Raquel followed her glance.

The face of the older man was forbidding. His small eyes glittered. He meant Adams to know his presence there was an intrusion.

Greta's Prediction

"A rubber of bridge," Bertie suggested, so that Alphonse might know he was included in the party. "Or a smack of poker."

His eyes invited Raquel.

"I must decline—for the ladies." Alphonse's suave politeness was like a blow in the face. "They desire to rest."

"Sorry, I'm sure," said Adams, flushing beneath his tan. "Later, perhaps." And left with what grace he could.

An oppressive silence followed his exit. In a few minutes, Alphonse excused himself. He would see about insuring a place at lunch.

"Phew!" Greta whistled when he was gone. "If that wasn't giving a guy the gate! What's eating Alphonse, anyway?" Then, after a moment: "Oh, I know. He thought Bertie was trying to snatch you away from him. Can you beat it?"

"I think he disapproves of Mr. Adams," Raquel offered.

"I'll say he does. He's sour on any man who comes within eying distance of you. I see where you're going to be as free as a bird in a gilded cage when we get to Paris."

"In that you are wrong," said Raquel, her white teeth gleaming maliciously. "I shall be entirely free. It is understood."

"Maybe."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, August 29

A day of substantial progress and achievement may be predicated upon the testimony of several excellent sidereal positions, and this despite some worries and vexatious circumstances. Old congestions may be dissipated, making way for steady growth in the direction of gratifying fruition of cherished aims. It is a time for pushing diligently toward these goals. Be careful of signing papers and be amiable in speech. Personal affairs are also pleasantly aspected.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of splendid fruition of industry and application, which will be rewarded with steady growth and assured financial success.

A child born on this day should be steady, industrious and ambitious and should eventually realize its ambitions after some vexations and annoyances.

A Man's Success Often Rests on His Wife's Faith in Him, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

Most girls would like to marry successful men, but find them hard to get.

They are inclined to envy the wives of such and wonder why they had so much better luck in marrying.

But the fact is, they didn't.

Most wives of successful men married them when they were poor and unknown.

They married a successful man by looking about them and believing in the boy that had ambition and prospects for success.

The ambitious boy of today is the successful man of tomorrow.

In the life story of nearly every successful man runs the parallel story of the girl who believed in him when no one else did. Married him and helped him to his goal.

Do not envy her, emulate her.

A Reassuring Message Comes From Savarin Home

[illegible] myself Lady Fair. Mr. Underwood said as we drew up to the gas station and he helped me down from the car. But I don't know the people and you do and it will be better all around.

He finished a bit lamely for a man who generally meets every emergency little and big with a suave self-confidence.

My mind emphatically echoed that lame conclusion, however, and I knew that Lillian also was endorsing it. This was one occasion where I could spare both of them an ordeal distasteful to Harry, painful to Lillian. I could make impersonal inquiries concerning the condition of Robert Savarin and send the message to his sister which I knew without her speaking that Lillian wished me to send.

I don't mind it a bit," I returned truthfully. "Indeed I'm glad to get down and stretch my muscles."

"What say we stroll around the Winter landscape [illegible] too, Mrs. Underwood?" Mary suggested, and Lillian agreed eagerly. As I entered the garage to ask for a telephone I saw her take Mary's arm and begin to walk swiftly up the road. I knew that she was finding in the action a bit of relief for her nerves tensed almost to the breaking point.

My own nerves were none too steady by the time I had struggled with the long-distance operator and triumphed to the extent of getting a call through to the Hasbroucks, the kindly efficient people, neighbors of the Cosgroves, who we hoped would give us lodging. But I forced my voice to calmness as Mrs. Hasbrouck's pleasant musical voice came over the telephone.

"This is Hasbroucks. Who is calling, please?"

"You probably do not remember me, Mrs. Hasbrouck," I said. "I am Mrs. Richard Graham, and I stayed at the Cosgrove home during several vacations. Mrs. Underwood was with me part of the time."

"Indeed I remember you very well, Mrs. Graham," she returned with a delicate implied flattery in her impressive courtesy which I remembered as one of her pleasing mannerisms. "What can I do for you this wintry night?"

"You can tell me first the condition of Mr. Savarin," I said, coming to the point directly.

"He is no worse tonight," she said promptly and gravely. "That is the best that one can say. Mrs. Cosgrove told me just a few minutes ago when I went over. But you know, I guess, that it is only a matter of a few weeks at the very longest, and it may be days or even hours."

"Yes, I know," I said, "although we only learned of his very serious condition this morning. Now I want to ask you two questions? Can you put Mrs. Underwood and myself, together with my niece, up for tonight, possibly a day longer?"

"For a day, a week, or a month," she rejoined promptly. "How many rooms and beds do you want?"

"If you could give us two rooms with two beds in each—any size," I said.

"I'll have them ready for you in half an hour," she promised, "and supper, too, I suppose."

"I'm afraid we won't be there for two or three hours," I said, naming the town from which I was telephoning.

"That doesn't matter," she answered. "I'll prepare something that I can keep hot, and have plenty of boiling water ready so that I can get you tea or coffee in a jiffy. What's your second question?"

"Could you go over to Mrs. Cosgrove's without Mr. Savarin hearing you and tell her that Mrs. Underwood and I will be there tonight?" I queried. "She must use her own judgment about telling him anything about it."

"I understand," Mrs. Hasbrouck said, and there was comprehension in her voice, which included not only her understanding of the letter of my message, but of the romantic history behind it. "And I'll go over right away. I can tell you this much. It's a message I'm mighty glad to deliver, and she'll be just as glad to get it."

"I'll wait to thank you until I get there," I said with emphasis, for her efficient kindliness had heartened me. "Good-bye."

"Good-bye." The receiver clicked and I girded myself for the task of finding out from the long-distance operator what my call had cost.

As I came out of the booth, I found Mr. Underwood standing near it watching both the booth and the outside door. He turned all of his vision on the door as I came up to him, and I realized that he wanted to hear my news before Lillian should come in.

"Well?" he said tensely, but without looking at me. "Is—he gone?"

"No." I returned and related what Mrs. Hasbrouck had told me.

"Thank God for that," he said. "Hurry out and tell Lil. She's not saying anything and trying to put up a front for me, but every minute until we get up there is a separate little hell for her."

Something in his voice made me look at him quickly furtively. I saw that his forehead was wet though the room was cold and I guessed that the fingers of the hand thrust into his pocket were clenched. Patently Lillian was not the only one to whom the minutes were separate flaming hells.

Household Hints

Borax will make clothes whiter than bluing.

A porcelain funnel should be in every kitchen as the action of some acids on tin is poisonous.

Sometimes all the unsatisfactory vacuum bottle needs is a new cork to make it airtight. Get one that fits exactly.

A new lease on life will be given faded, shabby stockings if dyed a darker shade with any good brand of dye all at the small cost of 10 cents.

It is nice to paste the picture of the dish on the reverse side of the recipe card whenever possible. Then you are not apt to forget the suggestions for garnishing.

The Marry-Go-Round

Tips on the Love Market

Many a tactful and diplomatic man has managed to make his married life a bed of roses, merely by tossing bouquets at his wife at judicious intervals.

The best after-dinner speaker, like the most satisfactory wife, is not the one who knows how to talk the most brilliantly, but the one who knows when to STOP talking.

After a few years of butterfly love-making, a woman-charmer probably feels that it would be as difficult for him to concentrate all his affections on one particular girl as it would be for him to set his heart on a pet ten-dollar bill.

When a girl wears skirts, in these days of pajamas, riding breeches and shorts, it looks almost as if she were going out of her way to work the "sex-appeal" stuff.

When a modern marriage fails, it is usually because an ideal playmate so often turns out to be a flop as a helpmate.

The man who pays his bills, keeps his chin shaved, comes home regularly to dinner and loves his own wife for six days of the week, doesn't have to spend much time alibi-ing himself to the Lord on the Sabbath.

It isn't always what you get out of marriage, but what you escape by going into it that counts. Marriage is the door, by which a woman escapes from boredom, spinsterhood or poverty, and by which a man escapes from himself—and a lot of other women.

* * *

When the flame of an old love has burned to ashes, it takes merely the slightest sephyr of a new heart-interest to blow out the last spark.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Correct Chaperonage

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please tell me if it is proper for a young lady to spend the week-end with her fiance at a cottage on a lake when accompanied by a man and his wife. This couple have a child eight years old. The trip to and from the cottage will be made by car in the daytime. Probably the child will accompany us. M. V.

Yes, with all this chaperonage, this would be correct.

Informal Party Indications

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When giving a party how should the invitations be written? (The party is to be given in the evening.) J.

It's a bit difficult, dear friend, to write an invitation to a party when I don't know what kind of party you are giving, but perhaps this will give you an idea of the form:

"Dear Grace:

"I should be so happy if you will come to a party at my house on Friday evening, the twentieth of August. It isn't to be a bit formal—just a gathering of nice friends like you. Please come in about 8 o'clock.

"Dearest wishes to you from us all.

"Affectionately yours,

"JANE."

Communicating With the Fiance's Parents

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am to be married soon, and as I have never met my fiance's parents I am undecided as to the proper manner of inviting them to the wedding. Should I write a personal letter, or would it be better for my mother to do that? L.

I hope that you will have an opportunity to know your fiance's parents before your wedding. Certainly there will be an opportunity to have an exchange of letters with them, and then you will, of course, write them all your plans for the wedding. If they do not write you—as they probably will, and I hope that they will—I suggest that you write them your plans. Then send them a formally engraved invitation, as you send the rest of your guests, if you are sending formal invitations. If not, your mother will, correctly, write them a note of invitation to the wedding.

Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

The Boss of the Commissary Department in the home must not belittle her job. It is important. To feed the family properly and to keep the members happy and looking well, she must learn about food values and balanced diets. The more fruit and vegetables she places on the table, the less often will she have to ring up old Mister Doc and add the duty of nurse to her daily chores.

Greying hair is terrible if you happen to think so. If it proves distressing, there is nothing to do but to seek recourse in the dye pot. A topknot that is of the pepper-and-salt persuasion is difficult to color because, naturally, the white hair comes out a bit lighter than the dark. The skilled expert can do a good job, but the amateur may run into difficulties. Every six weeks or so, there must be a retouching of the roots. When this treatment is given the dyed hair must not be smeared over.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

Women Can Be Plenty Cruel If They Set Out to Ruin A Man.

Remember Jock? Jock was the lad who had a Breach of Promise Racketeeress on his trail.

It wasn't a pretty story—far from it. But it was a story that's becoming all too common in our stick-'em-up century. They'd been chums. And he really meant to marry her. Only he was just starting his law career—but she was so sensible. Such a good sport. So, somehow, it seemed quite natural that they should go off on week-ends together. They were, neither of them, babies.

At first it was great! But then gradually she stopped being a good sport. Became a nagger—always trying to run the show—pulling tantrums if she couldn't. So Jock, disgusted, dropped out of the picture. And now she's threatening to expose him to his family and wreck his career with a breach of promise suit if he doesn't marry her.

So, in desperation, Jock sat down and asked us what we thought of ladies who got that way, and of courts which upheld 'em. We answered—plenty. And none of it favored the lady.

Did the other girls get mad? Did they brand Jock as a Crooel Betrayer of Youthful Innocence? We'll say they didn't. They rallied 'round with cheers. Here's a sample, from Flapper Anne.

"Dear Miss Martin:

"I guess you're right. The woman doesn't always pay! And women Racketeers are far worse than men, once they get going. Women can be plenty cruel when they set out to ruin some man, because they get sore at him.

"Jock's letter was very touching. Of course he shouldn't marry this scheming creature. She probably doesn't even want to marry him, anyway. She's probably looking for some 'easy money' and is trying to play Jock for a fool.

"She hasn't any hold over him. And if he just steps up and tells her a few things, he'll be better off. She certainly wouldn't collect a nickle, if I were on the jury! She's a disgrace to her sex. Does she want folks to think she was so dumb she didn't know what she was doing when she went on those trips? Or, when she had affairs with those others? Women like her make me tired!

"It's women like her who make life so hard for the rest of us, and I think our laws should be changed so as to make it impossible for them to pull such stunts. 'Breach of Promise' suits are just a 'protection' for morons anyway. And a graft for people with no real feelings. They ought to be thrown out of all decent courts.

"FLAPPER ANNE."

Some wham! I'm for it a million, So's Ruth.

"Dear Miss Martin:

"These women who try to cash in on the 'outraged virtue' racket are the lowest creatures on earth. You know as well as I do that, if a girl really is modest and proud, no money could compensate her and she would die rather than have people know her shame. And any woman who would accept cash knew what she was about all the time.

"This sort of thing has become a regular 'racket' as you say. There are lots of girls who make a regular practice of going off on week-ends with various men—and they are always looking out for someone who is soft enough to fall for their line. I wouldn't stand up for men against my own sex, but I sure think they need to go armed these days.

"As for this business woman of 26 who is now trying to get 'heart balm'—I like her nerve. She was as anxious to go on those week-ends as he was. And if she lost his love by her bad temper, that's just her bad luck! I never could see why it was such an awful thing for either a man or a woman to back out of an engagement, provided the other person didn't suit. And I certainly think it is awful for our courts to back women up in a graft like that.

"RUTH."

That's Ruth's opinion. And a couple of hundred other working women indorse it. But not all! Here's Edith—red-eyed for the plaintiff.

"Miss Martin:

"You should be ashamed of yourself for sympathizing with a man who is a self-confessed seducer of an innocent girl. Suppose she did consent to go on vacations with him—she only did so because she trusted him to behave like a gentleman. And if she lost her temper he probably brought it on himself by his own brutal acts.

"Everybody who knows human nature (which you don't) knows that women are much purer and better than men, and that they are always imposed on. A man who will refuse to marry a woman after he has ruined her reputation ought to be forced to do so or go to prison for life.

"As for you, I think it is perfectly disgusting the way you protect men. Even if women are wrong, you ought to stand by them. I'd like to tell you what I really think of you!

"EDITH HOLLIS."

Don't bother, lady. I already have a hunch. And it's mutual. So now that we know just where we stand, let's see how the world receives your defense of the Dear Girls.

How about you, Mary—or Matt?

Do you believe that We Gals are all filled with sweetness and light? And should Base Man get his, just on general principles? Or are male and female made from the same hunk of clay and equally responsible for their own cussedness? Let's hear.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Light Diet Is Advisable in Jaundice.

There are many disturbances which act like indigestion, and yet have no connection with the stomach. One of these is jaundice.

Jaundice is a yellow discoloration of the skin due to the deposit of bile pigment in the tissues. It is really only a symptom of some obstruction to the normal flow of bile.

When the bile cannot escape into the intestines in the usual way, it is absorbed by the blood. Then it becomes deposited in the various tissues. This condition, as I have said, is due to some obstruction, such as swelling of the mucous membrane lining the tubes which carry away the bile substance.

The swelling may come on after a chill or from eating some irritating or indigestible food. The obstruction may be due to gall stones, or even to pressure from some abdominal growth.

The yellow discoloration is the first symptom to attract notice. In severe cases this may become pronounced, causing a bronze or deep olive color. With it is disturbance of the digestion. The tongue is coated, the appetite fails and there is a feeling of nausea, aggravated especially by eating fats.

Of course, the first thing to do is to find the cause of the obstruction. X-ray examinations will determine whether gall stones are present.

In treating jaundice first consideration is given the diet. Fats, pastries, highly seasoned foods and sweets should be avoided. Buttermilk, vichy and lemonade may be given, as well as plenty of water.

The patient should be as quiet as possible. If the attack is at all severe he should be kept in bed. See that the intestinal tract is clear. Your doctor will prescribe the necessary medication when the source of the trouble has been determined.

For the itching which usually accompanies jaundice, hyposulphite of soda, three tablespoonfuls to a quart of water will be soothing when applied to the skin. It is worth while to remember this because the itching is likely to be intense.

SPORT COMMENT
by JAMES J. LONG

Graveno to Aid Tartan. • Coast Club's Big Sales.
Steffen Coming Monday. Rare Record of Lyons.
Class Decides in Golf. Brame's Illness Costly.

PLAID ALWAYS HAS STAR BALL TOTER

ALMOST EVERY SEASON since Wally Steffen started coaching at Carnegie Tech more than 16 years ago, and the Tartans began the long climb to the football prominence that is now theirs, the Schenley Park school has had an outstanding running halfback. Plaid gridiron fortunes have appeared to rise or fall with the presence or absence of some lad, usually a slightly built fellow, who could lug the pigskin around end behind those famous spread formations or skid his way through tackle.

John Graveno

Alan Weirman was one of the first to attract more than local attention. He was succeeded by Jimmy Robertson, who was up among the leading scorers of the country in his greatest year, and who scored the touchdown that brought the first victory over Pitt in 1923. Then came Max Bastian, and after him Bill Donohue, the Edgewood boy, who was one of the greatest of all Carnegie ball-carrying halfbacks, but who never received the credit to which he was entitled. Donohue was deep in that memorable business back in 1926 when the Plaid scored her first triumph over Notre Dame.

HOWARD (DUTCH) EYTH ran wild with the Skibo Plebes in 1927, and was hailed as perhaps the best of them all, but ran into a shoulder injury early in his sophomore year and from this he has never fully recovered. Now comes John Graveno, built almost exactly like those other midgets who have done big things for Carnegie. He is a Cleveland boy, a graduate of East High School there, weighs only 150 pounds, but is tough and wiry.

With speed to burn, dodging and feinting ability out of the ordinary, able to punt and pass with the best of them, Graveno played a big part last fall in the Carnegie Plebes' fine season. He has declared himself in on the big fight for the running halfback post this year. He has the rejuvenated Eyth and the hard-running Armentrout to beat out, but such is his promise that it is a foregone conclusion he will see plenty of service. Graveno is one reason why there is a certain measure of optimism at Carnegie Tech.

THE RECENT ILLNESS of Judge Steffen necessitating his quick removal to a Chicago hospital will not interfere with his plans to be on hand when the entire Plaid gridiron squad is assembled in the Tartan Bowl next Monday morning.

The Carnegie coach has written Dr. W. L. Marks, school physician, that he has been allowed to leave the hospital and will be permitted to come to Pittsburgh but will have to undergo an operation at the close of the coming gridiron campaign.

Judge W. P. Steffen

JUDGE STEFFEN HAS been troubled for years by a condition that it has been feared may be gall stones. Only a strict attention to his physical condition has kept him out of the surgeons' hands to date. Followers of Carnegie football are overjoyed to learn that he will be on the job again this season, for the word is out among the students and alumni that the outlook is better than it has been since John Dresher led a most impressive bunch of sophomores to varsity jobs two years ago. The Skibos have lost some good players by graduation in John English, Bob Schmidt, Andy Yerina, George Kennedy and John Kerr, but there is a wealth of replacement material, the hold-over regulars may be expected to show improvement with the addition of another year's experience, spirit never ran higher at the school, and all around the outlook is bright for a fine season.

GOLF DOPESTERS ARE pointing to the outcome of the recent Western open tournament as new evidence that this is a game in which there is no chance for fluky victories, no chance of an outsider's coming through and capturing the top honors through luck alone. You've got to have the stuff and the class or you don't finish among the leaders.

Attention is being called to the fact that the first 10 places in the Western open were occupied by Sarazen, Espanosa, Watrous, Mehlhorn, Horton Smith, Hagen, Ayton, Shave, Kocsis, Manero and Hampton. The only unfamiliar name in the lot is that of Kocsis, and even he has attracted notice for two seasons as a growing threat.

It is all held to show that golf is a game in which class tells every time, and that only about a dozen men have a chance of winning where a major crown is at stake. Of 31 Western opens only six have been won by players who were not former open champions of either the United States or Great Britain.

Frank Crosetti

Harry Salsinger says he has observed strange names at the head of the list after the first round of a big tourney and sometimes after the third round, but when four rounds are in the old familiar boys are back on top. An old-timer assured him that it would be the same if a golf course were laid out in the Sahara Desert or the Bad Lands or at the North Pole. The only difference would be in the scores.

THE SALE OF Shortstop Frank Crosetti to the Yankees, 1932 delivery, for a cash price reported near $100,000 in addition to three players, though the actual amount involved probably is closer to $50,000, raises to three-quarters of a million dollars the sum that the San Francisco club has received for players during the last 11 years. The owners of the Seals got $113,000 for Willie Kamm, $80,000 for Paul Waner, $75,000 for Jimmy O'Connell, $65,000 for Jimmy Caveney, $50,000 for Gus Suhr, $50,000 for Smead Jolley, $40,000 for Vernon Gomes, and from $5,000 to $20,000 for Hollis Thurston and seven others.

SO IT IS evident that the holders of the San Francisco franchise have found the sale of diamond athletes very profitable, even though they made one costly blunder in letting one of the country's greatest players, Lloyd Waner, slip through their fingers without their getting a cent in return for him.

In getting the two Waners, the Pittsburgh club clearly fared better than any other major league outfit in taking on Coast League timber, even if Suhr does not stick. The Pirate management also was interested in Crosetti for a time this year, but withdrew as a prospective purchaser when a scout reported that the young shortstop had slumped far below his early promise.

IT ISN'T ONLY the fact of his having only a near tail-end team behind him that makes the 19 victories of Ted Lyons stand out even more impressively than the records of the three other pitchers in the big show who have won a greater number of games this year. For Lyons' victories have been real ones in that he has pitched the full distance of nine or more innings in all but one of them. His record has not been helped by his being awarded a lot of games in which he pitched only a few rounds.

Lyons has started 30 contests and has been lifted from only four of them. Lefty Grove has been credited with wins in two incomplete

CHAMP MEETS MEDALIST FOR CROWN

BY VERN SWARTSFAGER.

Carl Kauffmann, the defending champion, and Robert Graham, tournament medalist, will battle it out for the title in the 36-hole final of the annual city championship golf tourney at the Schenley Park municipal links tomorrow.

In the semi-final round matches packed with thrills and good golf, Kauffmann today eliminated John Pasikowski, 3 and 1, and Graham put out Andy Szwedko in an extra-hole duel, 1 up.

Brilliant performances off the tees and through the fairways enabled Kauffmann to remain in the running for his putting often was ragged and erratic. The champion and Pasikowski were all even after nine holes, each going out in 35, but Carl's succession of 3s and 4s from the twelfth hole on were too much for Pasikowski, who broke at the seventeenth hole, where he dubbed his drive and permitted Kauffmann to win with an easy 4.

GRAHAM GAINS LEAD

Graham was leading Szwedko by 1 up at the turn, but the latter evened the match with a fine 32 on the in nine. Szwedko's marvelous second shot at the seventeenth hole was the feature of the match. When they stepped up to the tee Graham was 1 up with two holes to go. The medalist had the honor and got off a strong drive, but Szwedko pulled and half-topped his shot into the woods. Here Andy showed his mettle by lining a mighty mid-iron shot some 200 yards uphill to the edge of the green. He then proceeded to sink his chip shot for a winning 3 that squared the match, Graham taking a par 4.

WINS WITH BIRDIE

The eighteenth hole was halved in par 4s, but Graham won the first extra hole with a birdie 3 to Szwedko's par 4 to settle the debate. Robert got his birdie by driving the green and getting down in the conventional two putts.

ALL-NEGRO ELEVEN

I have received a letter from a chap, "A. H.," of Chicago, who wanted to know why I didn't pick an All-Time All-America Negro football team. I just want to say that it didn't occur to our group to do so, and as the group is all broken up here is one that occurred to me as I sat here thinking about the matter.

TOMORROW—BIRTH OF A MOUNTAIN.

TARTANS START GRID DRILLS

By JESS CARVER.

The day of the charley horse has arrived, and the time of the snapping of bones and the flattening of beaks is at hand. The intercollegiate football training season opens today.

Relegating the selling of insurance to a half-day basis for the next few weeks, Bobby Waddell, head coach at Carnegie Tech, called together his varsity line aspirants this morning and put them through the first of what will be a long period of two-day sessions. Another workout was billed for this afternoon, and the same program will be carried out tomorrow and the next day and the next, and the next, and the next, and . . . . etc.

BACKS DUE MONDAY

The Plaid backfield men and Advisory Coach Wally Steffen are due to report Monday. Coach Waddell ordered his varsity linemen to report today ready for hard work, so activities will not be on a peace-time basis for very long.

Sunday, Pitt will head for its mountain training camp at Windber, Pa., and next Wednesday the Dukes will open activities on the Bluff. Work for the Panthers is scheduled to get under way no later than Tuesday morning.

VETERANS BACK

Coach Waddell cast his eagle eyes over a peppery nucleus of veteran linemen this morning as the squad lined up for first inspection. Veterans from last year's squad included Capt. John Dreshar, Lenny Schnupp, Pete Flanagan, Alex Ducanis, Marve Botts, Tom Hower, John Highberger (a good stud player), Don Fletcher, Bert Pouncey, Howard Stauffer and Theodore (Ted to You) Rosenzweig.

Dr. W. L. Marks and Al Irwin, the Kappa Sigma pair, are to assist M. Waddell with the handling of the squad. After the freshmen arrive, Irwin will be kept busy riding herd on them, but Doc Marks will be right on the job all year.

Sharkey Signed For Three Bouts

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—A contract between Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, and Victorio Campolo, South American, providing for a 15-round bout at the Yankee Stadium September 25 has been signed.

Another contract signed requires Sharkey, if he conquers Campolo, to meet Young Stribling in Miami in February if the Madison Square Garden Corporation can induce Stribling to accept the match. The agreement also obligates Sharkey, if he defeats Stribling, to meet Max Schmeling, world's champion, next June.

IOWAN WINS LONG SWIM

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Denied the privilege of finishing in the money group last year by the cold waters of Lake Ontario, Marvin Nelson, bronzed young swimmer from Fort Dodge, Ia., yesterday came back to conquer the same chilly waters and win the 15-mile Canadian national exhibition marathon swim and $10,000.

After swimming the course, banked by thousands of spectators, in 7 hours, 43 minutes and 36 1-5 seconds for a new world's record, Nelson climbed on the finishing float seemingly as fresh and strong as when he plunged into the lake together with nearly 200 other men and one woman. Last year he was barred from the prize money when he collapsed unconscious with the end only 50 yards away.

YOUNG COLLAPSES

In a race which saw the collapse of George Young, winner of the Catalina Island swim; Frank Pritchard, of Buffalo, who set the early pace; Mendel Burditt, Eli Radakovich, Duquesne, Pa., and many other famous swimmers, Nelson persisted to overhaul one after another of the leaders, finally passing Isador Spondor, of Port Colborne, Ont., at the beginning of the eighth and last lap.

Nelson's gesture of victory, when he lifted both hands high out of the water, brought immediate response from the thousands massed along the lake front. He strolled about the float with little evidence of weariness and was the first to greet Spondor when the Port Colburn youngster climbed out of the water to win second place and $2,500. Spondor's time was 7:56:53 3-5.

NEW YORKER THIRD

Nearly one-half hour later William F. Goll, of New York, crawled out of the water to take third place in 8:23:33 2-5. Fourth went to George Blagden, Memphis, Tenn., who was timed in 8:25:-37 2-5.

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

The sudden spurt of the Cardinals, bringing this dangerous club to within one game of the second position, is one of the high spots of the fine race in the National League, but it is not a big surprise to certain members of the Pittsburgh club.

More than once these members of the local team discussed the great possibilities possessed by the Redbirds. This writer shared the viewpoint that the Redbirds, in some respects, were the best balanced club in the league.

BUCS STUMBLING BLOCK

If the Cardinals could have broken even with the Pirates in their games to date they would be right on the heels of the Cubs. The Buccos have trimmed the Redbirds 12 times in 16 fights. That is sad news in St. Louis.

The Cards probably have the best pitching staff in the National League, all things considered. Burleigh Grimes, one of the game's best, was sick in the first part of the season and his club suffered accordingly.

In Grimes, Haines, Rhem, Bell, Johnson, Lindsey, Hallahan and Grabowski, the Redbirds boast a staff that is hard to surmount.

Rhem, yesterday's victor, and a boy with all kinds of stuff, could have been had for a song last winter. He has great possibilities.

BUCS WIN SLUGFEST

The Freebooters won a slambang affair with the Cubs in Chicago yesterday. The Ensmen piled up 20 hits, including homers by Bartell and Suhr, to win, 10 to 8. The Bears threatened in the ninth, but Bartell stopped them with a fast assist.

Hartnett, Danny Taylor and English hit homers for the Bruins. Brame won his thirteenth victory of the season, despite his being out about 10 weeks with the "flu."

Capt. Traynor and Brame featured the game with their batting. Traynor rapped out five hits in five times at bat and Brame connected for four safeties.

Jess Petty, former Pirate, made his debut for the Cubs in the relief role. He pitched very good ball in spots.

Nick Altrock Says:

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Next to the Great Mogul diamond robbery, the biggest theft of the season was Danny Taylor stealing home last Sunday against the Giants with the winning run. I don't know where John McGraw's master mind was at the time, but it must have been on a big wedge of blueberry pie. Those Cubs are quite an outfit of brigands on the paths this season. Cuyler has shoplifted so many bases there is a reward for him in seven cities. They could put the bases in a glass case and Kiki would steal them just the same. His being a kleptomaniac has been a big help to the Cubkets. Hack Wilson is no deficit, either.

WIN OVER GIANTS REVIVES BROOKLYN HOPES

ELLIOTT STAR IN TRIUMPH OF ROBINS

Associated Press

Brooklyn, which led the National League longer than any other this season, is far from being out of the pennant race.

The Robins wered umped out of first place when a tour of the West brought them only six victories in 21 games. Back in their home section they have begun to battle for a place in the pennant race again by trouncing the New York Giants.

The Robins opened up the series with the Giants which may see them go into second place or back to fourth, by slamming out a 7 to 2 victory yesterday and reducing the distance between second place and third to a half game. Big Jim Elliott, who came into the game after Bill Clark's dispute with Umpire Jorda had sent him out, took away the major share of what glory there was. He outpitched three opponents to hold the New Yorkers to nine hits while the Robins, their bats thundering as they were when Brooklyn led the league, piled up 15 effective wallops.

GAIN ON CUBS

The Robins not only gained a game on the Giants and held their own against the oncoming St. Louis Cardinals, but they picked up a lap on the league-leading Chicago Cubs. The Cubs found some rough going against the Pittsburgh Pirates and lost the final clash of their series, 10 to 8, in a wild hitting struggle. The defeat left Chicago five and one-half games ahead of the Giants, but enabled the Robins and St. Louis each to gain a game, placing them six and six and one-half games behind, respectively.

St. Louis remained a half-game behind Brooklyn by winning its eighth straight game. Sparky Adams, who filled Frank Frisch's place at second base, pulled the Cards through to a 2-to-1 victory over Cincinnati. Adams scored both of the St. Louis runs.

PHILS BEAT BRAVES

The Phillies, who had lost five straight games, and the Boston Braves, who had lost four, met in the other National League clash and it was the longer losing streak which ended. With Sugar Sweetland pitching effectively and Fred Brickell hitting with just as much effect, Philadelphia won by a 9-to-3 score.

With the Eastern clubs of the American League enjoying a day of idleness, the activity in the junior circuit was confined to the lower-rank clubs. The Chicago White Sox gained the big triumph of the day, taking a clear hold on sixth place by winning two games from the Indians. The Sox pounded the offerings of four Cleveland pitchers for 21 hits and a 14-to-5 victory in the first game then outlasted the Indians to take a 5-to-4 decision in the second.

The double victory put Chicago a full game ahead of the St. Louis Browns, who rode through to a 5-to-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers on Walter Stewart's brilliant pitching.

Football Contest Blank

Can you recall the Pitt football stars of yesteryear? If you are acquainted with the prowess of the gridiron Panthers, why not select an all-time Pitt eleven and win choice tickets to games which Pitt will play in the Stadium this fall?

James J. Long, sports critic and columnist, is to select the team which will be regarded as "official." Match Mr. Long's team and you will receive a season ticket to Pitt's home games; disagree with Mr. Long regarding the merits of one player and you and a friend will be "armed" with Pitt-Notre Dame game credentials. For information regarding other prizes, and comment regarding the feats of Panthers of the distant and not-so-distant past (which will be very helpful to contest entrants) read the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's sports columns each day.

Fill out the attached contest blank today and mail it to the Football Contest Editor.

ASK US THE WAY

If you would like information about the best route to follow on any trip you plan this autumn, write "Standard" Touring Service, 26 Broadway, New York City. Tell us the point you want to reach and we shall furnish you with the latest information on road conditions. There is no cost, and no obligation.

DRIVING'S no fun on crowded highways with a sluggish motor. On a happy holiday you want to be able to slow down and speed up at will—without a lot of gear shifting. You want to be able to take the lead and hold it . . . you want extra reserves of knock-less power to meet any emergency of the road.

That's why over Labor Day—or on any other day—you want your tank filled with ESSO, the Giant Power Fuel. ESSO will take the "labor" out of Labor Day driving because it's more powerful than any gasoline . . . gives no knocks . . . and puts new pep in any motor.

There is no substitute for ESSO. Made in modern refineries, by men who know how, its base stock is the finest especially-prepared gasoline that the Standard Oil Company can manufacture. To that finer stock is added Ethyl fluid, the most effective anti-knock ingredient known to science.

Fill your tank with ESSO and your motor will tell you, in the first five minutes of driving, why users by the thousands, all over Pennsylvania, are saying: "You'll have good luck with 'Standard'."

The Washington Typos defending champions in thte International Printers' baseball tournament, saved themselves from elimination at Magee Field today when they defeated the heretofore undefeated Detroit Typos by a score of 16 to 3.

Webb, on the mound for the victors, was hit quite freely by Detroit but managed to tighten up when hits meant runs. He gave the losers 12 blows.

The Washington nine sewed up the game in the seventh inning when it scored five runs.

The defeat of Detroit left only one team still in the unbeaten class, Chicago holding first place with a record of three victories and no losses. Washington, as a result of its triumph, now rests in second place with three wins and one loss.

LOCALS IN RUNNING

The Pittsburgh Typos remained in the running for the title by defeating St. Paul at Magee Field yesterday, 13 to 6, the victory giving them a record of two out of three in the tournament to date.

The big surprise of the tournament was the defeat of Washington by Chicago, 1 to 7. The Chicago team was seven runs behind when it rallied to hand the Senators their first setback. In the other games yesterday, Detroit defeated New York, 8 to 2, while Cincinnati eliminated Cleveland by winning, 17 to 0.

The results of the tournament to date leave Chicago, Washington, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and New York in the running. St. Paul, Cleveland, St. Louis, Boston and Indianapolis are out of the competition as a result of suffering two defeats. The score of today's Washington-Detroit game follows:

Gabelman, an 18-year-old apprentice from Cincinnati, is setting the pace at the half-way mark in the annual 72-hole title golf tournament of the International Printers' Union, in progress at the Alcoma Country Club. The Ohio youth scored an 84 to take the lead on Tuesday, and his 84 of yesterday was good enough to keep him two strokes ahead of the field. Eighteen holes are being played today, and the final 18 will be played tomorrow.

C. D. RADABAUGH

Radabaugh, one of the Detroit entries in the printers' golf tourney, carded 170 for 36 holes and is in second place by a margin of two strokes. His 83 was the best score turned in yesterday.

CITY LEAGUE SERIES OPENS

Book Shoe and Homewood, winners of the first and second half races respectively in the City League, will open the championship play-off series this evening, clashing at Olympic Park.

The second game of the series will be played tomorrow at Homewood. The nines will battle for the advantage in a five-game series.

Book Shoe captured the first-half title, getting away to a fine start and holding the lead almost from the inception of the race. Homewood, a second-half entry, fought it out for the honor with Dormont.

Otey or Wojanis and Bimmy Steele or Semler are slated to get the hurling assignments this evening.

In a Commercial League game last evening, Raybestos won over the National Union nine, 4 to 2. Iroquois downed the Homestead Aces, 11 to 5, in an invitation series contest.

At Detroit, the Homestead Grays lost the first of a two-game series to the Detroit Stars, 7 to 5. The Dan Heeps won over Glassport, 4 to 3. Pitcairn downed the Swissvale Firemen, 9 to 4, and Reliance Life trimmed Ingomar, 6 to 1.

The D. J. Brodericks nosed out the Y Beavers, of Newark, O., last evening at Marshall field, 9 to 8. The Brodericks scored three runs in the last inning to win.

Ten Baseball Fans Nabbed for Betting

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—(INS.)—Ten baseball fans will be given a hearing today on charges of open gambling. They were arrested yesterday in the midst of the Phillies-Boston game, when they were alleged to have started betting.

Two plain clothes detectives, after receiving numerous complaints, seated themselves in the stands and took note of the men who were shouting bets. They then pointed the men out to a squad of policemen, who herded them to the police station, where they were released on copies of the charge.

Gems Seek Action In M.-A. Protest

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Aug. 28.—Arlo DeBrucque, secretary of the Fairmont Middle Atlantic League club, and Elmer Daily, president of the league, exchanged a number of telegrams yesterday on the matter of Fairmont's protest of all games lost to Clarksburg in the second half without making any progress.

Early yesterday, DeBrucque wired Daily asking why there has been no action on the Fairmont protest on Clarksburg violating the rookie rule. Daily wired back that he had not received Fairmont's official protest and therefore did not know officially its exact nature.

DeBrucque wired back that the protest had been sent by registered mail last Monday and that the post office advised that there was no reason why it should not be in Daily's possession.

LOCAL NETMEN TO OPPOSE GREENSBURG

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Inter-city tennis will command the stage center hereabouts again on September 6, when Jack McLain, veteran Steel City doubles star, will lead a Pittsburgh outfit composed of P. A. A. performers into action against Tack Hammer and his Greensburg host on the Greensburg Country Club rectangles. The Westmoreland Countians visited the Pittsburgh Country Club here on Sunday, August 3, and were repulsed by a 5-1 margin in a contest that was much more closely contested than the mere tally would indicate and it is their aim in the impending conflict to reverse the issue under the more familiar conditions of their home lot.

New local precedent will be set in the tussle, according to plans released by Gus Kelly, sponsor of the Greensburg end of the competition, in that feminine play will be part and parcel of the affair, the card calling for seven matches, four of these being in men's singles, two in men's doubles and one in women's singles. 'Twill thus be seen that the outcome of the entire fray may depend upon the result of the joust between the fair representatives of the respective teams, a fact that attaches not a little import to the innovation.

GREENSBURG WINDUP

The inter-urban imbroglio will feature the festivities in connection with the wind-up of the Greensburg Country Club invitation tournament for Westmoreland County players. This event is slated to get under way in the junior division today, with men's singles and doubles, women's singles, and mixed doubles starting later in the week and continuing until Sunday, September 7. Tourney play will be suspended on Saturday while the Pittsburgh-Greensburg session is on. The following day, however, it is hoped to run off the various final tilts along with a program of exhibition jousts, involving members of the Steel City delegation, which will be entertained at a dance in the clubhouse and held over for the Sunday hostilities.

The Pittsburgh host will include Capt. McClain, the famed O'Loughlin trio—John, Dave and Billy—Jack Lauler, and Paul Sullivan. Whitey McLain, husky son of the Steel City leader, was also nominated, but will be unable to make the trip. Greensburg will counter with the crack Hammer brethern—Tack and Theodore, Don Snyder and Dillinger Hixson. Helen Carson, little Vassar southpaw, who paired with Tack Hammer to annex the West Penn mixed doubles crown in 1929, will uphold the Westmoreland side of the womens' debating. She will be opposed by Miriam Sullivan, Winged Head satellite, and recent captor of the Western Maryland doubles crown.

MORGANTOWN EVENT

Meanwhile, let it not be forgotten that the second annual Morgantown Country Club invitation tourney is billed to begin at Morgantown on the morrow. Charley Hedges will receive entries at the Dominion-News, Morgantown, W. Va., until late tonight. The Beaver County championships will commence at the College Hill Tennis Club, Beaver Falls, on Saturday. Chairman Howdy Campbell will take names of contestants at Beaver Falls 26-W till tomorrow evening. And, of course, Sam Keller is looking for talent for the revival of the Allegheny County titular meeting at Duquesne Library, Duquesne, Pa., with lid-lift on September 6. Sam's address is 559 Sixth avenue, McKeesport.

THE LOWDOWN ON THE BUCS

By THE BENCHWARMER.

Well, folks, we did pretty fair on the trip considerin' that them Bears are out to claw everybody. At that they're a fine clean gang, but they fight all the way. You hear a lot of talk about McGraw's clubs being fightin' teams. O. K., but how about the Cubs that have come through on every big issue this year?

When about three out of every four was sayin' what the Giants would do to the Bears, the Cubs take three in a row after gettin' off to a terrible start. If that isn't fightin' what do you call it?

But we can give McCarthy a good fight and I guess the Cubs know it by this time. They are not licked till the last man is out and they had us scared yesterday in the ninth.

Some wise-crackin' jockey on the Cub bench was ridin' us all through the two games, but we couldn't pick out who it was. But he had a lot of good stuff. Jule was right close to their dugout when he coached at third, but he had his back to them and every time he would turn around the bird would pipe down. He had Jule laughin' at some of the stuff he was gettin' off.

When the announcer yelled out that Mosolf was hittin' in a pinch the wise guy started on us:

"Where do Barney's scouts go to look for players; to Russia and Poland and them places?" he yelled.

"You guys can come up with some great ones. You've got a League of Nations team now with Mosolf, Comorosky, Swetonic, Grueless and a few others."

SEEDED STARS ADVANCE AT LONGWOOD

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Two sets of champions, holders of highly prized American and British tennis titles, battled here yesterday to beat back the furious opposition of ambitious youngsters who fought valiantly to enter the semi-final round of the men's national doubles tourney on the Longwood turf courts.

For a time it appeared that George Lott and Johnny Doeg, the defending champions, would be swept aside by the fight that Keith Gledhill and Ellsworth Vines, ambling Californians, made for fame. Johnny Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, the Davis cup doubles team and Wimbledon champions, were pressed almost as hard by two other youths, Sydney Wood and Frank X. Shields, of New York.

Lott and Doeg won 1-6, 6-3, 4-6, 8-6, 6-4. Van Ryn and Allison copped by scores of 3-6, 6-3, 11-9, 3-6 and 6-3.

The defending champions' victory forced them into semi-final match with Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter, who kept pace with the other survivors by eliminating the last of the three English pairs, J. S. Olliff and F. J. Perry, in straight sets, 6-2, 7-5, 6-4.

The mixed doubles competition, reduced to the quarter final stage during the late afternoon, was featured by two family net arguments. Betty Nuthall, the British holder of the American women's singles title, and George Lott, moved another bracket toward retaining their championships by defeating another international team, Penelope Anderson, of Richmond, Va., and Betty's brother, James, 6-1, 6-4.

Two of Los Angeles' Marlowe sisters clashed in another such match, which ended with Helen and Ellsworth Vines moving up by outstroking Mercedes and P. A. Godfree of England for an 8-6, 7-5 margin. The Canadian team, comprising Jean Burritt, of Toronto, and Marcel Rainville, Montreal, was eliminated by Mrs. J. Dallas Corbiere, South Boro, and Fritz Mercur, 6-2, 6-4.

U. S. TRACK TEAM BEATS BRITONS

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Great Britain may rule the seas, but the United States reigns in athletics.

On historic Soldier Field, lighted as brilliantly as day, athletes wearing the shield of Uncle Sam conquered the sons of the British Empire in their dual track and field meet last night, by a score of 9 to 5, before a record-smashing crowd of 40,000 spectators.

The Americans defeated the combined forces of England, Scotland, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and British Guiana, in one of the most impressive track and field meets ever held. Eight records for the meet were smashed, with the Americans accounting for five of them.

New marks were established by the Americans in the 400-yard relay, the shotput, the 480-yard shuttle-hurdle race, the high jump and hammer throw, while the British shattered records in the four-mile relay, two-mile relay and the three-mile team race.

The Americans completely dominated the field events, winning all of them, while the British amassed their points in the distance races, in which they clearly demonstrated their superiority over the sons of Uncle Sam.

The meet was the third won by the United States in the duals with the British, the first resulting in a tie. The Americans captured honors in nine of the 14 events.

AMERICA CUP BOAT NAMED

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—The Enterprise was chosen last night to defend the America's cup against Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger, Shamrock V, in the yacht races off here next month. The cup committee made the selection.

The Enterprise, skippered by Harold S. Vanderbilt was chosen by the racing committee of the New York Yacht Club after only two races of the official trials had been held off here. The announcement came as a surprise and was not made until after the skippers and afterguards of all four contenders for the privilege of defending the America's had been notified.

The unsuccessful candidates were: Yankee, sailed by Charles Francis Adams, secretary of the nation's navy; Weetamoe, the Morgan-Nichols boat and Whirlwind, Thorne-Hammond entry.

Qualifying Heats Start at Altoona

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 28.—Qualifying heats for the 200-mile automobile classic to be run at the Speedway here Labor Day will be inaugurated today and continue throughout the week.

All of the 22 drivers and cars entered will be on the track today, tomorrow or Saturday in an effort to prove their right to start Monday. Only 12 will make the grade, which means that 10 will be eliminated in the time tests.

Billy Arnold, winner at Indianapolis and Altoona this year; Lou Meyer, king of 1928 and 1929; Lou Schneider, Jimmy Gleason, Zeke Meyer, Lou Moore, Speed Gardner, Chester Gardner, Shorty Cantlon, Wilbur Shaw, Bill Cummings, Deacon Litz, Russ Snowberger, Dave Evans, Frank Farmer, Bill Padree, Stubby Stubblefield, Gordon Condon, Mel Kennedy, Paul Rice, Paul Bost and Bill Denver are among the entrants.

RODGERS SET TO FACE TEST TONIGHT

By JAMES MILLER.

Providing Ole' Man Hard Luck does not poke his nose into the boxing affairs of Charley Luck, matchmaker at Hickey Park, before fight time tonight, Jackie Rodgers, local Negro knockout star, will answer the bell against Johnny Erickson, New York Italian, in the 10-round main event.

Tonight's main bout has been kicked about in no gentle manner. First, Joey Thomas, Chicago featherweight, called off his end of the match with Rodgers. Then Benny Greshe, of Cleveland, was signed as a substitute, but he pulled out of it with an injury sustained while training. Now Erickson is all set to go against Jackie, and the boys at Millvale have their fingers crossed, hoping that nothing further will spoil the show.

ERICKSON GOOD

Erickson has been in the game for some time and he has met such high ranking fighters as Kid Chocolate, Vidal Gregorio twice, Matty White, Benny Schwartz, Terry Roth and a host of others.

The semi-final promises plenty of action with Eddie Brannon, hard-hitting Negro, of the Hill, pitted against Billy (Muscle) Scholes, of the North Side, for eight rounds.

Sol Lippe, of Philadelphia, has been signed to take the place of Eddie Barr, of the South Side, against Jackie Griffiths, Negro lightweight, of the Hill, in the third bout of six rounds. Mose Butch, of Oakland, and Billy Campbell, Irish Kane's bantamweight, will furnish the action in the second six-round number, with Anastasio Vaquerio, of Panama, boxing Young Jackie Ruffner, of Kittanning, in the opening bout.

WILSON, JADERBERG SET

Jack Wilson, North Side middleweight, now under the management of James (Red) Mason, dean of local managers, and Al (Red) Jaderberg, of Jamestown, N. Y., will finish training today for their 10-round main bout of the double windup in the first open-air professional show at the Twenty-seventh Ward A. C. tomorrow night. Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, who recently knocked out Al Becker, at Hickey Park, will have Paul Oger, of Bellaire, O., as his opponent in the other 10-rounder on the bill.

Wilson was under contract to Jimmy Conrad until several days ago, when the latter agreed to release him. Mason signed Wilson to a three-year contract.

In the six-round bouts on the card, Mickey Solomen, of New Castle, will fight Billy Brent, Negro, formerly of Chicago and now of the Hill, and Frankie Lands, of Youngstown, meets Tony Anderson, Negro, fighting his first pro fight. In the amateurs, Anderson defeated Don Asto, clever simon-pure mitt slinger, of the Sands A. C., of Uniontown.

Tickets for the show can be had by calling Cedar 9368, the number of the office adjoining the club occupied by Francis Flynn, promoter of the show.

Between Rounds

Jules Buck, matchmaker at the Motor Bowl, North Braddock, has lined two good bouts for that hotel and second bouts here on next Tuesday night's show. Mario Carrozza, of McKeesport, will meet Tuffy Jim Clark, Negro, of the South Side, who whipped and Frankie Moran at the Bowl last Monday night in the first round. In the opening bout Jimmy Cannon, hard-hitting Negro of the Hill, will face Johnny Walker, clever Clairton lad, in the second number.

Jack (Buck) McTurman, of Beaverdale, opponent of Jack Taylor, Negro, in the main bout which should be one of the best fights held at the Bowl this summer.

Angelo Mosetta, promoter at the Bowl, announced that he has received certified checks from Johnny Dundee, Filipino, of Cleveland, and Jackie Goggins, of the North Side, covering the fees that those two boxers bitterly fought for will be the main attraction at the Bowl on Sept. 15.

Peter Pirrone, of Canton, O., meets Chuck Burns at Cumberland, Md., tonight with Johnny Woods, of Johnstown, and Gordon in the semi-final.

In other fights tonight Ted Morgan, who once held the United Heavyweight title, now seeks to break back, takes on Eddie Mack, of Detroit, at Seattle in six rounds.

Tony Herrera, Mexican lightweight of Chicago, meets Maxie Strub, in the 10-round main bout at Erie tomorrow night.

games and has been lifted eight times. Wes Ferrell has been given victories in four short games and has been knocked nine times, and George Earnshaw has received credit for the winning of six games in which he went only part of the way and he has been taken out 16 times.

Ervin Brame

TOO BAD FOR the Pirate cause and for Ervin Brame's pitching record as well that the big Kentuckian fell victim to a severe attack of grip during the early part of the season, an illness that not only kept him out of commission for several weeks but affected his work for a long time afterward. If the fates had permitted him to go through the season at a normal and uninterrupted pace, Brame probably would have close to 20 victories to his credit at present and the Buccaneers' standing would be considerably different. Ervin's win over the Cubs yesterday was his thirteenth decision of the year, and he has won seven of his last 10 games. Considering their crippled state earlier in the race, the Rovers' record of eight victories against nine defeats in competition with the champion Cubs this year is a creditable one. Five of the nine games dropped to the Bruins were lost by left-handers, three by Larry French, one by Jess Petty and one by Percy Jones. Remy Kremer and Brame are undefeated by the Cubs. Kremer has beaten them three times and Brame has done it twice.

NO MATTER HOW poorly they may be going against other clubs, the Robins seemingly are able to beat the Giants. After losing seven games in succession, and dropping 15 of their last 18 contests, the Brooklynites came to life yesterday and slammed the McGrawmen for the eleventh time in 17 meetings this year.

By defeating New York, the Robins saved the Cubs from losing any ground through the reverse they suffered at the hands of the Pirates. The Bruins still are leading by five and a half games and it's a lead that's beginning to look fairly safe. If the McCarthys merely break even in their remaining 30 games, the Giants will have to win 13 of their remaining 33 games, or .697 ball, to beat them out.

The Body in the Basket

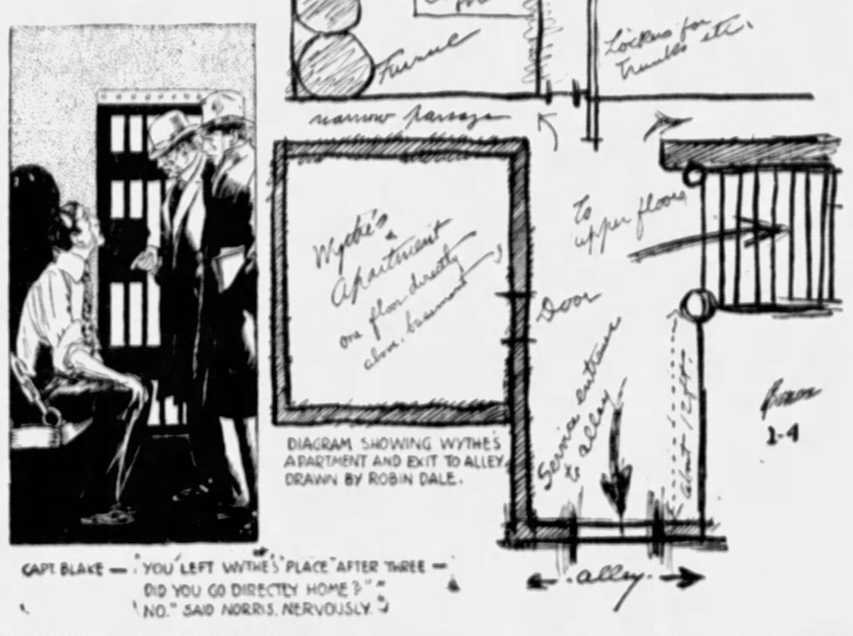

DIAGRAM SHOWING WYTHE'S APARTMENT AND EXIT TO ALLEY. DRAWN BY ROBIN DALE.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

The body of a murdered man is found in a basket taken from a service truck of the Imperial Laundry. The driver has no conception how it got there. The only clue is a $20 gold piece found beside the body. A former janitor at the Deauville Court Apartment, Thomas Jackson, identifies the body in the basket as that of a tenant, Richard Wythe, a notorious gambler. The police learn of a high-stake poker game in which Wythe had been discovered to be a cheat. One of the players was Clayton Norris. Norris has just been arrested for the embezzlement of $50,000 from his employer.

Now Go On With the Story.

CHAPTER IV.

There was little more that Carroll could tell. He had, in fact, presented many interesting phases to the case. Before they left Dale had a few questions to ask.

"Mr. Carroll, you knew Jackson, of course. Anything particular about his relationship with Wythe?"

"Nothing that I know of. Jackson stopped in the apartment for a moment last night, shortly after twelve. Going away, I think Wythe's always been pretty decent to Jackson, I understand."

"Just one other thing—Wythe had quite a reputation with the ladies, didn't he?"

"Yes, quite a reputation," answered Carroll with a faint smile.

"Guess that's all, captain.

Once more in the police car Robin Dale suggested that they stop and have a bite to eat.

"We've got to keep up our strength, captain. I'm afraid there's plenty going to happen before you put the bracelets on Wythe's murderer. And Norris, whom you're so anxious to talk to, will still be there when we arrive."

Despite the lateness of the hour Captain Blake and Robin Dale stopped at the Tombs after eating. Jardin had been sent on to headquarters to get a line on Ralph Carroll.

Carroll's information, for the most part, was substantiated by the testimony of Norris. The young man appeared genuinely surprised when he learned of the death of Wythe. He expressed no particular sorrow at the news. They had obtained the history of Norris' case before questioning the young man. It was one of the usual cases—living beyond his means, gambling, stealing, until his defalcations amounted to upwards of fifty thousand dollars. Norris was a teller at one of the big downtown banks. With the bank examiners close upon him he had probably tried one last fling the night before. He was arrested at his home, about noon, as he was ready to make a break for it.

"You left Wythe's place after three—did you go directly home?"

"No," said Norris, nervously. "I tramped the streets most of the night and this morning. I was frantic—I didn't know which way to turn. Finally I made up my mind to try to get away. I hadn't been home half an hour when the police came. If it hadn't been for the wife and the kid I would never have gone home again."

The lad, for he was little more than a lad, was on the verge of a breakdown. It was readily possible that he could have gone to the extreme of murdering Wythe to get himself out of his predicament. But the frailty in that theory, as it appeared to Dale, was that Norris was still in a predicament.

"Looks like a possibility," Capt. Blake said as he and Dale left the Tombs.

"Yes—but we still don't know enough about the case, Captain. Lots more to come—you'll see."

"I think we have plenty already—enough to work on, anyway," replied the captain.

"Cherchez la femme, mon capitan," remarked Dale, with a whimsical smile. "When a fellow of Wythe's type is put on the spot you're sure to find a woman mixed up in it somewhere. Otherwise, there'd be no poetic justice to it."

"Okay, Dale; you look for the woman and I'll keep on hunting for the murderer. . . ."

". . . and we'll see who gets there first. Okay with me, Captain." Dale finished for him and the two left it on that friendly, competitive basis.

They found Jardin waiting at Blake's office.

"Carroll has a small office downtown, a broker of sorts. I talked with Lieut. Murray at the Times Square Station—he says Carroll acts as a steerer for Wythe."

"Which makes him 10 points lower than a mongrel," suggested Dale.

"Then, I looked up Wythe. Got the reputation of playing a crooked game, but plays a lone hand mostly. Mixed up with at least four women famous on Broadway . . ."

"Notorious, one might say, eh, Jardin?" interrupted Dale, winking at Capt. Blake. "There was Sally Bright, who's in the divorce courts now; Madge Beahan, the night club hostess, who's mixed up in the Shanley killing; there's—oh, give me a cigaret, Sarge, and you tell the Captain all about the ladies."

Jardin threw the pack at Dale, who deftly caught it, while Blake merely grinned.

"Of course there are women, Dale—but this whole thing looks strictly like a man's job to me."

"I'll try the other angle, it looks more interesting to me. By the way, you'll be checking up on all their movements between 10 and 11 this morning; that's when the wagon was parked alongside the Deauville Court and, of course, that's when the body was neatly slipped into that basket."

"Yes, I'll have that dope by noon tomorrow, while you're out following the ladies."

Before he went home that night Robin Dale stopped at Deauville Court. He chatted a while with the night man on the board and then made a careful survey of the section of the house around the Wythe apartment.

The entrance to the apartment was not visible from the foyer-lounge. It was at the end of a little corridor at the rear of the apartment. The stairs to the upper floor and to the basement were opposite the entrance of Wythe's apartment.

Dale went downstairs into the basement. About a dozen feet to the left of the stair landing was the door to the alley. It was opposite this door that the laundry wagon must have stood when the body of Dick Wythe was placed in it. Dale tried the door. It was locked.

In the other direction from the stairs, along the wall, were a row of little compartments, or bins, in which the tenants stored trunks or other articles of furniture for which they had no immediate use. On the far side of the basement were the furnaces and the coal bins.

On his way out Robin Dale chatted a moment with the nightman.

"Wythe had plenty of lady callers I suppose?"

"I'll say he had. Coupla times we got in a jam letting one by when there was another in the apartment. He got so he'd use Jackson to sort of stand guard an' steer 'em away when he was busy. Old Jackson and I had many a laugh about it. Only the night before last Jackson was on the job until 2, like that."

"By the way, you're sure you didn't hear a sound in Wythe's apartment last night."

"Oh, just once—about five. Sounded like something had been knocked over, a vase or something. I went to the door and knocked. Wythe answered in a sleepy voice that everything was Okay."

"Wythe talked to you. Did you see him go back into his apartment?"

"I didn't even see him go out."

"All right—thanks. See you some more. Oh, by the way, is Carroll married?"

"If he is he don't work at it. No wife here."

Kroger Grocery & Baking Earns 14 Cents Share In First Half.

A. H. Morrill, president of Kroger Grocery and Baking Company, states that earnings for the first half of 1930 were equal to 14 cents a share on the common stock. In the first half of 1929, the company reported net profit of $4,014,775 after depreciation, taxes, etc., equal to $2.41 a share on 1,701,829 common shares outstanding. The company on August 25 had no bank debts compared with debt of $4,000,000 on April 1, last. During the first six months of 1930, the company absorbed out of earnings and charged to depreciation $471,538 in excess of the amount charged in the first half of 1929. On April 1, 1930, inventories amounted to $25,130,469 and on June 28, last, to $21,224,73.

The weekly report on carloadings showing an increase of 18,666 cars in the period ended August 16 last was favorably interpreted in speculative circles. The total of 922,823 cars loaded in that week was the largest reported since the period ended July 19 last, when the total was 928,256. In the interval the total had dipped as low as 904,157 in the week ended August 9, which was the lowest for any week since the middle of April except in the weeks which included the Decoration Day holiday in May and Independence Day in July. The gain this week is chiefly in miscellaneous freight movement, a good omen in that it may be accepted as evidence of a gradual improvement in general business getting under way.

Action of directors of Autostrop Safety Razor in voting an increase in the dividend rate on the class B stock to a $3 annual basis seemingly strengthens the position of the company in the event that merger negotiations with Gillette Safety Razor are ultimately fruitful. The board ordered a quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share on the B stock as against the 40-cent rate that had been in the two immediately preceding quarters. The usual dividend of the same amount also was declared payable on the class A shares.

Reports current in the Street today had it that negotiations looking toward the acquisition by the steel corporation of the plants and assets of the oil well supply company held promise of successful consummation. The option on the properties held by the steel corporation is understood to have expired at the close of business Monday. Officials of the supply company returning to Pittsburgh were quoted as saying satisfactory progress had been made. It is expected details of the plan which will probably involve an exchange of shares, will be laid before Oil Well Supply Company shareholders at a special meeting early next month.

Wall Street was inclined to view the mid-weekly steel trade reports with equanimity. Further weakening in prices for finished products was perhaps a trifle discouraging in view of the firmer note being struck in scrap prices, which recently have been advanced at three leading centers. But it begins to look as though concessions are now obtainable only on tonnage for early shipment, with one large producer serving notice on customers that schedules on bars, shapes and plates will be advanced the middle of next month. Feeling is that with the composite price of finished materials at the lowest level reached since the spring of 1922, a definite turn in that situation cannot be far off.

In some unofficial quarters it is feared that National Biscuit's third quarter profits will not come up to previous predictions. Normally this period is the best of the year for the company and for many years has shown an increase over the like period of the previous year. Sales are understood to be showing somewhat of a decrease throughout the country and indications now are that the third quarter's profit will not equal either of the two previous quarters of this year. Earnings for the first quarter of the current year were equivalent to 68 cents a share on 6,206,755 shares of $10 par common stock, and for the second quarter 80 cents a share, an aggregate of $1.48 a share for the six months, which meant dividend requirements were covered with 8 cents to spare.

Coal Efficiency Aided By Cleaning

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

INDUSTRY IS MAKING rapid strides in increasing the efficiency of coal. The announcement that the Carnegie Steel Company has ordered a $2,000,000 coal cleaning plant from the Koppers Rheolaveur Company follows the construction of several other cleaning plants in the Pittsburgh district.

It has taken a period of several years to educate industry to the knowledge that coal can be vastly improved by cleaning. While there was much scoffing at the initial attempts in this direction, the largest mining companies and the leading consumers of coal have at last become convinced that poor fuels may be made better and good fuels may be made excellent by the proper preparation.

In this district Pittsburgh Coal Company was one of the pioneer in the use of cleaning plants. Pittsburgh Terminal Coal announced two weeks ago that it was starting construction of equipment for cleaning at Coverdale.

New Market for Koppers

THE KOPPERS COMPANY is tapping a new market through the construction of coal cleaning plants. It has been building by-products coke plants and the coal handling equipment to supply these since its organization. About a year ago the company purchased its interest in the Rheolaveur process. This step was taken as a result of research conducted to find ways of coking coals which did not come up to all the ordinary specifications for this purpose. Cleaning has made it possible to use some of this district's coal which formerly was not considered suitable for metallurgical work.

The adoption of the Rheolaveur process by the Carnegie Steel Company is an endorsement which undoubtedly will lead to similar installations at other steel plants.

To Wash 12,000 Tons

THE PLANT TO BE BUILT for the Carnegie Steel Company at the Clairton works, the largest by-product coking plant in the world, will have a capacity for washing 12,000 tons of coal per working day of 20 hours. All sizes under three inches will be handled.

The plant, which will be one of the largest ever constructed, will be used to remove the non-coking material from the coal and also to reduce the content of sulphur. This will make the coal more satisfactory for use in blast furnaces.

Coal will be brought to the Clairton plant from the mines by barges. As is the practice at present, the coal will be unloaded onto belt conveyors which take the coal from the barges to the bins over the coke ovens. A gate will be installed which can be used to divert the coal to the washing plant.

To Mix Fuels

IMMEDIATELY ABOVE the washing plant building, there will be three 1,000-ton steel storage bins in which various kinds of coal can be stored. The coal is fed into these storage bins by two shuttle conveyors. From this storage, various kinds of coal can be fed onto a mixing belt in any desired proportions. This mixing belt will deliver the coal to the plant proper where it will be washed and cleaned.

Coal below three-eighths of an inch in size will be mechanically dried by Carpenter centrifugal driers, while the coal above this size will be dried on long dewatering shaking screens. This insures the delivery of a coal with the minimum amount of moisture to the coke ovens. After washing and drying, the coal will be fed onto a belt which will take it to the oven bins from which it is removed for charging to the ovens.

The plant is being designed to make its washing operations as flexible as possible in order to obtain the maximum ash and sulphur reduction in the various types of coal which it will be necessary to wash.

Heavy Steel Scrap Sells Higher Here

Substantial tonnages of heavy melting steel scrap have been sold here at $15.75 and $16, the latter figure representing an advance of 25c a ton.

STOCK MARKET MAINTAINS FIRM TONE

Prices Flutter Vaguely In Apathetic Trading; Prepare for Holidays

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(AP.)—Speculative Wall Street was distracted by the approach of the triple week-end holiday today, and the course of stock prices fluttered vaguely in slack and apathetic trading, although the market maintained a firm undertone.

Traders both short and long of stocks were anxious to close out their positions before the three-day suspension and veteran traders rarely wait until the last day. Furthermore many were anxious to leave town tonight letting the market take care of itself tomorrow.

The market sold off moderately for a time during the morning but soon firmed up. A handful of specialties such as McKeesport Tinplate, Childs, Mack Truck, Cutler Hammer, Mathieson Alkali and Real Silk Hosiery gained 2½ to nearly 4 points. The electrical equipments, merchandising and food shares were firm. General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Corn Products, Borden, Sears Roebuck and Macy gained a point or more. United States Steel and Radio moved very narrowly. Houston Oil was driven down 5 points on prospects of curtailment of its production under the Texas conservation plans, but rallied a little later. Goodyear was again a weak spot. International Telephone sagged to its low then rallied.

BEARS ACTIVE

Large scale operations had to absorb considerable profit-taking. Further bear prodding against suspected weak spots was in evidence. Although price movements in the main merely represented efforts of floor traders to kill time, there was decided inclination to keep the list steady to firm to prevent any damage to the foundation of the better market that is widely expected after Labor Day.

Business and trade news was meagre, but the more cheerful vein was maintained. Many traders were inclined to accept the slight improvement indicated with conservatism.

Money continued plentiful with call loans abundantly offered at 2 per cent. Some bankers felt that eagerness to employ funds over the holiday might balance withdrawals for holiday currency requirements and prevent any appreciable firmness in call money.

REFRACTORIES BOOKINGS UP

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—Third quarter operations of General Refractories have been maintained at a high rate. July results were satisfactory and August shipments have been moving at a record rate. Providing there is no letdown in September, report for the third quarter should compare favorably with preceding quarters of 1930.

Despite high rate of shipments this month, unfilled orders are still more than 100 per cent higher than at same time a year ago. On July 1, unfilled orders were 160 per cent higher than on like date in 1929. Current high percentage of unfilled orders is result of good bookings over this quarter.

As yet it is too early to estimate Refractories third quarter profit, as results will be to a large extent affected by September shipments. In first quarter this year net profit amounted to $760,000 or $2.53 a share on 300,00 no-par shares of stock; in second quarter, net was $621,000 or $2.07 a share, making total per share earnings $4.60 for the half year. Lower second quarter was result of the large carry-over of manufactured goods into current three months' period. However, business is on a firm basis, and is not subject to cancellation.

Rio Grande Toll Bridge Is Planned

SAN BENITO, Tex., Aug. 28.—Construction will be started soon of a toll bridge across the Rio Grande at a point just south of San Benito, Department of Communications and Public Works of Mexico has approved plans for the structure and Congress of the United States at its last session passed a bill authorizing its construction. Bridge will be of the suspension type and cost around $300,000. Six international bridges now span the Rio Grande within a distance of 150 miles of its mouth.

San Francisco's Campaign To Outdo Los Angeles Significant

—By B. C. FORBES—

IN THE FAR WEST, Aug. 28.—In primitive civilization agriculture predominates. In advanced civilization, industry.

Mr. Forbes

We are witnessing today an industrial race between nations, also between cities.

Why is virtually every progressive nation engaged in either an offensive or a defensive tariff war? To protect, to build up its industries.

Since the most backward peoples can and do produce agricultural products, the world's supply has become excessive and the prices obtainable unremunerative.

Hence the urge to excel industrially.

SAN FRANCISCO, a delightful but somewhat too self-satisfied city, is inaugurating a significant movement. It is preparing to launch a carefully-planned, comprehensive campaign to bring home to the rest of the country its advantages as an industrial center.

For years the city by the Golden Gate lagged behind in efforts to attract new enterprises. It was not particularly enamoured of the common run of industries. It was the financial capital of the Pacific—and a very important capital. It was the center of wealth. It was (justly) proud of its culture, its art, its musical attainments, its literary tastes, its refinement, its superior breeding. San Francisco had charm. It had romance. It had education. It had society some distance removed from the nouveau riche.

So it was and remained complacent.

When Los Angeles first began to bound ahead in enterprise and population, San Francisco was inclined to sneer. When the rate of growth became phenomenal, its more staid northern neighbor started asking, "When will the bubble burst?"

But still Los Angeles forged ahead. It energetically bid for new industries. It annexed an excellent harbor—and though laughed at for its pains, that same harbor is rapidly striving toward leadership among America's foremost ports. It provided a water supply capable of taking care of a population twice that of any other California city. It developed first-class public utilities. It went in for beauty—horticultural, architectural, civic. Its bankers financed industrial projects, agricultural projects, transportation projects.

And lo! When the 1930 census figures appeared, Los Angeles was found to have passed its rival by an extraordinary margin.

I have called San Francisco's impending campaign "significant." It is. It signifies that the city has aroused itself to the importance of winning new industries, the supreme fillers of pay envelopes. It signifies that San Francisco is no longer smugly satisfied to sit back and wait for growth to come to it. It signifies that the city is not content to be merely the financial capital of the Pacific, but that it is determined to build itself up as an industrial metropolis and, as a corollary, a seaport.

Doubtless, San Francisco recognized that if it was utterly dwarfed in population, in industry, in wealth by its Southern sister, in time it would inevitably lose its supremacy financially.

DO NOT IMAGINE that San Francisco has not been progressing.

It is blessed with a number of extremely public-spirited citizens, citizens whose love for their native city and state is unbounded and unmatched. They have made their community a delight to live in. And the city's rate of growth has exceeded that of the country as a whole.

But I rather think that a new San Francisco is about to be born, a city that, while retaining its unrivalled charm and sterling human worth, will aspire to business leadership, industrial leadership, marine leadership, and at the same time insure the retention of its financial leadership.

ONE WHO KNOWS the warm-heartedness of its people can but wish it godspeed.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Driftwood

A flurry of snow whitened the rambling road that leads into Poplar Creek. A chill wind, sharp and penetrating, raced down the Sierra slopes into the foothill town.

Joe Cooper plodding along the silent road, shivered and drew his coat tighter around his body. He walked with a slouch, shoulders slightly bent. His eyes roved furtively with an element of constant fear.

Familiar landmarks rose on both sides. There was old man Miller's place. Ted White's stood next to it. Further along, the sawmill, now closed down for the winter.

"Still the same old hick place," muttered Joe Cooper. "Not a change in ten years."

But there had been a change. Not in the town itself, but a change wrought by the passing years in the deepening lines of Joe's face. A change which marked him as a stranger in Poplar Creek.

Joe turned his head aside when he passed the first group of men near Stafford's general store. It was a needless gesture, for there was no recognition in their eyes. Only a sort of incurious interest that any newcomer would evoke.

After that he proceeded with more certainty, confident that no one would knew him if those men did not.

Mother Away

His mother's house was at the far end of the town, around a bend in the road.

His steps lagged as he passed the front door, going around to the back. She was more apt to be in the kitchen.

Joe tapped on the kitchen door. It was a timid summons, as though he were hopeful almost that it would not be heard within.

The door opened. The woman who stood in the doorway was a stranger to Joe. Probably some new neighbor.

"Pardon me," he said, "is Mrs. Cooper in?" He was not sure that she even lived here now.

"No, she isn't. But she'll be back in half an hour or so. Did you want to see her?"

"Yes, I did. Would you mind if—"

"Not at all!" and the woman stepped aside that he might enter. "It's far more comfortable inside, all right."

Joe nodded. Queer, having to ask permission to enter his own house! But was it his own? Hadn't he forfeited any claim that he might have had years ago?

He didn't even know if he would be welcome. Chances were that he would not. It was a crazy impulse that had led him across a continent back to Poplar Creek. Why couldn't he have let them think he was dead—or anything else they cared to think?

Joe Startled

Why rake over old coals and stir up ashes of vain regrets. The past was a closed book, beyond his power to efface or alter.

Joe shrugged and sat down in a chair facing the fire. It was cozy, anyway.

He glanced furtively around the room. It was unchanged. Somehow it seemed but yesterday that he had left it. Same old shiny stove, same furniture, same ornaments on the—he started abruptly.

Then he glanced swiftly at the woman. If she had noticed his gesture she gave no outward indication of the fact.

He stared again at the picture, remembering it well. It had been taken three or four years before he had left. Funny that it should be hanging there still. Apparently someone had faith in him.

Joe strove to speak casually. "Is that a relative of Mrs. Cooper?" motioning toward the picture. He knew there was no chance of her associating himself with the photograph.

"Humph! You might call him a relative!" snorted the woman disdainfully. "Leastwise, he was her son, though he was never a bit of credit to her. Just a never-do-well."

The man in the chair squirmed inwardly, though his face remained a mask.

Joe Cooper never was much good," continued the woman. "Always getting into a peck of trouble. Regular black sheep of the family. Don't suppose even his own mother had any use for him. But then, there's no limit to a mother's love.

"Even when he ran away she kinda stuck up for him. It's queer, too, how a mother's faith is sometimes borne out by future events."

Recalls Experiences

She stopped speaking.

"How do you mean?" urged Joe. He was interested in spite of himself.

The woman shrugged. "You don't belong around here, do you?"

Joe shook his head.

"Thought not, because everyone in Poplar Creek knows the story well."

Joe waited expectantly.

"It only goes to bear out the old saying that there is some good even in the worst of us. Everybody in town thought Joe Cooper a worthless sort. They felt they were well rid of him when he skipped out.

"It was almost a year later. The papers carried a story about an old freighter that went ashore down by—Point Conception—I think it was. It carried a few passengers, women and children. The papers were full of that wreck and the heroism of Joe Cooper.

"Oh, I know it sounds like a fairy tale, but it was true. How Joe Cooper, the black sheep of the family, became a hero after all. The stories told how he saved women and children at the expense of his own life."

Joe squirmed again in his chair. The woman's words brought back vivid memories. He remembered that night well—the stricken ship and the cries of the women and children. He could never quite blot them out of his mind. He remembered how he had fought his way into a lifeboat to save his own miserable life.

Joe Departs

It had been a craven thing. Afterwards he had seen the story of the wreck and how he was supposed to have given up his life to save others. It was a bitter travesty. Now . . .

"When his mother read that story," continued the woman, "she wept with real joy. Her boy was a hero after all. Gladly she forgave all else, realizing that his last thoughts had been for others."

Joe stared miserably at the picture on the wall. That was the reason it hung here! Had he come back merely to shatter his mother's faith? A faith founded on a garbled version of the truth. Better that she never knew the real truth. He could spare her that much, at least!

He rose to his feet, abashed and shamed.

"I think," he muttered thickly, "I'll run along."

"You'd better wait. Mrs. Cooper will be back any minute now."

"That's all right. I—I can see her some other time. It wasn't so very important. You see—"

He broke off swiftly, stumbled across the kitchen and groped blindly for the door handle. He shut the door quietly from the outside and stood a moment on the steps, looking up into the murky sky.

Joe Cooper, retracing his steps down the rambling road that leads out of Poplar Creek, shivered and drew his coat tighter around his body.

Police Owe Protection To Cars in Their Charge

While much can be said in favor of the police practice of towing to garages automobiles that have been left unlawfully standing in the streets, there is plenty of room for improvement in the manner in which these cars are handled. Motorists who violate the parking regulations have only themselves to blame if they find their cars have been removed. But they are entitled to protection of their property while it is in the custody of the police—protection from theft and protection from damage.

Credit is due the police for taking action to stop thefts. Three persons accused of stealing accessories from machines towed to garages were in police court yesterday, and two were held for the grand jury and a third fined. But it would be better if the police were able to impress upon the garage keepers to whom the towed cars are entrusted that good care must be taken of them.

It may or may not be significant that in bringing back the stolen goods in one case the driver from the garage wanted to know who the "politician" was who had been influential enough to force restitution.

In towing the cars not as good care is taken of them as should be taken. In removing the doors of locked automobiles the job is sometims hastily done, and done in a bungled way, with resultant damage to the machine.

There was talk at one time that the concession of taking care of cars that the police removed from the streets was a kind of "racket," and when the concessionaires were permitted to charge the car owners as much for towing and storage as they chose, there was some ground for the charge. That has been remedied, but the suspicion of "racket" still lurks in some minds—because, perhaps, of the close connection of some of the garage owners with professional politics and politicians.

Why Woman on Bench Arouses No Misgivings

Judge Sara Soffel, Pennsylvania's first woman jurist, took the oath of office yesterday. It is a remarkable fact that neither press nor public has expressed misgivings as to the appointment of a woman to the bench. It has been generally accepted that a woman learned in the law and of sterling character is just as well qualified to serve as judge as a man. Up to 10 years ago this would not have been so.

The explanation for the unhesitating acceptance of a woman on the bench may be found in the answer made by Judge Soffel to the question of a Sun-Telegraph interviewer. Asked if she thought women have the same judicial sensibilities as men, she replied, with strong conviction, that they do—that "they have, without any doubt whatsoever, the same point of view as males."

Ten years of woman suffrage have borne testimony to the truth of this. Women on juries, women in politics, have looked at things from the same standpoint as men. They have voted and decided and judged in public questions just as one would have expected them to do if they were of the other sex. The apprehensions of opponents of woman's suffrage who feared the sex would look at these matters from a peculiar viewpoint have been proved to have no foundation.

Aviators Are Warned Not To Fly Low Over Cities

An inspector for the State Aeronautics Commission has made an information against the pilot of the airplane which crashed in Harrisburg last Friday during the dedication of a bridge. The charge is that he violated a Pennsylvania law which requires aviators to fly high enough over cities to permit them to glide to landing fields in case of mishap.

The law is a good one and it is well to have public attention directed to it. In the Harrisburg case the flier fell on the roof of an abandoned building, and he and a passenger were the only ones injured. Thousands of people were standing nearby, and it is quite conceivable that some little twist of fate might have sent the machine crashing down on the crowd, with heavy loss of life.

Even on ordinary days there are streets in Harrisburg, in Pittsburgh, and in every other big city that are always thronged with people, and for an airplane to fall in such a street would endanger many lives besides those of the fliers. There are some kinds of aviation accidents in which flying high over the city would be no protection, but if the engine were merely to stall a great altitude might permit the pilot to glide or volplane to an unoccupied place.

The State Aeronautics Commission is to be commended for its alertness in respect to the law.

Slick Fortune Should Inspire the Ambitious

Abraham Lincoln once said something to the effect that we should be happy to see others accumulate riches because it held out the hope that we, too, might become wealthy. On that principle there should be general satisfaction over the fact that Thomas B. Slick, a Western Pennsylvania boy of humble origin, who died in Baltimore recently, has left an immense fortune. The will, filed for probate in Clarion yesterday, disposes of an estate estimated to be worth between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000.

His career should be an inspiration to ambitious youths. The son of a miller, he was employed in his early years as a teamster in the Pennsylvania oil fields. The "boom" in the Pennsylvania oil fields was over. The fortunes of Rockefeller and other oil magnates had already been made. Slick might have supposed that the chance to make a great fortune in oil operations had passed. He proved that it hadn't by making one.

Opportunities to become rich are still open to Western Pennsylvania boys like Thomas B. Slick. At a dinner meeting of business men in Altoona the other night Charles M. Schwab voiced the conviction that no better time than the present could be chosen to start in business. Slick's experience encourages such a belief.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

A Good Old Case

The lawyers have held their annual convention in Chicago, which is the hotbed of the industry.

While there they took a poll on the dry referendum and recall. The wets won by the effervescent ratio of eight to one.

We don't know whether this is eight lawyers to one client or one prisoner to an octette of legalists.

"Bugs" Baer

Now, a lawyer is reasonably respected as an intelligent robot. He has suffered the benefits of much studying, has burned the midnight oil and in turn has been burned when he tried it for a chaser.

He had picked up a whispered education in collegiate football huddles, been tapped over the head by a seven-pound fraternity key and attained the military glory of file-closer on the glee club.

When a lawyer graduates from college he is handed a rolled-up diploma. That's so the family will not see he is a lawyer, as they hoped he might have been a doctor or something compulsory.

He is supposed to be much brighter and more brilliant than the average citizen who works for a living. So when all the lawyers in America vote for referendum on the Eighteenth Amendment we can assume that it is a representative opinion of the nation-at-loose.

The poll was first taken by postcards. Each lawyer was to answer simply yes or no.

This naturally took up about three years.

Only a lawyer would think that a ballot on a postcard was a secret vote.

Then a more authentic record was taken by letter via the round robin route. Probably the boys were figuring that they could steam the delivery up to the pitch where evidence could be delivered by parcel post.

Then at the Chicago convention they tried the oral system of campaign. Each lawyer got up and voted. As he fell his place was taken by another intrepid barrister who bared his breast to the foe at the risk of losing his scarf pin.

They wanted to install the Australian ballot system, but as one keen attorney remarked, "Why should we use the Australian system on prohibition when Canada is so much closer?"

And Chicago isn't a bad place, either. The consensus of hopes shows that there are now eight lawyers for the prosecution and only one for the defense. We do not know the value of postcard voting. But if the lawyers look at their postcards they will see that the stamp has been canceled.

This referendum and recall on liquor will probably place the lawyers in the same boat with the rest of us sailors. It will all depend on whether the man behind the locked door knows us or not.

SIR J. J. THOMSON

By Archibald Henderson

Modern work in mathematics, physics and chemistry has been of a basic, a foundational character. Investigators have been forced to re-examine the origin of things, to re-explain the elemental substances and principles indispensable for the construction of the universe. Einstein discovers laws of nature of which Newton's formulations are but special cases.

Planck upsets the principle of continuity through the discovery of the energy quantum. J. J. Thomson discovers the primordial substance out of which all matter is made. As Bernard Jaffe says in "Cruicibles:" Thomson has given to the world its knowledge of the smallest entity in the whole universe.

This tiniest of all things is omni-present. It has helped build the atoms, the molecules, the stars. From the simplest atom of hydrogen to the mighty star, bright red Betelgeuse, a hundred billion times larger than our earth, the electron is part of all matter. In all the universe, 600,000,000,000,000,000,000 miles in circumference, the commonest thing is the busy little electron.

Joseph John Thomson was born near Manchester, England, on December 18, 1856. Prevented from pursuing the profession of engineering, one of the finest expressions of applied science, he turned—fortunately for the world—to pure science as a second choice!

After studying first at Owens College, Manchester, Thomson went to Cambridge and was graduated from Trinity College in 1880. Becoming a fellow at Cambridge that same year, he plunged at once into the study of radiant matter, the strange, mysterious substance recently brought to life by Sir William Crookes.

At the Cavendish Laboratory, where Clerk-Maxwell had done his epochal work in electro-magnetism, Thomson—who was familiarly known as "J. J."—profoundly impressed his fellow-workers with his ability and skill.

When Lord Rayleigh, who had succeeded Clerk-Maxwell as director of the Cavendish Laboratory, resigned his post, he recommended the brilliant Thomson, then only 28 years of age, as his successor! "Shades of Clerk-Maxwell," exclaimed one sceptical professor, "things have come to a pretty pass in the University of Newton when mere boys are made professors." The choice was abundantly justified in the event.

The triumph which enabled Thomson to lay the foundations of contemporary electrical theory regarding the constitution of matter was his discovery that the smallest particle of water is not the atom, but the negatively-charged particle called the electron. He demonstrated that the mass of the electron is less than 2,000 times that of the atom of hydrogen, the lightest substance hitherto known. He set in motion the immense and far-reaching series of researches associated with the names of Rutherford, Moseley, C. T. R. Wilson, Bohr and Millikan. Both individually and through influence upon others, Sir J. J. Thomson has been one of the most creatively stimulating physicists of our time.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Coming through the woods—tawny dust, soft as pollen, purting like smoke before my feet—I come to a certain turn in the trail and stop. Here the light's a syrup, honey gold. Pines, rise, dark as thunder, on their coppery shafts. Oak leaves bleach and gather in pale coral drifts. Shadows fall—splattered wine on ochre earth. Above, through tunneled twilight, there's a glaze of blue. But better even than the color, more poignant and personal, is the smell of the manzanita.

Always at this point in the trail there is a fruitiness like dried apples in the air. Unless you know the secret you would never connect this rich fragrance with the manzanita. For, at this level of the Sierras the manzanita is not a sightly bush: It lacks the waxy beauty of the lowland madrones, with their varnished red trunks and glossy leaves, and the small, neat loveliness of the shrubs on the heights. It is, here, a rangy creature—shaggy bark and catch-as-catch-can foliage. If it smelled of anything, you'd expect plug cut. But instead it has the perfume of pot-pourri in peach-blow jars.

Nor is this the only fragrance. Indeed, all the trail is perfumed. There is the pitchy redolence of the pines—the sachet of the oaks—the pungent musk of "mountain misery"—and, in the fall, like a thick, amber tide, the flooding odor of the tar weed. In looks, the tar weed is even more disreputable than the manzanita. A sprawling, sun-tanned flower, loafing all over the lot. But, by some gypsy magic, it smells of cinnamon and cloves, allspice and gums for which there is no name.

But quicker and more significant than all other perfumes, there is the breath of the wood earth itself. For this dust is deeply fragrant. No plough has ever disturbed it. No automobile has tainted it. It is still as God made it, potent and inexpressibly sweet from the touch of His modeling hand.

Forest fragrance—it is the friendliest thing, when once you have discovered what it's all about. Sometimes, when I am lonely, and neither books, nor my work, nor building the new stone wall is enough for me, I come to this place and stop. Stop and close my eyes and wait...very still. Then, presently, one by one my friends, the pine, the oak, the tattered weeds, creep close and salute me with their living breath. And to me these various aromas are like different voices, different personalities. For all living things have personalities—weeds and trees as well as men. And indeed I think these forest creatures have the loveliest and truest of all personalities. They live honestly, without borrowing or pretence, rooted in soil, giving themselves freely to the sun and wind, the rain and snow. Theirs are the simplest and most fundamental of experiences—but out of these common processes, each one distills its own particular expression, different from all others.

Few human beings are wise or brave enough to do that. We make a great clamor about personality, but we seldom dare to grow our own. We are in terror of being ourselves—afraid someone may discover that we are nothing but scrub oak or tar weed. We feel we must contrive, by hook or crook, to be taken for orchids or gardenias. So we copy and pretend and mimic—and end up by being a synthetic combination that God wouldn't recognize as His child!

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

Women still get seats in street cars in small towns, where folks are neighborly, or where she'll be likely to see you at church the next Sunday, but in New York and a lot of other big towns they get to stand up unless they can whip some big man.

Well, I reckon it was one of them slow-motion green street cars on Broadway that this happened. A young man got up and said to a young woman that had been standing beside his seat, "Here's a seat, lady."

She wasn't used to it. She says, "No, thanks; please keep your seat."

He says, "No, you take it. I don't want it any more."

"No, I insist. You must set down," she says.

So he did, but he got awful red and looked terrible uneasy. Finally, after about 10 blocks, she says, "Well, if you're awful uncomfortable in that seat, I will set in it, just to please you."

"Thanks," he says. "And I'll jump right off here. I got to walk back 10 blocks now to where I wanted to get off in the first place."

The Rhyming Optimist

Roses

There are three roses in a bowl,
Red rose, pink rose and white,
Just lately from the garden brought
To flood the room with light.

The red rose wears her beauty's lure
As might a woman proud,
Each petal's vivid charm, each grace
To all the world avowed.

The pink rose is a promise still;
Enchantments, vague and rare,
Rise drifting from its hidden heart
Upon the wooing air.

But, oh! the fragrant white rose stands
In loveliness agleam,
With touch of moonlight lingering there
It is a thing of dream!

Red rose and pink for holiday,
For happy maids to wear;
But white rose for the one who finds
A dream's white beauty there.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

From every organ, every tissue, they were supposed to come; from the head and the stomach, the ears and the feet, and they crowded into the germ-cells like the animals into the Ark.

Then, in the embryos of the next generation, they were supposed to supervise growth and development, each going to the appropriate part according to its origin, back to the head or stomach or ears or feet, and thus the children were formed after the pattern of their parents. Now it is easy to see how on such a basis the inheritance of an acquired character could be explained.

H. G. Wells

An injury to an arm, for example, by affecting the arm-particles, might at the same time damage the arms of unborn and unbegotten children. This view, with minor variations, was held widely before the chromosomes were discovered.

Contrast this with the modern gene theory. In the view we have just examined the determining particles were dispersed in the embryo, some going to the head, some to the feet, and so on. Like letters in the post, each had its appropriate destination.

But on the modern view the determining particles (the genes) are not thus separated; as a result of the delicately adjusted processes of cell-division the whole complex is distributed together, much as a number of copies of newspapers are printed, all alike, and distributed. Some sets go to the head, some to the feet, and they work according to their situations. It is like copies of one and the same popular newspaper going here, into the hands of the sporting man, who reads merely the racing news, here to the speculator, who concentrates on the city column.

Mr. Everyman runs his eye ineffectively over most of it and concentrates on the crime and cricket, while Mrs. Everyman (when he has done) consumes the court and social intelligence and the fashion and household pages.

Some genes go to the testes and ovaries, and it is from these sets that the future germ cells are derived.

On this modern view there is evidently no direct continuity of protoplasm between the body of a child and that of his parents—except for the reproductive organs of the latter.

It has been neatly said that most of the body of a father is not really paternal to his children, but is their uncle; one has to go back nearly to the previous generation to trace direct living continuity between a father's nose and his son's nose.

This point of view was stressed by Weismann (1834-1914). We have already noted his distinction between germ-plasm and soma. When the chromosome mechanism was discovered he pointed out that it made the inheritance of acquired characters difficult to believe.

And he tested the point by direct experiment. If the view, which Darwin propounded, of a contribution from every part of body to reproduction, is true, then local mutilation of the body, injuring some of the hereditary particles, will produce corresponding injury in the next generation, if the later view is correct, and the germ-plasm is separate from the beginning, mutilations of the soma will have no effect upon it.

So he tried the effect of cutting off the tails of mice with entirely negative results. Generation after generation of mutilation did not curb the tendency of the young mice to grow tails. The biologist might say with the poet:

"There's a divinity that shapes our ends, rough-hew them how we will.

There is ample corroborative evidence on this point.

The Jews, for example, have practiced circumcision for at least four thousand years, and yet they are still born of the same structure as Gentiles. And there are plenty of examples of similar failures to influence the shape of the race.

The flat-head Indians and various African tribes compress the heads of their children into the most abnormal shapes.

Chinese women of the upper class were for many centuries compelled to compress their feet to mere trotters. Many races distend their ear-lobes with pieces of wood until they reach to their shoulders; and the women of some African people enlarge their lips in the same way until they protrude like fantastic beaks.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Having bestowed patronage upon chili parlors, Harlem dives, Village waffle shops and sandwich parlors, galloping New Yorkers who go places and do things after sundown are giving the canary-colored lunch wagons a big play.

After midnight about a dozen along the water front and on the upper reaches of the island are scenes of imported Broadway merriment. Visitors bring their gin and climb upon the swivel stools for hamburger and onions and other rugged dishes of the carts.

Lunch wagon patronage, before the invasion, consisted of neighborhood loafers, night street workers and petty thieves. The color line was rarely drawn. The attendant in greasy, spotty apron inspired a fastidious customer to order a cocoanut and hard boiled egg—and peel them himself.

The single waiter was also cook, cashier and bouncer. But so opulent has one lunch landau become north of 150th street the cook wears a white chef's cap and the waiter is habited in an ill-fitting Tuxedo. A blue serged youth pounds a portable piano in a corner.

The appeal of the wagon is in the isolation. They further offer a refreshing joy ride when night club life sags. Noise in such places is not regarded as a disturbance, and a party of 12 may in no time "own the joint" with perhaps the cop on the beat master of ceremonies.

Indeed, when properly exhilarated patrons smack each other playfully with loose eggs and open-faced pies. Nothing matters so long as someone settles, and the total to a Broadway spender is a laugh. Fifteen dollars pays for everything.

While the lunch wagon has almost vanished from the White Way, it was once an institution like Reuben's. There was "The Owl" parked at the south end of the Herald Building nightly. It catered to a notable trade which upon occasion included the doughty James Gordon Bennet in person.

My lunch wagon patronage came to an abrupt end on a morning paper in East Liverpool, O., years ago. I was washing down a ptomaine atrocity with what they sold for coffee. A sweatered mug, hunched up on an adjoining stool, began mumbling, stood up, wiped his mouth on his sleeve, and with a nice taste for horror walked to the end of the counter and shot a man through the head.

* * *

It was the closest I ever was to actual murder. I did not see the shot fired but saw a body slump to the floor. Nor did it occur to dash to the telephone to scoop my fellows. When I reached the office the story was in type. I spent the next few days getting my front hair smoothed down again.

* * *

Near New Rochelle a lunch wagon banner, ho, ho, reads: "Dine a la cart!"

One of those crazy-eyed little cyclones that suddenly send a New York street awhirl and is as suddenly gone, came up in East Forty-third street this morning. A gentleman's straw hat spiraled to a third floor and swept into a window. A pretty girl leaned out, spied the owner, and dropped his hat. And life went fidgeting on again.

Until recently the most terrific wind to lean against was at the north corner of the Flatiron building. Today the stiffest breeze is Broadway at Fifty-seventh. It not only upset a taxi but blew out a matinee idol's false fangs one day.

I was enticed into a storeroom on Tenth avenue by a ballyhoo for "Oso, the Educated Ostrich." It was, I fear, mere surface culture, for Oso's sudden kick nearly gave me an unexpected but likely needed face lift. There's a headline: "Gallipolis Boy Kicked Silly by Ostrich!"

From Miss I. R., Hollywood: "Are you as homely as those chromos they print along with your column?"

It is all propaganda. Everybody knows me—the handsomest lad on our street.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Very soon you know you will have to show your hand and abandon the bluff that you have been making in order to impress others.

For years you have endeavored to create and maintain a position to which neither your income nor your social training entitles you.

So far you have been able to retain what you have gained.

But you are beginning to realize that it is not worth the effort it costs and the denial and worry you have experienced.

Your large expenditures have gained you nothing of value.

Your ego has been flattered and satiated.

But that is not worth a cent to your banker or your creditors.

In fact the knowledge that you have been carrying on beyond your means is a great liability.

If you should have to seek financial assistance one of the strongest points against you would be that you are too extravagant.

You think that you are economical, but you are basing your judgment from a much larger income than you actually possess.

Your expense may be small in comparison with some with whom you mingle, but considering your income you are wasteful and foolish.

You are heading for trouble and worry.
